Conservatives Point to Indiana Setback.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 13.—[Special.]—Democrats here evinced mixed emotions and conflicting views today in contemplating the outcome of Democratic senatorial contests yesterday in Indiana and Oklahoma.

Left wing Democrats were jubilant over the renomination of Senator Elmer Thomas in Oklahoma. Despite the fact that President Roosevelt had gone no farther toward indorsement of the senator than to refer to him in passing as "my old friend," they interpreted the result as a victory for the President.

Looking at Indiana, the left wing Democrats professed to be undismayed by the capitulation of the Democratic organization to Senator Frederick Van Nuys, who had been blacklisted for fighting the President's scheme to pack the Supreme court and for opposing the bill to give the executive dictatorial power to reorganize the administrative branch of the government.

Deny Any Repudiation.

They denied that the surrender to Van Nuys involved any repudiation of the President, contending that the undertaking to purge the party of Van Nuys originated not with Mr. Roosevelt, but with the McNutt-Townsend organization in Indiana.

Conservative Democrats interpreted the Indiana event as a Roosevelt defeat of the first magnitude, which, together with the similar reverse suffered by the President in attempting to "liquidate" Senator Guy M. Gillette in Iowa, foreshadows a general fiasco of the attempt to purge the party of those who have flouted the President's will.

They laughed at efforts now to dissociate the President from the movement to retire Van Nuys, asserting that from the time Gov. Townsend proclaimed the proscription on the steps of the White House after conferring with Mr. Roosevelt a year ago the President had given continuous aid and comfort to the conspiracy.

See Hand of McNutt.

The conservatives declared themselves prepared to believe that the capitulation to Van Nuys was directed by McNutt in order to avert a party split in Indiana that would blight his presidential ambitions, prepared even to believe that the statehouse crowd hoped to appease Van Nuys and avert the exposure of corruption he had threatened.

But the repudiation of Mr. Roosevelt, according to the conservative view, inhered in the great popular following Van Nuys attained by virtue of his independence of dictation by the executive. But for this evidence of invincible strength Van Nuys would have been brushed aside by McNutt and Townsend.

Speculate on Dixie Course.

Old timers searched their memories in vain for any parallel of the crow feast that took place in Indianapolis yesterday. Van Nuys, according to the general view, comes out of the affair the most commanding figure in the state, overshadowing even Boss McNutt. He has become overnight a national figure and some there were who theorized tonight that there will be much discussion of him in 1940 for first or second place on the Democratic ticket, that is, of course, providing the McNutt boom is disposed of.

There is much speculation on what line the President will take, if any, on his return trip through the south to "liquidate" Senators Walter F. George in Georgia, Ellison D. Smith in South Carolina and Millard E. Tydings in Maryland, all of whom have opposed Mr. Roosevelt not only on the court packing bill but on numerous other policies.

Thomas 43,000 Ahead.

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 13.—[Special.]—Senator Elmer Thomas, for whom President Roosevelt campaigned on his trip west, apparently clinched renomination in yesterday's primary.

Returns from 2,894 precincts out of 3,522 gave: Thomas, 193,316; Gov. E. W. Marland, 90,655, and Representative Gomer Smith, 149,668.

Leon C. Philips, state legislator, led for governor. Returns from 3,114 precincts gave: Phillips, 154,848; W. S. Key, former state WPA administrator, 150,330, and former Gov. William [Alfalfa Bill] Murray, 126,835.

STALIN'S EX-AID BARES RUSSIAN REIGN OF TERROR

Tells of 10,000 Slain in Red Purge.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, July 13.—The people of the soviet union are living in a reign of terror, Gen. Lucikov Samoirovich, former head of the GPU [secret police] in the soviet far east, asserted today. Samoirovich, one of Dictator Josef Stalin's generals, fled from Siberia to Manchukuo July 1 when he learned that his chief was including him in the newest purge.

The general was brought out of detention today and "displayed" in one of the city's leading hotels by Japanese officials to let the world know he is the genuine thing. Samoirovich charged that Stalin is clinging to power desperately by employing terrorism and not stopping at anything to put away those who stand in the way.

Several Millions Arrested.

He said several million persons had been arrested, that 10,000 had been executed and that all prisons were filled to capacity. New prisoners are being sent to three new detention camps, he asserted, but added there are no signs that the purges are ceasing.

This, he said, is because the anti-Stalin feeling, instead of subsiding, is growing and as a result the people of Russia are living in a reign of terror.

"There is unrest everywhere because nobody knows what Stalin will do next," the general said. "He is desperate. There is a strong anti-Stalin sentiment in all parts of the country, but the movements have no leaders because Stalin is putting people away before they have a chance to come to the front."

Took Part in Purges.

Samoirovich said he was one of the GPU leaders who took part in the purges whereby Stalin got rid of the "Trotzkyists," Gregory Zinoviev, Leon Kamenev, and Alexis I. Rykov. The general said there was no evidence to show that these men plotted to overthrow Stalin or were leaders of the anti-Stalin elements.

Similarly thousands were rounded up throughout the country and subjected to torture and executed without a particle of evidence merely because Stalin imagined they were his foes, he said.

Samoirovich charged that Stalin has employed practically every method of terrorism internally and predicted he soon may resort to a foreign war either with Japan or Germany, depending on how the situation develops.

Reasons for Aiding Chinese.

He said Stalin's reasons for sending soviet military planes, officers and equipment to China were:

FIRST—He seeks to put soviet military power to an actual test against Japan.

SECOND—He regards China as a weapon against Japan.

He asserted that war preparations are being hurried, the biggest drawback being a lack of able officers.

The Red army commands more than 2 million officers and men, composing 100 divisions, he revealed. Approximately 1,000 airplanes and 1,000 tanks are ready for action, he continued, while Moscow is taking all the necessary steps for increasing the production of munitions.

Much of Army in Far East.

He presumed that a considerable soviet military force was concentrated at present in the far east, which was sufficiently powerful to start a war.

He reiterated the statement that Stalin was using China as a soviet catspaw against Japan to decrease Japan's military and economic power. He thought Stalin was grasping this opportunity to test the soviet's ability to produce highly technical ammunitions and their capabilities, asserting that the sending of soviet officers to China was merely to help them develop their own instruction and leadership abilities.

"Stalin is leading the soviet to war," Samoirovich continued, "strongly stressing that Japan eventually will send her soldiers into soviet territories. Stalin's anti-Japanese propaganda is ingeniously throwing the Russian people into fear of Japan. Moscow takes advantage of the situation and makes the nation believe that industrial inactivity is due to interference by the Japanese to hamper the Red army's military preparations."

Kidnap-Killer of Ross Put to Death in Chair

John Henry Seadlund, who kidnaped Charles S. Ross and murdered him after collecting a $50,000 ransom, met his death early today in the electric chair at the county jail.

At 1:07½ a. m., between two guards, he left the death cell and entered the electrocution chamber, fifty feet away. Half a minute later he had been strapped in the chair, his eyes masked. And at 1:12½ he was pronounced dead.

Seadlund, a slim Minnesota woodsman and miner, 28 years old, was the first federal prisoner ever executed in Cook county. He was tried and convicted in federal court under the so-called Lindbergh law, which provides the death penalty if the victim is not freed unharmed.

Seized After Four Months.

Ross, 72, a wealthy retired greeting card manufacturer, was abducted Sept. 25 from his automobile southwest of Franklin Park. On Oct. 8 the ransom was paid. Seadlund was trapped Jan. 17 at the Santa Anita race track in California. Two days later G-men found the bodies of Ross and James Atwood Gray, Seadlund's accomplice, whom he killed, in a dugout near Spooner, Wis.

Federal authorities surrounded the execution of the kidnaper with as much secrecy as possible, on instructions from Washington. Only twenty-four witnesses were permitted in the execution chamber. As many as 200 persons have witnessed a state execution at the jail.

Victim's Widow Refuses to Attend.

Ross' widow, Mrs. Mae C. Ross, was informed she could attend the execution of her husband's slayer, but she declined. Last night she remained in seclusion at her home, 2912 Commonwealth avenue, where she has remained alone in her bereavement.

Of all the witnesses, only one was known to Seadlund before his capture. He was Severin E. Koop, of Crosby, Minn., a neighbor and friend of Seadlund's mother who lives in Ironton, Minn.

At the request of the family, Koop and his wife drove here in a herse yesterday. When Seadlund's body was released from the jail at 3 a. m. today, Koop started back with it for Crosby.

Funeral services for the kidnaper will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in his mother's home. He will be buried in the Irondale cemetery beside the body of his father, Paul, who died five years ago.

In a last minute whispered conversation with the undertaker, Seadlund sent word to his mother, begging forgiveness.

One of the last to visit Seadlund in the death cell was Father Ernest, the jail chaplain. With his assistants, Father David and Deacon Frank Sehr, the priest administered the last rites of the Catholic church. Seadlund prayed quietly on his walk to the death chamber.

Earlier Warden Frank Sain and Sherif John Toman had served him a large dinner of fried chicken.

Elderly Victim Held in Dugout.

The kidnaping and murder of Ross, which Seadlund confessed without a quiver, was described by District Attorney Michael L. Igoe at the trial as one of the most atrocious ever committed.

The elderly manufacturer, who was in poor health, was confined in a damp woods dugout for several days. After Seadlund had taken his picture for purposes of identification, Ross was killed. Because his accomplice, Gray, was a dumb kid, Seadlund said, he shot and killed him too. The he collected the ransom.

One weakness betrayed him to the G-men. He loved to play the horses. The appearance of ransom bills at the California track led to his capture at a mutuel window.

MERCURY RISES TO 100 IN THE MIDDLE WEST; CHICAGO'S HIGH IS 87

Although temperatures near 100 were recorded in some parts of the middle west yesterday, Chicago had a high of only 87. Kansas City's maximum was 98 and Wichita's 100. Forecaster C. A. Donnel said today would be generally fair and only moderately warm.

A violent storm, accompanied by a half inch of rain, swept the city and suburbs yesterday and caused much damage. A 12 foot section of a 75 foot steel smokestack at the White Motor company, 2401 Archer avenue, was knocked over by lightning and plunged through a roof. Fire caused by lightning destroyed a barn on the farm of George W. Rossetter near Libertyville, with a loss of $10,000.

City to Greet Royal Swedish Guests Today

Sweden's royal travelers, touring America, come to Chicago today. For three days the city will play host to Crown Prince Gustav Adolf, a tall, bespectacled, unpretentious man of 54 years; his wife, Princess Louise, of the British royal family, and his son, Prince Bertil, a bachelor of 27.

The royal party is visiting the United States on the 300th anniversary of the founding at Wilmington, Del., of the first Swedish settlement on this continent.

Chicago, which has become the home city of one of the largest Swedish groups in the world, has prepared an elaborate program for the visitors. Friends are preparing to entertain them. Nearly half of the 200,000 Chicagoans of Swedish descent are expected to crowd into Soldiers' field Saturday afternoon to see them.

Party to Arrive This Morning.

Not since the visit of the Prince of Wales, now the Duke of Windsor, in 1924, and that of Queen Marie of Rumania in 1926 has Chicago made such preparations for a visit from royalty.

The crown prince is known in Sweden for his common sense and simplicity. The arrival of these three members of the popular Swedish royal family will be in keeping with his character. It will be far less theatrical than that of Queen Marie, whose press agentry and dramatic personality so interested Chicago.

Gustav Adolf and his party, consisting of 18 persons, will arrive in the Union station at 9:30 a. m. on the Liberty Limited. Prince Bertil will arrive in the Central station at 6 o'clock from Detroit, and will leave his train at 8:30 o'clock to join the other party at the Union station.

Tour Started on June 26.

Crown Prince Gustav Adolf and his entourage arrived on the liner Kungsholm June 26. A recurrent kidney ailment, aggravated by a rough crossing, forced the crown prince to remain aboard ship during the festivities at Wilmington. There President Roosevelt dedicated a monument on the site where 150 Swedes and Finns landed in 1638. Prince

PLAN HALT IN WINNIPEG; 3 DAYS AHEAD OF RECORD

Minute Preparation Great Factor in Success.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Howard Hughes' brilliant round the world flight has been made possible by a wonderful ground organization which extended from New York to Russia, Siberia, Alaska, and Canada, and to 24 months of meticulous preparation. The tiniest details of procedure and equipment were worked out to the expenditure of some $350,000.

The money belonged to Hughes and he has spent it doing the thing he has desired most to do for some ten years, according to Al Lodwick, close friend and chief adviser for Hughes in this venture. Of this total some $125,000 went to pay for the Lockheed 14 airplane and its special equipment.

Discards One Plane.

The remainder consisted of funds spent in placing parts, gasoline, food, water, lubricants, and engaging ground crews. Included in the total costs of the flight, as reckoned by Hughes, is the cost of a Sikorsky S-43 amphibian plane—priced at $110,000—which he bought and then discarded in favor of the machine he is using.

Hughes bought the Sikorsky in 1937, but after taking delivery discovered that by changing his route he would be able to make all except the first portion of the flight over terrain in which it would be better to use a land plane. He then placed the order last January with the Lockheed company.

Reëquips Standard Plane.

From the factory he obtained a standard type 14 machine with tanks for 650 gallons of fuel. This plane he took to his own perfectly equipped but miniature airplane factory at Burbank field, Los Angeles. There he proceeded to equip it with huge tanks that fill the cabin at the center of balance.

In these he is able to carry an additional 1,200 gallons of fuel, thus giving the ship, fully loaded, a range of 4,700 miles at the most economical cruising speed and throttle setting. In his factory he also installed ten radio sets, three of which are transmitters, and the two radio compasses he used on the flight.

Preparation of the airplane was the easiest task in connection with the flight. While Hughes and his engineers worked on the airplane Lodwick and a dozen friends set down the smooth functioning ground organization, which in a large measure can be credited with making the flight possible.

Gasoline Supplies Shipped.

At New York City, Paris, Winnipeg and Edmonton, Canada, 1,700 gallons of 100 octane fuel were stored. The same quantity of 90 octane fuel was dispatched to Moscow. Fuel with an BULLETIN.

New York, July 14 (Thursday).—(AP)—Howard Hughes reported in a direct short wave radio broadcast to his flight headquarters here at 2 a. m. Chicago time today that the plane was 975 miles out of Fairbanks and flying at an altitude of 14,500 feet. The plane was heading directly for Winnipeg, where it will land for refueling. The distance from Fairbanks to Winnipeg is 2,075 miles.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, July 13.—Howard Hughes and his four 'round the world flyers sped toward the United States tonight after a brief stop here to refuel their plane.

The airmen planned to make one intermediate landing—at Winnipeg—before reaching New York.

They expected to arrive in New York tomorrow afternoon, less than four days after taking off from there on their record breaking dash around the globe.

May Cut Record Three Days.

If they continue their pace, they will cut approximately three days from the record of 7 days 18 hours and 49 minutes set in 1933 by the late Wiley Post.

When they left Fairbanks the airmen had flown 11,329 miles in about one hour more than three days.

Before the big ship soared away from Fairbanks at 8:36 p. m. [Chicago time] Radio Engineer Richard Stoddart said Hughes had revised his plan to make one last long hop of 3,380 miles to New York.

"We are faced with the difficulty of having only a 2,800 foot runway, and we will be unable to take a full load of fuel," said Stoddart. "Also, we will be flying in the darkness from here, and we want no mishaps at this late date."

Sets Course for St. Paul.

Soon after the take-off Stoddart radioed that Hughes was setting a compass course for St. Paul, a distance of 2,361 miles from Fairbanks.

The Fairbanks airport, where city officials and most of the residents were on hand to greet Hughes, was a scene of brisk activity during the hour and 18 minutes the world flyers were there.

The big monoplane landed from Yakutsk, Siberia, at 7:18 p. m. and immediately was wheeled to the fuel tanks and all members of the crew began the job of refueling. Hughes himself, after taxiing the plane to the tanks, supervised the loading of gasoline.

To lighten the load and make it possible for more fuel to be taken on, the flyers tossed out most of their personal luggage.

Weather Reported Ideal.

Then the airmen made a last minute inspection of the plane's nose, tail, and radio antenna, and Hughes took his place at the controls. He made a complete circuit of the air field, then raced the plane down the short runway and took off.

Weather conditions for at least the first 1,000 miles of the flight across Canada were reported to be ideal.

Apparently pleased by the success thus far in this attempt to set a world flight record, Hughes smiled at the crowd as he stepped into the plane preparatory to the takeoff. The four others likewise were in good spirits after the 2,457 mile flight from Yakutsk.

"We are a little tired," Stoddart said, "but we were comfortable on the entire flight.

"The people at Yakutsk were very friendly, but we had a little trouble making them realize that we were in a hurry to get off.

"We found only one person there—a girl—who spoke English, and she was out of practice, not having spoken it for three years. She proved very helpful, however."

Stoddart said Russian radio engineers were of great help to the airmen throughout their flight across soviet territory.

The flyers made the long hop from Yakutsk in 12 hours and 17 minutes. At their present speed they will reach New York [from which they took off at 6:30 p. m. Sunday] soon after noon tomorrow.

72 Hours Out of New York.

It took Post 162 hours and 45 minutes to reach Fairbanks, while at this point Hughes was 72 hours and 58 minutes out of New York.

Post, flying alone and requiring longer stops for sleep, averaged about 83 miles an hour, counting time spent on the ground. The Hughes team, when it landed at Yakutsk, had a comparable average of about 153 miles an hour.

Hughes and his companions snatch sleep aloft and use ground time principally for speedy refueling.

Hughes and his companions left Yakutsk at 7:01 a. m. [Chicago time] after a stop of two hours and 53 minutes, and headed across wild territory, toward the extreme tip of Siberia.

PREPARE BIG WELCOME

New York, July 13.—[Special.]—Howard Hughes and his crew of round the world flyers are expected here tomorrow afternoon.

They will be met at the Floyd Bennett airport by one of the biggest crowds ever assembled there. Mayor F. H. La Guardia will greet them officially. After broadcasting over a radio network Hughes will board a small plane and fly to an unannounced destination.

Friday Hughes will fly back to the city, to rejoin his companions of the flight and participate in a parade from the Battery to the city hall.

Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine ordered extensive arrangements for the reception of the flyers. Nearly 600 policemen have been assigned to take up positions at the field at 11 a. m.

A tent was erected tonight over the bronze marker designating the spot where Wiley Post touched earth after his record breaking solo flight around the world in 1933. Before Hughes hops off for a brief rest, he and his companions will be taken to the tent for interviews and photographs.

COUNCIL ADOPTS 12 NEW BUILDING CODE CHAPTERS

The city council yesterday adopted 12 additional chapters in Chicago's new building code. The complete code consists of 47 chapters of which 37 now have been adopted. Five chapters are pending before the council and five others will be considered next week by the subcommittee on the new building regulations. Among the latter chapters is one covering the requirements for plumbing installations. This chapter is being delayed by a jurisdictional dispute between the plumbers' union and the drainlayers' union.

HUGHES FLIGHT ENGINEER WILL MARRY TYPIST

New York, July 13.—[Special.]—These last three days have been trying ones for Elinore Hoagland, 19 years old, a typist at the Charles H. Babbs Aircraft company at Floyd Bennett field.

She has been listening constantly for radio bulletins from the Howard Hughes plane, because she will marry Edmund Lund, Hughes' flight engineer, when the expedition returns.

STEEL EMPLOYES ROAR PROTEST AT U. S. LABOR BOARD

Hang Examiner in Effigy After Ruling.

Steubenville, O., July 13.—[Special.]—A crowd of nearly 3,000 persons assembled in front of the federal building here today in an uproarious protest demonstration against the conduct of the National Labor Relations board in the Weirton Steel company case.

Steel workers, merchants, and sympathizers cheered as Edward Grandison Smith, NLRB trial examiner, was hanged in effigy. A headless, straw stuffed dummy bearing a placard "E. Grandstand Smith" was dangled on a rope from a hotel. Police cut down another effigy of Smith earlier in the day.

The labor board in Washington, which previously had postponed and transferred the steel company hearing from Steubenville to Pittsburgh because of a scheduled protest march of 10,000 persons, decided today to postpone the inquiry again.

Consider Attorney's Expulsion.

The board said the hearing would not be resumed until it decides whether Clyde A. Armstrong, chief counsel for the Weirton company, should be barred permanently from participation in the case. His exclusion from the hearing by Examiner Smith precipitated the wrathful demonstrations.

Counsel for the company telegraphed the board in Washington, requesting Armstrong's reinstatement. The board announced it will give Armstrong a public hearing next Wednesday and that the Weirton hearing, scheduled for resumption tomorrow, would not be reopened until it had disposed of a formal appeal of the expulsion order, which the company today announced it would make.

It will be the board's first experience in passing judgment on the conduct of defense lawyers in labor board cases. Armstrong will be represented by Attorney Earl F. Freed of Pittsburgh.

Charge Ruling Unfair.

The Weirton chief counsel was barred from the hearing Monday after he ignored the examiner's order to sit down as he objected to the introduction of hearsay evidence. Smith termed his behavior "defiant, contemptuous, and contumacious" and complained the attorney had failed since to show any repentence.

The company asserted Armstrong's absence from the hearing would hamper its defense against C. I. O. charges of unfair labor practices. Company attorneys contended the ruling was "grossly and palpably unfair."

Residents of nearby Weirton, W. Va., and adjacent communities were so aroused by the expulsion order they planned to march here 10,000 strong and protest the action today. Their plans were frustrated, however, by the labor board postponing the hearing and shifting it to Pittsburgh.

Examiner Smith remained at his home in Clarksburg, W. Va., today, but Isadore Polier, board attorney, and an associate left for Pittsburgh before dawn with a police escort.

FLIGHT SUCCESS LARGELY RESULT OF PREPARATION

Every Detail Ready at Heavy Expense.

87 octane rating was sent to Omsk, Yakutsk, and Fairbanks.

An entire spare engine and many duplicate parts were sent to Fairbanks, to Paris and to Moscow. Entire set of 18 spark plugs for each of the two motors on the airplane were sent to each of the stops. Spark plugs are notoriously sources of trouble for airplane engines, the life of a plug averaging about 20 hours of operation.

Up to Fairbanks, however, Hughes did not change a single plug, although he had expected to do this at each stop. He reported to his New York headquarters that the big 1,100 horse power Cyclone engines on his plane had functioned perfectly and have not had any service save the most routine greasing and oiling.

Only One Service Delay.

The ground crew preparation was so complete that the airplane has been serviced and refueled at each stop in an average of one and a half hours. The only delay longer than this occurred at Paris where mechanics from the K. L. M., the Royal Dutch air line, repaired a crack in dural plates near the tail of the ship.

The procedure as set up in advance and as operated at each stop is as follows: Two fuel trucks roll to the plane as soon as it stops and the process of pumping in new gasoline begins immediately.

The Sperry giro-pilot mechanic, the Hamilton Standard propeller expert, the Wright engine man, the Goodrich tire expert, and the Bendix and Fairchild radio men step aboard and each go about checking the mechanism which they are charged with having in perfect order by the time the flight continues.

Hughes Handles Takeoffs.

Hughes, according to Lodwick, has made every landing and every takeoff during the entire flight. He is the only man aboard who was familiar with the Lockheed 14 airplane when the flight began, although his flight engineer and one of the navigators also are licensed pilots.

In his radio messages to his base he has said that his Sperry giro pilot has flown the machine most of the time it was in the air. The takeoffs, of course, were the dangerous moments of the journey, for the plane was heavily overloaded at each start.

The plane is licensed in the United States to carry only 17,500 pounds gross load. When it got away from New York it weighed 26,000 pounds. At most of the other stops the fuel load has been slightly less, but in each instance the takeoff represented the moment in which potentially the most danger lurked.

Has Perfect Navigation.

Hughes has praised his navigators and his radio men at every opportunity. Not once up to Fairbanks had the plane been lost. This is remarkable inasmuch as none of the men ever had been over the course before and because of the fact that they are not flying any regular airway. No radio or light beacons were available to guide them either day or night.

Radio communication on the flight has given much difficulty, according to Hughes. His equipment functioned perfectly, but weather conditions and astronomical conditions were such that static has interfered constantly.

Hughes, considering every possible detail in advance, ordered tanks for 20 gallons of spring water installed in the airplane. The crew has been drinking only this water, the purpose being to prevent any member from becoming ill through drinking various kinds of water taken aboard at the several stops.

A new supply of the spring water was shipped to Moscow and put aboard the plane during the stop there.

Provisions in the ship when it left New York included 50 one and one-half pound loaves of black rye bread. Each loaf was sealed and wrapped so that it would remain dry until opened even if the ship went down in mid-Atlantic and the fuselage filled with water.

In addition, a special container in a refrigerator built into the ship was filled with eight pounds of boiled skinless and boneless turkey. Whenever food is wanted in flight the crew has turkey on rye bread.

Hughes a Milk Drinker.

In the same refrigerator, which holds 15 pounds of dry ice, there have been 15 quarts of milk and three quarts of coffee put aboard at every stop.

Indicative of the care with which every phase of the flight was planned are the "stop-manuals" Hughes carries with him. Each of the manuals contains the essential information needed for each airport at which a stop was scheduled to be made or at which a stop might be made.

For instance, the manual for Paris contained the names of the immigration and customs officials who would be expecting the Hughes crew there. It also contained the name of the chief of the service crew assigned for the ship, the names also of the American representatives of the manufacturers of the various components of the airplane.

3 CIO OFFICIALS FOUND GUILTY IN MAYTAG STRIKE

Draw Jail Terms, Fines for Contempt.

Newton, Ia., July 13.—[Special.]—Three C. I. O. officials were found guilty of contempt of court today for violating a court injunction restraining interference with men who want to return to work at the strike bound Maytag Washing Machine company plant.

District Judge Homer A. Fuller sentenced the three officials to six months in jail and fined each $500. He said, however, he would admit them to parole if they would call off the two months' strike and let workers return to their jobs.

The convicted officials are James C. Carey of New York, national president of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America; William Sentner of St. Louis, regional C. I. O. head, and Hollis Hall, vice president of the Maytag local.

Judge Fuller said he would not turn the men over to the sherif for imprisonment until they had time to consider his proposal that they call off the strike.

Nine men, including Sentner and Hall, are at liberty under bonds on indictments charging them with criminal syndicalism and kidnaping in connection with incidents during the strike.

Leaders of the back to work movement said their 600 followers will make an effort to return to work at the factory tomorrow.

The Police Arrest Sam, But They Don't Keep Him

A man who gave the name of Sam Harris was arrested by the police last night while acting suspiciously at Washington and Dearborn streets. But they didn't keep him long. Harris leaped from a patrol wagon in the alley back of the central police building at 1121 South State street. Policemen Denis Carney and Matthew O'Rourke fired several shots at him, but he reached the railroad yards at Roosevelt road and Clark street and jumped on a moving freight train.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

SHERIF IS READY TO BREAK PICKET LINE AT FOUNDRY

He Waits Only for End of Contempt Hearing.

Sherif Lawrence A. Doolittle of Lake county said yesterday that he has plenty of deputies ready to end strike lawlessness at the Chicago Hardware Foundry company in North Chicago. Pickets of a C. I. O. union there have refused to obey an injunction which upholds the right of independent employés to work when they please.

"I have sworn in more than 100 special deputies," the sherif said, "and tomorrow I will have an additional 100. The court's orders will be carried out. The next time workers want to enter the plant we will escort them. If there is any resistance, any interference, the trouble makers will be thrown in jail."

Waits for Hearing to End.

Doolittle does not expect to make his move until a contempt hearing in the court of Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady of Waukegan has been finished. Ten of the strikers, leaders who are said to be in defiance of Judge Dady's injunction, have been cited. The hearing was in its second day yesterday.

More evidence was piled up to show that the defiance of the court by the pickets' leaders was deliberate.

Dean Dunakin, a clerk and the president of the employés' social club, said that Robert Woertz, the strike commander, made a speech urging the pickets to disobey the injunction. "The summons doesn't mean a thing," Woertz was quoted as saying. "Hold the line, but don't break the injunction any more than you have to."

Dunakin pointed out several men who, he said, used force to prevent him entering the plant. Stanley Ciolek, one of the independents who want to work, testified he was kicked on the shins and forced to retreat from the gates.

Spikes in Women's Kerchiefs.

Another witness, John Friering, told of seeing women pickets with spikes wrapped in handkerchiefs. He accused Benjamin Marcinkus, a picket, of saying "if I had a gun I'd shoot you." James Berg said he was told by Woertz he could not go into the foundry. William Allen asserted he was seized by a woman when he tried to go through the picket lines.

A new petition naming fifteen more strikers and asking that they also be held in contempt was filed by the company's attorneys after the hearing ended for the day. Frank Bradke Sr., president of the union, was one of the fifteen.

The strike was called June 6 by the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel, and Tin Workers. The union has demanded the maintenance of the present wage scale, vacations with pay, and a written contract. The company has insisted that the men take a 10 per cent cut in order to continue operation of the plant and has refused the vacations.

Police Auction Sale Runs Into Its Second Day

Odds and ends that have been cluttering up police stations for the last year were sold yesterday. There were a good many items left over, however. These will be sold today, the second day of the annual police auction, at 1244 Madison street. Police Custodian William Doubek said yesterday's receipts were $1,300. Today he has a lot of bicycles, automobile tires and accessories, and household articles to offer.

Los Angeles, July 13.—(AP)—Blue eyed Sigrid Gurie, film actress, won a divorce today in a 9 minute session in which she told the judge "my husband slapped me, threatened to thrash me and said he would lock me out of the house." The husband, Thomas A. Stewart, young British sportsman, withdrew a cross-complaint just before the hearing started.

LINDY MAY SET WOLF TRAPS TO CATCH ANNOYERS

'Let Us Work in Quiet,' Dr. Carrell Pleads.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 13.—Dr. Alexis Carrel and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will set wolf traps and buy ferocious watchdogs if necessary in order to work undisturbed on their adjoining island retreats off the Brittany coast.

Lindbergh's house on Illiec Island.

If that proves inadequate they will quit France, Dr. Carrel asserted in a statement issued today. He appealed to the French press and public to let them alone.

Dr. Carrel also said Lindbergh, since the kidnaping and death of his first born son, "is much changed and has become hypersensitive."

"Let Him Alone, Forget Him."

To a newspaper man, who hoped to reach Lindbergh through his island neighbor, collaborator, and friend, Dr. Carrel, the latter cried:

"I plead with you, monsieur, do not try to approach Lindbergh. I appeal to your humanity. Don't pursue further this unhappy father who has suffered so much. Let him alone, forget him."

Dr. Carrel denied that Lindbergh hired armed guards, but then admitted he had engaged several fishermen and one official guard.

To a question whether the rumor was true that Lindbergh would run for President of the United States, Mrs. Carrel replied that he is not interested in politics, and furthermore that he probably would not return to his homeland for a long time.

Seek Quiet for Work.

Dr. Carrel asserted that life was becoming intolerable with a flood of persons trying by every means and subterfuge to reach him.

"If this continues we will set wolf traps on the island. We will keep ferocious dogs," he said.

"The rumor that I quit the Rockefeller Institution is false. I am here purely for quiet working conditions. I am here to confer with Lindbergh about certain biological researches we have begun together, and will finish together."

Dr. Carrel added that he had assured Lindbergh he would "find in France the same courtesy and discretion from the population, authorities, and journalists as in England."

VETERAN FIREMEN WILL BE GUESTS AT THRILL SHOW

Soldiers' Field Ticket Sale Begins Today.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Two men who fought fires when Chicago was young were invited yesterday by Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan to be his guests Sunday at the Chicago Police and Fire Thrill show in Soldiers' field.

These men, who battled flames when fire apparatus was inadequate and when fire traps abounded in Chicago, are Charles H. Heaney, 74 years old, a retired division marshal of 48 years' service, and Henry J. Fuchs, 75 years old, a retired captain of 42 years' service.

As head of an engine company, Capt. Fuchs helped fight the disastrous cold storage warehouse fire at the World's Fair of 1893. Seventeen firemen, trapped in a tower, lost their lives that day.

Towers to Be Featured.

"One of them was from my company," said Capt. Fuchs. "At that time we had only one water tower unit and it was in the heart of the city and got there too late."

Today Chicago has more than a dozen of these towers that can shoot streams the height of a sixteen story building. Three of them will be features of the thrill show Sunday.

Chief Heaney helped fight the great Iroquois theater fire that claimed 575 lives on Dec. 30, 1903. Capt. Fuches was off duty, but went to the fire anyway and joined his company.

The commissioner served under both Heaney and Fuches early in his forty years of duty with the department. Later they both served under him.

Broadcast to Be Tonight.

Commissioner Corrigan will give a graphic word picture of the fire department's part in the thrill show when he is interviewed tonight on Bob Elson's sports review on W-G-N at 6:30 o'clock.

At 9 a. m. today a large block of the 70,000 tickets that will be available for the Sunday show will go on sale at gate O at the south end of Soldiers' field. It had been intended to start the advance sale tomorrow, but insistent requests for tickets caused the committee to set the new date.

The tickets will sell at 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children—among the lowest prices ever charged here for an event of this magnitude.

A new attraction was added yesterday to the thrilling exhibitions of the fire, police and park district departments. The life saving unit of the United States coast guard, Chicago district, will join the fire department in an aerial rescue.

A line will be shot to the top of the fire tower and a man trapped by the billowing smoke will make a slide for life in a breeches buoy off the five story structure.

Proceeds of the thrill show will be used to provide a free one next year. This year's spectacle is sponsored by the fire and police departments, the Chicago park district, and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

WANTS MICHIGAN TO OUTLAW SIT STRIKES IN PLANTS

Lansing, Mich., July 13.—[Special.]—A legislative council subcommittee that is laying the groundwork for a state labor relations bill, was told today by Albert E. Meder, counsel for the Automobile Chamber of Commerce, that the assurance of "uninterrupted production" in Michigan industry should be its goal. He would outlaw sitdown strikes. He said most industries in this state manufacture goods for interstate commerce.

His recommendations for a proposed labor bill included:

Equal protection for employers against "unfair labor practices," including outlawry of jurisdictional strikes between unions.

That no strike be called until an employer has reasonable time to consider demands and grievances.

That strikes in violation of contracts be declared illegal.

The outlawing of sit-down and slowdown strikes.

DEMANDS SENATE SESSION TO PASS ON NEW JUSTICE

Vandenberg Urges Action on Cardozo Vacancy.

Traverse City, Mich., July 13.—[Special.]—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican leader, tonight declared that the man who is to fill the vacancy left by the death of Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo should be confirmed by the senate before the court convenes next October.

Senator Vandenberg spoke before 50,000 persons at the opening of the National Cherry festival here.

"The senate does not ordinarily meet again until next January," said the senator. "The court meets again in October. Therefore the new justice to be named by the President may serve on the court for three months before he has been approved by the senate.

"I respectfully submit that this is not a good thing either for the court or for the new justice or for the country or for our constitutional theory that the qualifications of a Supreme court justice must be indorsed by a majority of the senate.

Suggestion to the President.

"I suggest, therefore, to the President that—for the sake of a clear decision and a clear title to the place—the senate be called in an extra session prior to Oct. 1 for the purpose of exercising its constitutional privilege of confirming or rejecting the new nominee before rather than after he takes his exalted place.

"The country can stand a few mistakes in its political departments. It cannot stand many mistakes in its judicial departments. The maintenance of a proper Supreme court is vital to the republic and to the public welfare.

"Justice Cardozo demonstrated that a long and honorable career in our lesser courts is the best possible training for effective service in our highest court. He demonstrated the wisdom of assigning great lawyers rather than great politicians to this supreme responsibility.

Stresses Independent Judiciary.

"The nation lost a great and rare public servant when Justice Cardozo passed away. The Supreme court is one of the three independent branches of the federal government. The maintenance of its integrity, its appropriate power, its adequate personnel, and—above all—its independent and exclusive fidelity to the constitution is of the utmost importance to every citizen who loves his country and who wants his bill of rights maintained.

"Justice Cardozo was one of the finest jurists who has adorned the Supreme court bench in the last half century. He demonstrated that there is no line of race, religion, or creed which divides American patriots.

"He demonstrated that a thorough going 'liberal'—in every sense of that often abused word—may also be a sound and dependable fundamentalist in his basic conception of the law and the American system of law and order. I express the hope that the successor of Justice Cardozo may possess these same essential qualities."

RIGHT OF FREE SPEECH RULED QUALIFIED ONE

Newark, N. J., July 13.—(AP)—Chancery Judge Maja Leon Berry held today that the right of free speech was a "qualified" constitutional right rather than an "absolute" right.

His interpretation was included in a written opinion in which he enjoined the C. I. O. affiliated furniture workers' union, local 66, and two union members from distributing circulars in the vicinity of the stores of customers of the Metropolitan Upholstery company. Counsel for the union, Solomon Golat, had declared in argument on the case that the constitutional right of free speech would be curbed if the union was enjoined.

The vice chancellor said absolute rights are the inherent rights of the citizen, sometimes referred to as natural or human rights. "Qualified rights or privileges," he added, "are those created and granted by the constitution. They did not precede government and they are not inalienable but are subject to forfeiture."

Dancer Is Bride

PAULINE SPIAK.

Deauville, France, July 13.—[Special.]—From cigaret girl to riches is the success story of a little New York girl who is honeymooning here with her English husband. The girl is the former Pauline Spiak from the Bronx, who went to London to dance in a floor show. There she met Vivian Ostrer, 20 years old, son of the British film magnate, who waited for her at the stage door and then followed her to Paris when she went there to dance. Ostrer did not let his family, which is known as the second House of Rothschild, know of the romance until after they were married.

KIDNAP BANDIT TIES LOUISVILLE COUPLE TO TREES

Louisville, Ky., July 13.—[Special.]—A Louisville girl and her escort were recovering today from a night of terror during which they were abducted by a gunman and left tied to trees. Miss Nettie Costin, 22 years old, and John Schachtel, 26, an attorney, were sitting in Miss Costin's automobile in Shawnee park here when the gunman confronted them.

Menacing the couple with a pistol, the man got into the car with them. They drove to the Shawnee golf course, where Schachtel was tied to a tree. The gunman took $3 from him and drove away with Miss Costin.

Transferring to another automobile, the abductor drove into Indiana. About 3 a. m. the bandit stopped the car ten miles south of French Lick, Ind., 45 miles from Louisville, and tied Miss Costin to a tree.

WIDOW OF TEST PILOT SUES FOR MAKING PICTURE

New York, July 13.—(AP)—The widow of Jimmy Collins, who plunged to death three years ago in a power dive test of a naval plane, today filed a million dollar suit against Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, motion picture firm, charging that the company was guilty of plagiarism and unfair competition in producing the movie "Test Pilot."

The widow, Mrs. Dolores Lacy Collins Henderson of Detroit, claimed, through her attorney, that the company based its picture on a book of the same name written partly by her husband and finished after his death.

NEW HOUSING TAX LAW IS ILLEGAL, HORNER BELIEVES

The bill exempting the South Park Gardens housing project from taxation probably is unconstitutional, Gov. Horner said yesterday. He refused to sign the bill, but permitted it to become a law.

In its original form, the bill would have exempted from taxation all low cost housing projects. Republicans and conservative Democrats in the state senate were about to defeat the bill, when it was changed to make it apply only to the $10,000,000 project at South Park way and 37th street.

Question Legality of Bill.

This change raised the question as to the bill's constitutionality, Attorney General Otto Kerner said last night. The constitution permits tax exemption under general laws, such as those applying to all property owned by cities or used for religious purposes. But the housing bill appears to be a special rather than a general law, he said.

Kerner's opinion, which Gov. Horner mentioned, increased doubt as to whether Illinois cities will receive $100,000,000 in earmarked federal funds for low rent housing. Oscar Rosenthal, chairman of the state housing board, was pessimistic. Sponsors of the bill were hopeful.

Signs Other Bills.

Gov. Horner signed two companion housing bills. One provides that tax exempt housing projects shall pay 5 per cent of total rents collected, in return for police, fire, and other services supplied by local governments. The other permits local governments, banks, trust companies, and guardians to buy bonds issued by the Chicago Housing authority, and similar bodies.

Cities also may give housing authorities the power to eliminate unsafe or insanitary buildings, under these new laws.

A bill aimed against sex criminals became a law without the governor's signature. It requires them to be examined for insanity and feeble mindedness before they are released from prison at the expiration of sentences. The examinations will be made in county courts.

NEVADA SENATOR HAS CHILLY RIDE WITH ROOSEVELT

San Francisco to Hear President Today.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard Presidential Special En Route to the West Coast, July 13.—[Special.]—As he rode across Utah and Nevada on the seventh day of his political pump priming tour, President Roosevelt was cheered today by reports that one of his blessings had brought victory to an administration senator.

Last night at Malta, Colo., the President received word that Senator Elmer Thomas, upon whom he set his seal of approval at Oklahoma City last Saturday, was leading in early returns of Oklahoma's Democratic primary. At stops through the day later returns, which showed Thomas had won, were forwarded to the President.

Hopkins First with News.

The returns came not from the Democratic national committee or the Democratic congressional committee, but from Works Progress Administrator Harry Hopkins, who has been accused of playing politics with relief.

At Malta the President denied that there is any political flavor to his transcontinental tour, insisting that it was just a look around the country. The denial came after he had exposed Senator Alva Adams of Colorado, foe of the Supreme court and the governmental reorganization program, to the chill of presidential displeasure.

Mr. Roosevelt ignored the senator, who was aboard the special yesterday. The same treatment was given to Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada, another court plan foe, when the train reached Nevada.

Could Have Been Worse.

McCarren was nervous when he boarded the train at Ogden, Utah. Although he had been invited to come aboard, he feared that the President might put the knife of disapproval between his ribs. The senator sighed with relief when he left the special near the California border.

In Utah politics did not intrude on the trip. Senator Elbert D. Thomas, an administration supporter, is without opposition.

At Salt Lake City, the President's daughter, Anna, and her husband, John Boettiger, Seattle publisher, joined the party.

Speaks in San Francisco.

Tomorrow the President faces a full day. He will leave his train at Crockett, Cal., and go to the San Francisco exposition grounds for an address. In the afternoon he will go aboard the U. S. S. Houston to review the fleet.

At night his train leaves for Yosemite National park where he will spend a day before he leaves on the fishing cruise.

Music Comes First

Allene Cunningham, 17 years old, whose music teacher guardians won suit brought by her parents.

Allene Cunningham, 17 years old, wanted to be a singer so badly that she shined shoes in her father's barber shop at Wichita, Kas., to earn money for voice lessons. That's what she told Probate Judge John F. O'Connell yesterday. She appeared in court on the complaint of her parents that her guardian, Mrs. Charline Craven of 719 Rush street, permits her to sing in night clubs. Miss Cunningham denied this. Instead, she said, she sings in churches. Allene is continuing her voice training under the instruction of Mrs. Craven's husband, Carl. Judge O'Connell said the guardianship appeared satisfactory, but that he would make an investigation to be sure the girl was cared for properly.

COUNT PROMISES NOT TO MOLEST 5 AND 10 HEIRESS

Court Dismisses Charge of Threatening Wife.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 13.—Count Kurt Haugwitz-Reventlow, Danish nobleman and husband of the former Barbara Hutton, Woolworth heiress, was free tonight to receive the congratulations of friends on the unexpected withdrawal of his wife's charge that he made threats against her.

In a seven minute hearing in Bow Street court this morning before Magistrate Sir Rollo Frederick Graham-Campbell, the countess and the count through their lawyers declared a truce in their family war. The charge against the count was dismissed in return for a promise that he would keep away from her henceforth.

Hopes to See His Son.

The promise was given in court by his attorney, Norman Birkett, who said:

"The count authorizes me to say that, having considered the situation with great care, he is ready to give an undertaking not to return to Winfield house [the countess' London home], or to communicate with his wife so long as his wife does not desire that."

Later, however, the count's secretary said he would remain in London for several days to see his 2 year old son, Lance. "It is hoped that permission will be readily given by the countess. He will be seeing his lawyers to discuss the matter shortly," the secretary said.

Agreement by Lawyers.

The lawyers on both sides had made the agreement which ended the case and announced it to a packed courtroom at the opening of what was to have been an all day session. The judge agreed to the withdrawal of the charge as a "very desirable termination" after the countess' counsel, Sir Patrick Hastings, explained the whole case was a result of a series of unfortunate mistakes all around and that no threats really were intended.

Hastings merely said that words "spoken in stress of emotion" were taken too literally [as threats].

Nor does the count think the countess' luxurious London home, Winfield house, an improper environment for their son Lance, as suggested in last week's hearing. All he meant, Hastings said, was that the environment of great wealth is not good for children.

"Gentleman" Absolved.

Finally, there was a mysterious "gentlemen in London" the count was supposed to have threatened to "shoot like a dog." "The unhappy differences" between the count and countess really took place before the mysterious person came on the scene, Hastings said. Nothing more was said about the statement given in the July 5 hearing that the count was demanding $5,000,000 for a divorce.

Divorce proceedings, if any, would be the business of Danish and not British courts, Hastings said.

The heiress did not appear at the hearing, throughout which the count stood ramrodlike in the dock as a prisoner. The countess stayed in Hastings' chambers at the law courts until she learned the result.

The quick ending of the case was a bitter disappointment to a crowd of women who had fought to get into the tiny courtroom for what they thought would be a long exposé of family quarrels.

THIEF CAUGHT BY PASSERSBY.

Joseph Jugrczuwski was captured by passersby yesterday after he had broken a window of the Almer Coe & Co. optical goods store at 78 East Jackson boulevard. He stized cameras and a lens valued at $300. He was released from the Bridewell a few days ago after serving a year for larceny.

Require Bids on Photos of Income Tax Returns

The Cook county board yesterday refused to permit Assessor John S. Clark to spend $8,000, without taking competitive bids, for photographing federal income tax returns. Assistant State's Attorney William J. Tuohy advised the board that the bids are mandatory. Clark said the use of the photographs would enable him to get millions of dollars of personal property on the assessment rolls. He added that if bids were taken there would not be time for the photographic work, since the federal returns will be available only until July 31.

FORMER CONVICT SHOT IN BATTLE WITH DETECTIVE

Draws Two Guns After Capture on Street Car.

Alex Rossi, an ex-convict, was shot and critically wounded yesterday afternoon by Detective Harold Haight of the Fillmore street police station. It was Rossi's second encounter with police during the day. A few hours before he had escaped from three other policemen by seizing one of their revolvers after they surprised him in an attempted burglary.

Notified of this escape, Haight, in plain clothes, was driving in his own car at Roosevelt road and Keeler avenue when he recognized Rossi from his description. The ex-convict boarded a street car at that corner. Haight drove a quarter mile east to Roosevelt and Pulaski road, jumped on the street car and found Rossi.

Pistol Misses Fire.

The detective drew his pistol. Rossi, taken by surprise, submitted to arrest, and got off the street car with Haight. Haight did not search his prisoner because they were only a few blocks from the Fillmore police station. As they walked toward the station, Haight held his gun against Rossi's back.

At Grenshaw street and Pulaski road, a few hundred yards from the station, Rossi broke away and whipped a .25 caliber automatic pistol from his pocket. He struck Haight with the back of his hand and pulled the pistol trigger. The weapon did not discharge.

Haight fired, his bullet entering Rossi's back and tearing through his chest. Haight ran toward the station to summon an automobile patrol. Rossi, lying on the ground, pulled from his waistband the revolver he had stolen from a policeman earlier in the day. He aimed it at Policeman Jerry Peterbok, who was on his way to the station to report for duty. Peterbok saw the move in time. Stepping on Rossi's wrist, he prevented him from firing. Rossi was taken to the bridewell hospital.

Seizes Gun and Escapes.

Earlier in the afternoon Policemen George Cohen, Earl Soeth, and Richard Nelson of the Fillmore station responded to an alarm that a man was trying to break into an apartment at 1332 South Tripp avenue. They seized Rossi there and were taking him to the squad car when the ex-convict snatched Soeth's revolver. He menaced the policemen with the weapon and backed away until he was near the shelter of a building. Then he fled.

Miss Genevieve Szalankiewicz, 21 years old, was arrested in Rossi's apartment at 2721 Ogden avenue. She said she had been living with the ex-convict for four months. Two $1,000 government bonds were also found in the apartment. Police said they had been taken in a burglary last month.

Police records showed that in July, 1931, Rossi was found guilty of burglary at Denver, Colo., and was sentenced to two and a half to five years in the Colorado state penitentiary. He was arrested for burglary in Chicago in 1934 and was sent to Menard state hospital when a test indicated he was insane.

He was adjudged sane a year later, the burglary charges were reduced to petty larceny and he was sentenced to a year in the bridewell. Rossi gave his address as 2721 Ogden avenue.

TWO GET BRIDEWELL SENTENCES.

John Slattery, 1836 Wellington avenue, and Michael Lucas, 1114 Newport avenue, each 22 years old, were sentenced to thirty days in the Bridewell yesterday by Judge John J. Rooney for attempted robbery.

Police Matron Injured by Hit-Run Push Cart

Another big city menace was uncovered yesterday—a hit and run push cart peddler. His cart struck Police Matron Marie Branger in a corridor of the Central police building, 1121 South State street, as she ran for an elevator. Mrs. Branger was knocked down, suffering cuts and bruises on her legs.

COUNCIL VOTES TO BUY FAMOUS N. U. CRIME LAB

Mayor Says $25,000 Is Bargain Price.

The city council voted yesterday to buy Northwestern university's famous crime detection laboratory for $25,000. The laboratory, at 222 East Superior street, will be taken over by the city within ten days.

The purchase was advocated by Mayor Kelly and by Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the council finance committee. The mayor pointed out that the laboratory, since it was started nine years ago, has been invaluable to law enforcement agencies in gathering evidence against criminals.

"We are getting a bargain at this price," he said.

The laboratory at present has an annual payroll of $22,000 and the monthly rental is $225. Prof. Leonarde A. Keeler, one of its directors, is leaving his position, but will remain on the Northwestern university faculty. The other director, Prof. Fred Inbau, will stay on until the police department has trained its own men to operate the laboratory.

Mayor Kelly read to the council a telegram he received from the Wacker Drive Tenants and Property Owners association and the North Central association, another property owners' group. They urged quick passage of enabling ordinances for the extension of Wacker drive east from Michigan avenue to Field boulevard. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

The council confirmed Mayor Kelly's reappointments of six men to various positions. They are: U. J. Herrmann and Andrew J. Kolar, members of the library board; Dr. Allan Hruby, member of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium board; Joseph P. Geary and Wendell E. Green, civil service commissioners, and Leo M. Lyons, city relief commissioner. Lyons' reappointment is for one year. The other five are for three year terms.

WOMAN IS ACQUITTED OF MURDER CHARGE IN SLAYING OF GIRL

Danville, Ind., July 13.—[Special.]—A Hendricks county Circuit court jury today acquitted Mrs. Etta Jones, Indianapolis rooming house operator, of first degree murder in the death of Helen Schuler, 12 years old, in her Beach Grove home last July 14.

The trial was the second for Mrs. Jones, the jury in the first trial a few months ago disagreeing.

Mrs. Jones today was returned to the Hendricks county jail here to await disposition of a Marion county indictment charging shooting with intent to kill Mrs. Lottie Schuler, stepmother of the girl. A pistol for which Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Schuler were struggling was discharged, killing the girl. Mrs. Schuler was wounded.

TVA COMMITTEE LOOKS OVER SITE OF ANOTHER DAM

Also Inspects Battlefields and Electrified Farms.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Huntsville, Ala., July 13.—[Special.]—Chickamauga dam, a $45,000,000 project in the half billion dollar Tennessee Valley Authority experiment for a planned society, was inspected today by the joint congressional committee investigating the TVA.

After a morning tour of the battlefields at Chickamauga and Chattanooga National Military park, and the inspection of two dairy farms electrified with TVA power, the investigators inspected the dam now being built close to the airport, seven miles upstream from this city.

This structure is to form a pool 59 miles long of minimum navigable depths of 9 feet reaching to a proposed dam site at Watts Bar. Until Watts Bar dam is built, Chickamauga dam, started in 1936 and scheduled for completion in April, 1940, is to back the water 75 miles upstream.

Nearly Half Completed.

The dam is about 40 per cent completed. It is to have an initial installation of 81,000 kilowatts and ultimately 108,000 kilowatts, and the dam is to be 108 feet high and more than a mile long, including two earth dikes of 4,400 feet.

Farmers last fall were eyeing with belligerency the TVA and the Chickamauga project because the reservoir will drown their rich bottom lands.

At Dayton, Tenn., which 13 years ago was front page news as the scene of the Scopes monkey trial and the battle over fundamentalism between the late Clarence Darrow and William Jennings Bryan, farmers were complaining last fall and spring.

Farmers of old colonial stock protested TVA was seeking to take their lands at too cheap prices. Spring freshets renew the productivity of the soil as with the Nile and the bottoms produce 50 to 100 bushels of corn to the acre.

Complain of Higher Taxes.

Dayton and Soddy, Tenn., are the principal towns affected. The Chickamauga project requires acquisition of 68,000 acres, at an estimated cost of about $109 an acre. Hillside land is largely scraggly and suffering from erosion and soil undernourishment.

Dismay was shown by business men in Rhea county last October on trips by this observer. They figured assessment rolls would be hard hit by flooding of the bottom lands and taxes would go up.

The excitement by business men and farmers now seems to have died down. Congressman Sam D. McReynolds of Chattanooga has said he will seek amendments to the TVA act providing that TVA, from revenue in the sale of power, shall make good to five counties in the reservoir region the amounts they lose in taxes from flooding of their valuable assessed lands.

Electrified Farms Old Story.

The electrified dairy farms visited by the committee get their current from the North Georgia Electric Membership corporation, which serves seven counties and 1,717 customers. Electrified farms were an old story to some of the committee members from states where agriculture is more advanced.

At the 185 acre farm of Joe and Tom White, with the electric appliances costing $1,000, including milking apparatus for twenty-nine cows, the farmers said their current cost them only $8 to $9 a month.

One line of inquiry to be taken up by the investigating committee is how much it costs the TVA to produce the current. This is one of the basic questions in the investigation.

Tom White, who is 70 years old, said he has no electric razor, but his nephew has a streamlined model. The committee evinced much interest in a fence, one strand of which is electrified with a mild current to keep cattle inside.

Kitchen to Be Electrified.

Next the electrified 108 acre dairy farm of J. S. Christian, ten miles away, was inspected.

Christian is an up to date farmer, only eight miles from town, who sells his milk in the city for 9 cents a quart wholesale and 12 cents retail. He said he uses 1,000 kilowatts and his bill is around $9 a month. He put in equipment at a cost of $2,500 to $3,000 and is about to electrify his kitchen.

Christian's thirty-eight cows are electrically milked. Electrification saves the wages of two men, $80 a month, he said.

More than a dozen TVA officials and bureau heads are with the party on invitation of the committee to explain the physical aspects of the projects.

Reiterates Objective.

Senator Vic Donahey [D., O.], chairman of the committee, repeated today the chief job of the committee is to check up on the yardstick set up by TVA to measure proper charges for electricity by private utilities.

This involved the basic problem of how much of the cost of the half billion enterprise is to be allocated to hydroelectric power, and how much is to be chalked up to flood relief, fertilizer, and navigation. It is involved in the charges of Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, deposed TVA chairman, that TVA has no power policy and that before low rate contracts with large industries were made TVA should have found how much it costs to produce the kilowatts.

As to navigation Chairman Donahey remarked today: "My personal view is that navigation is not so important. I believe the Tennessee valley has more to bring in than to send out. I don't attach much importance to navigation, personally."

The committee came here to spend the night.

NORSE VOYAGERS

By CALEB

WHILE A SWEDISH prince and his family tour America this summer, an American committee dispatched from Washington is making a study of various Swedish social institutions and government techniques. The study is being made because its members respect and admire the skill and clear thinking expressed by the Swedish nation in running its affairs.

Those who know well the Swedish and other Scandinavian peoples find a great deal to admire and emulate in their culture, and their approach to problems of every sort. Among the peoples who have contributed importantly to the building of America the Scandinavians stand high in regard and achievement.

They have been at it a long time, beginning with the voyage of Leif Ericson almost a thousand years ago. Pushing his 75-foot craft across the forbidding Atlantic with a crew of thirty-five men, Leif the Lucky set a pattern of determination and skill that has since been well followed by his countrymen here.

It is difficult to overstate the worth of contributions they have made to the growth and development of these United States. They brought with them a centuries-old tradition of hard work, dependability, frugality, physical vigor and rigorous honesty.

But, on the other hand, contributions by the Scandinavian peoples have not been confined to physical prowess. In the realms of art, government, the sciences, literature, business and design, they have brought to this country the best fruits of a fine Old-World culture.

Our own business has felt the influence of Swedish skill and culture. In our search for the finest in merchandise from every nook and cranny in the world, we find much to admire and purchase among Scandinavian craftsmen.

In women's apparel, in household furnishings, in glass, silver and fine pottery we turn again and again for inspiration to these peoples and their leadership in decorations, fabric and design.

The community of interest and the mutual striving toward economic and social betterment give our own and the Scandinavian countries many things in common. We join Chicago and the nation in a cordial welcome to Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, Crown Princess Louise, and their son, Prince Bertil.

RAP LAKE COUNTY PROSECUTOR AS AID TO GAMBLERS

Renew Plea for Special Investigation.

State's Attorney Charles E. Mason of Lake county was accused in court yesterday of permitting the operation of slot machines. The charges were contained in affidavits filed before Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady at Waukegan.

In presenting the statements, Attorney Wesley Carey renewed his request that a special prosecutor be appointed to investigate the gambling situation in the county. The demand was made after thirty persons were arrested and ninety-four slot machines seized in raids last Saturday and Sunday.

Churchmen Sponsor Raids.

The raids were sponsored by a group of churchmen and clubwomen. They were made without the knowledge of the sherif or State's Attorney Mason. On Monday Judge Dady denied a request for a special prosecutor and named Mason's first assistant, George W. Field, to investigate the situation.

In court yesterday Attorney Carey said some one not connected with Mason's office should head the gambling inquiry. He accused Mason of being too interested in the outcome of any investigation. As evidence of his charges he presented five statements, three by Waukegan ministers.

Some Operators Not Hoodlums.

Mason was quoted in the statements as saying he knew who operated the slot machines in the county and that not all of them were hoodlums. The ministers said Mason told them Leo Mongoven, Chicago hoodlum, ran the slot machine racket in the north part of the county.

Mason said the accusations and statements attributed to him were falsehoods. He said the charges were part of a political scheme to further the campaign of the Democratic party for the fall election.

Judge Dady said he would take the request for a special prosecutor under advisement.

Veterans of the Second Division association will meet in the Hotel Sherman today for their "20 years after" reunion. Abut 2,000 of the marines, doughboys and machine gunners who went over the top at Belleau Wood, Soissons, St. Mihiel, Blanc Mont and the Argonne are expected to attend the three day rally. Former commanders of the division will be honored at a banquet Saturday.

PLEA OF GUILTY MADE BY KILLER TO AVOID DEATH

Northampton, Mass., July 13.—[Special.]—John F. Bathelt, 26 years old, pleaded guilty of second degree murder today for the slaying of Charles Morris, New York race track follower, and was sentenced at once to life imprisonment. Electrocution is the penalty for first degree murder.

John F. Bathelt.

The court session before Judge Thomas Hammond lasted only ten minutes. Bathelt, who lived in New York and is the son of a Holyoke contractor, showed no emotion and pleaded his guilt in a calm voice.

Sudden termination of the trial forestalled explanation of the mysterious slaying. A motive had not been established clearly. Morris' body was found three weeks ago in the Connecticut river. It was bound with wire to which bits of cement clung, indicating it had been imbedded in cement to weight it down.

Sweetheart Slayer Dies in Ohio's Electric Chair

Columbus, O., July 13.—(AP)—Robert Snow, 27 years old, of Akron, O., died in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary tonight for the fatal shooting of Mrs. Harriet Deger, 25 years old, his Akron sweetheart, last Jan. 18. Snow, a truck driver, pleaded guilty and told a three judge court he shot the woman because she had caused him to serve a workhouse sentence for striking her.

KNIVES AND FISHING RODS STOLEN.

Daniel Cotter, owner of a hardware store at 5835 North avenue, yesterday reported to police the theft of seventy-two pocket knives and twenty-four fishing rods, worth $100.

MATTSON KIDNAP SUSPECT REALLY ASYLUM INMATE

Tacoma, Wash., July 13.—(AP)—A hcped for solution of the Mattson kidnap slaying blew up today, leaving the mystery still unsolved.

At Spokane, Dr. M. W. Conway, superintendent of a state insane hospital, said a man who called himself "Frank Olson" and confessed the abduction was an inmate of the asylum at the time Charles Mattson, 10 years old, was kidnaped and slain.

"Olson's real name is Lester Mead," Dr. Conway said. "He is entirely harmless but is given to fantastic theories that he is a big time criminal."

Earlier Chief William Cole of Washington police had said the man was "a mental case and had no part in the crime." Mead was arrested Friday night at Ritzville after he had frightened a housewife.

Charles Mattson was kidnaped from his home on Dec. 27, 1936. Fifteen days later his battered, nude body was found in a snowbank near Everett, sixty miles away.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

JUDGE FINNEGAN CLEARS ALIMONY ROW OF 11 MORE

Two Back to Jail, One on Wife's Plea.

Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday did his semi-annual housecleaning in alimony row at the county jail. Eleven inmates there were freed when they promised to make payments to their wives or former wives. Two others were sent back to jail.

One of the two is Edwin Schulmeister, who has been in alimony row since May 19. He is $109 in arrears on a $7 a week alimony order for his wife, Mrs. Dorothea Schulmeister, 712 Park avenue, Wilmette. She is suing for separate maintenance. She brought her son, Edward, 6 months old, to court.

Fears Influence of Blonde.

"I don't want him to get out of jail," Mrs. Schulmeister said. "If he gets out he'll run around with a blonde."

"Alimony row was not established to satisfy a wife's spleen," Judge Finnegan said. He directed Schulmeister to arrange to pay some of the arrearage. Then he continued the case to tomorrow.

Louis Karlovitz, who is $140 in arrears to his estranged wife, Katherine, was sent back to jail at his own request. He has served two previous terms in alimony row.

He'd Rather Finish It.

"I'd just as soon stay in a cell until July 30," Karlovitz said. "That will finish my six months term and I'll have no more obligations."

One of those released was Gustave Anderson, who is $700 in arrears to his divorced wife, Mrs. Ruth Anderson, 11347 South Park avenue. Her attorney, Norman Becker, told the court that Anderson had paid $34 on the arrears while he was in jail.

"He said he won the money in some game there," Becker stated.

A FAMILY OF 15 GIVEN HOME BY UNKNOWN FRIEND

An anonymous benefactor yesterday came to the aid of the fifteen members of the Panfil family who were facing eviction from their home at 4604 South Rockwell street. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Panfil, their twelve children, and Mrs. Panfil's brother, Frank Cegielski, were informed that they can occupy a six room apartment at 2158 Ogden avenue rent free for two months and for a moderate rental thereafter. The apartment was placed at their disposal by a friend of Municipal Judge Leon Edelman. On Thursday the judge expressed sympathy at the family's plight and allowed them a thirty day extension before vacating the Rockwell street home for being $30 behind in their rent.

Wife Gets Half

Mrs. Eva Gerlich in court yesterday, where she won right to half of her husband's earnings.

It was mainly through the efforts of his estranged wife, Eva, that Steve Gerlich was paroled last week from Joliet penitentiary where he had served four years for arson. She also got him a job. And that is why, Mrs. Gerlich told Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday, she is entitled to part of his wages for support of herself and two children. She has a divorce suit pending. Mrs. Gerlich lives at 1100 West 18th street. Judge Finnegan ordered Gerlich to give his wife half of his earnings each week.

ACCUSED SLAYER, FUGITIVE FOR SIX MONTHS, GIVES UP

Jack McDonald, a fugitive since last Nov. 23 when he was held to the grand jury on a charge of murder, surrendered to Supervising Captain John Ryan at the North Damen avenue police station yesterday. He said his attorney, George Crane, advised him to make no statement, and that he was going to heed that advice.

Jack McDonald.

McDonald was accused of the murder of Nicholas Basso, a racing sheet distributor, who was shot to death on Oct. 25 in a tavern at 4428 Madison street. At the inquest witnesses said the slayer was a man with whom Basso had fought a short time earlier that evening in the Acacia club, 4723 Madison street.

Yesterday Capt. Louis Klatzco of the Fillmore station was seeking witnesses to the shooting. He took charge of the prisoner because the shooting occurred in that district.

Albany, Ill., July 13.—[Special.]—Frank Huggins, 76 years old, former member of the Albany town board, died of heart disease yesterday.

MISHAP REVEALS SECRET WEDDING OF MRS. CRATER

New York, July 13.—[Special.]—The secret marriage of Mrs. Stella Wheeler Crater, widow of Supreme Court Justice Joseph Force Crater, who disappeared eight years ago was revealed today as the result of an automobile accident.

Mrs. Crater was married last April 23 to Carl Kunz, 47 years old, an electrical engineer in Elkton, Md. Justice Crater was adjudged legally dead a year ago.

The Elkton marriage took place eight days after Kunz's first wife, Anna, 49 years old, hanged herself. Tragedy involved Kunz three weeks after his marriage to Mrs. Crater, when an automobile he was driving crashed against a light pole, fatally injuring Dr. A. J. Raggie, head surgeon at St. Vincent's hospital, and Samuel Edmands, one of the deans at Pratt institute, Brooklyn. Kunz received a triple fracture of his jaw. When he appeared in homicide court today with his jaw in a cast, Magistrate Brough postponed trial until Sept. 8.

COLLECTOR ROBBED OF $600.

William Lutrick, 1516 West 73d place, was robbed of $600 in cash and checks yesterday by two gunmen in front of 2371 East 70th street. He was making collections for the John T. Conners newspaper agency, 9187 South Chicago avenue.

SWEDEN, A BRIGHT SPOT IN A DARK WORLD.

Crown Prince Gustav Adolf comes to Chicago for this week-end with the visitors from Sweden, commemorating the 300th anniversary of the founding of the colony on the Delaware. Earlier in the week the crown prince received an honorary degree at Harvard and, responding like the heir to a modern government, talked business. He said that Sweden had been a bit astonished to find that, particularly in America, it was such an interesting study in government and national economy. He also said that a great deal of what he heard prompted him to touch wood lest the good fortune of his country should turn out to be as ephemeral as human affairs so frequently proved to be.

Most of the news of the world comes from great countries which give very little evidence of the wisdom or good nature of the human race. Manmade disasters engulf so much of the globe that malevolence seems to be the destined master of fate, and good will and intelligence sadly incompetent to hold their own. There is some encouragement, however, in lands where things are more as human reason says they should be and human hope aspires to have them.

Sweden, said the crown prince, has been greatly favored. It has three great natural resources on which it can develop its economy—iron deposits which produce a highly regarded steel, forests, and water power. The water power is a saving resource because Sweden lacks coal Moreover, in over a hundred years the people have not been engaged in war. It has shaken the earth all about them, but they have kept out of it. They are a homogeneous people with no false ideas of national glorification. Their past contains sufficient military renown, if that be necessary to the pride of race, to satisfy romantic inclinations. Their dignity does not require bravado or the brandishing of arms. Their agriculture has been developed virtually to a self-containing condition. Their school system produces an almost universal literacy and their national bent is technological. They have developed international comity to a fine art and amiability to a grace. They have seasoned their progressive ideas with common sense and practicability and, after the testing out of radical programs, have found the middle way which eliminates the extremes and brings nearly all the people to agreement.

As a small nation of homogeneous, peace loving people they have been able to conduct their economic and governmental experiments with a minimum of waste and of error. The success of their coöperatives may be overestimated, particularly for adoption in other countries of far greater population and ferment of ideas, but for Sweden the movement undoubtedly has had the effect of checking monopolistic practices without resort to anti-monopolistic laws.

Sweden's trade balances are favorable. Part of its prosperity depends upon the export of highly desired goods to other markets which as yet have been willing to receive them. The uncertain part of the future, the crown prince said, might be found in the increasing isolationist tarif wall policy of other countries. To say there was no poverty in Sweden would be an exaggeration, but where it existed the constant effort was to remove it. Sweden is a bright spot in a world overcast by gloom as the result of astonishing human failures which are all the worse because they seem to contain so many elements of bad human nature in the ascendancy. Unfortunate conditions may be the excuse for much of this failure, but the world situation gains little relief from such considerations.

Sweden is a prosperous, good natured, intelligent land, with the handsomest, cleanest cities in the world, and if well being should naturally be the reward of right thinking, fair dealing, and good will, this country deserves that its happy condition should be firmly founded and not ephemeral.

THE BUILDING ORDINANCE.

Thirty-seven of the projected forty-seven chapters of the new building code have been adopted within recent months by the city council. More than ten years have been spent in the effort to modernize the code and the work is still far from completed.

The difficulties are, of course, anything but negligible. The subject is highly technical and the aldermen for the most part have not been trained as engineers, architects, or builders. They have had to rely upon experts who were not always wholly disinterested and not always in agreement among themselves. The aldermen had a natural reluctance to approve the use of new materials which might fail, with disastrous consequences not only to the occupants of buildings but also to the aldermen responsible for liberalizing the building law.

The problem was further complicated by those with special interests to serve. Brick fought lumber and both fought steel for use in small houses, for example. The city's building department itself has a vested interest in a code so complex that only the department's experts can find their way through it. Building labor in all its trades had axes to grind; new materials which require less labor to erect have been opposed by the union spokesmen.

Probably it would have been better to have followed a different method in the drafting of the new building ordinance. There should have been much less reference to specific materials and much more emphasis upon standards of performance. The physical properties of the various members of a building should have been set forth; for example, load carrying capacity, fire-resisting properties, weather resisting properties, etc., might have been specified, leaving to the builder the choice of materials which would satisfy these minimum requirements. Enforcement, as at present, would have been entrusted to the city's building department. If for one reason or another the department disapproved the materials to be used, it could refuse its permit but the owner or the material supplier would still have recourse to a commission of experts, if such a board were provided in the ordinance, or, in any event, to the courts. If it could be proved that the materials in dispute were safely within the standards fixed in the law, the department would be overruled.

The conflict over the use of gypsum in roofs and as a fire shield for steel members, as described the other day in an article by Joseph Ator, would then have been avoided. The struggle over frame houses within the fire limits and the other conflict over the use of prefabricated steel houses would likewise have been avoided. Many of the difficulties which have beset the experts and the aldermen would never have arisen. It might even have been possible to establish standards of safety which would have avoided the battle over stairway requirements in ordinary apartment houses. Incidentally, there is little doubt that the decision reached, which, in effect, encourages the use of ugly and often dangerous wooden scaffolding, was an error.

The ordinance when it is completed will be far from ideal, but it is too late now to turn back and start anew. As Mayor Kelly suggested some months ago, the thing to do is to complete the ordinance as promptly as possible, because it is needed to stimulate the building industry in the city. The law can be improved by amendment as fast as it is found wanting.

In the meantime the drift to the suburbs will continue.

VAN NUYS RENOMINATED.

The Indiana Democratic politicians who found that they could not go through with the purge and keep the nomination from Senator Van Nuys made their surrender in the convention as graceless and ill-natured as possible. The senator's name was merely presented without comment or commendation. The nomination was without opposition. The snappy brevity did not harm. It shortened up the time of the convention and disclosed the spirit in which the surrender was made. It did not ease the defeat of the Rooseveltians, led by Gov. Townsend and Senator Minton. It only served to put a sour face on it and make the confession of discomfiture the more observable.

Any praise of the senator who was on the blacklist would have emphasized his part in the defeat of Mr. Roosevelt's, court bill and his reorganization bill, both of which Mr. Van Nuys opposed. The convention praise of the administrative accomplishments omitted these two subjects, logically enough, because they did not represent achievements but failures in which the country made an escape from revolutionary changes in government.

Indiana now is added to Pennsylvania and Iowa, states in which White House dictation has received the most decisive setbacks. Two blacklisted senators, Gillette in Iowa and Van Nuys in Indiana, have won their renomination, one in the primaries and one in the convention. The Indiana senator had been read out of the party by Gov. Townsend on the White House steps after a talk with Mr. Roosevelt. At that time the New Dealers thought they could eliminate him without trouble, merely by pronouncing the doom against him. His announcement that he would appeal to the people and would be an independent candidate caused a gradual and reluctant change of front, resulting in his unanimous nomination.

The New Deal politicos did not change their minds or their desires. They saw that Indiana Democrats were not going to follow them in carrying out a policy of revenge and retaliation against a senator whose only offense was the performance of a great service to the country and to the American system of government. If the surrender of his enemies was graceless it also was complete.

Federal subsidies, grants, pay rolls, and relief money with state patronage were all lined up against him and when the time came his purgers did not care even to face the convention as his enemies. They knew Indiana would not stand for the blacklist. Mr. McNutt, the Philippine high commissioner, as an indorsed candidate for President is probably on it himself now. The New Deal, as the Democratic Front party in spite of its United States treasury backing, is not campaigning as a hot political favorite. Even in Oklahoma more Democratic votes were cast against the White House candidate, Senator Elmer Thomas, than were cast for him.

Editorial of the Day

PERMANENT SHIP CREWS.

[The Washington Evening Star.]

The bureau of marine inspection and navigation of the department of commerce has just made effective a new rule which is expected to produce far-reaching results in stabilizing ship employment and reduction of some of the hazards to life and property at sea due to untrained personnel. The action wipes out a custom of more than fifty years whereby seamen are shipped for only one voyage. The shipmasters now will be permitted to ship members of their crews for long periods of time, regardless of the number of voyages or turn-arounds they make.

Seamen who prove their efficiency will be able to count on steady employment, and likewise the ship owners and masters will be able to make long-term contracts with those men who have proved their worth. The seamen's unions will benefit by having definite information as to their members who have steady jobs, and will be able to concentrate their efforts on finding places for those on the unemployment list, or give them definite information as to whether to look for other fields.

The change should gain its greatest support from the standpoint of safety and economic operation. The seaman on steady employment will have greater peace of mind by the withdrawal of the fear of no work at the end of the voyage. He will be able to give greater attention to his duties, and in so doing over a period of several voyages on the same vessel will learn its peculiarities which will increase operating efficiency and safety. While the new regulation does not require the shipmaster to ship his crew for a long term, nor does it, on the other hand, require a seaman to sign continuous articles, it offers the opportunity to both.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

A young English girl came to America and after short stops in New York and Chicago arrived in Hollywood, according to a story Clyde Parsley heard at the Los Angeles Country club. She stayed on week after week and when asked how long she expected to remain, the girl opened her eyes very wide and said "Why, I don't know. I'm fascinated." Finally, a friend told her he had heard from her anxious mother in England, who wanted him to find out how long she was going to stay in Hollywood. "Why," said the girl, "I'm going to stay until it closes."

FLIGHT.

As a mower coming suddenly
Upon cerulean blue
Of a fragmentary shell where song
Broke through,
And a flashing blade of bending grass
With a golden feather clinging
That fluttered from the upward flight
Of a glad bird winging;
Even so unexpectantly
My heart is warm and bright
With thoughts of you that come to me
Across the night.

Haunted Well in the Ozarks.

If you could visit our farm here in the Ozarks we would surely show you our Haunted Well. The legend of this well dates back to civil war days, when southern Missouri became the settling place of many army deserters. The deep woods, the hills and valleys offered ideal hideouts, where cabins could be built, gardens tended, and even a few pigs and chickens raised. Then, too, the natural shyness of the mountain natives was a boon to men who didn't choose to talk!

* * *

One handsome young stranger, so the legend runs, built himself a cabin in the valley that is now part of our farm, cannily placing it just out of sight of the old stage coach road that our sheep now daily traverse. While others drew water at community springs and the sparkling spring fed river, he insured a water supply for his piebald horse by digging, with blistered white hands, a deep well filled by an overflow from a natural pond.

* * *

Early in the following January, runs the tale, the stage coach was held up by a slim, young masked bandit riding a piebald horse! He refused the gold coins, and thick gold watches held out to him. He took only one thing; a beautiful young southern girl, who went smilingly, eagerly, with him, obviously by prearrangement! After that, says my informant, the young girl was seen for "nigh onto three months" in and around the stranger's cabin. But always she was weeping, "cryin' her purty blue eyes right out'n her haid." Evidently the rough life in a log cabin and the bedraggled condition of her beautiful hooped, flowered silk dresses were far from her dreams. When mountain women tried to be friendly, she would laugh a loud, hysterical laugh that "fair curdled your blood."

* * *

Then, in late March, she disappeared. The slim young man, grown even more tight lipped, told inquirers she had "gone home." But no one had seen her go. Later, so the story runs, the stranger and his piebald horse were seen riding north from Willow Springs, and the cabin stood empty.

Squatters, tempted by the deep pond and the never dry well, took possession from time to time, but they always moved out during the first three months of the year. Their women folks, they complained, were "druv plumb crazy" by the weird sounds that came from the well, day and night!

Although the cabin, rebuilt, is now a cheerful, sunny guest house, I, too, know those sounds. They come with startling regularity, every hour almost exactly on the hour during January, February, and March. The dogs cowered and whimpered the day I lifted the cover and peered into the dark water. We know the sounds are made by frogs or insects that winter beneath the thick oak planks. But . . . their cry sounds exactly like a loud, hysterical laugh!

Marge of Sunrise Mountain Farm.

This morning we give you the young woman who boards an outer drive bus each morning carrying a wet pair of fabric gloves. She fastens them to the seat in front of her with a safety pin, they dry in the breeze before she reaches Michigan avenue, she puts them on, and gets off the bus, the well turned out business girl.

The details attendant upon a royal visit, and all the inside news that doesn't get into print would make an absorbing tale. A review of the telegrams alone concerning the arrangements for entertaining the royal Swedish party would be interesting reading. . . . One wonders if Count Gosta Morner of toothpaste fame, once married to Peggy Joyce, now remarried and living in New York, attended festivities in honor of the crown prince of Sweden in New York. It was an ancestor of Count Morner, Count Otto Morner, who went from Sweden to France to begin the negotiations that brought Jean Baptiste Bernadotte, marshal of France, to the Swedish throne.

* * *

The story goes that when Napoleon demurred at permitting his subject to cancel his oath of allegiance and to go to rule another country, Marshal Bernadotte said "Would you make me greater than you by having me refuse a crown?" That first Bernadotte was 6 feet 3, you may be interested to recall should you catch a glimpse of his tall great-great-grandson during his Chicago stay.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

SIGNALS WE SHOULD HEED.

THERE is an old but true saying that if one will look after the little things of life, the big ones will care for themselves. We are reminded constantly of the fact that among our acquaintances severe illness originated "a long way back" with an apparently trifling indisposition.

There is danger, however, that some of us may pay too much attention to inconsequential aches and twinges. Were we to look upon each and all as of vital importance, we would do little else than tread the pathway to the doctor's office. For safety's sake, however, we can occupy a middle ground in which we will not disregard obvious warnings such as a cold, an abscess at the root of a tooth, a cut or a scratch, painful feet, or any one of a hundred conditions which all too often are the subject of callous indifference on the part of many.

True enough, a throat or nasal infection perhaps may be fought off, even though neglected, and the victim may escape the slightest after-effects. But there may come a time when this stubborn tendency is called to account and the individual be obliged to face an attack of some serious malady. It can be said without fear of contradiction that colds and influenza cause more invalidism than bronchitis, pneumonia, pleurisy, tuberculosis, and asthma put together. Figures from the insured population of Great Britain indicate that in 1934 fourteen million workers lost, on the average, two weeks each from ailments which were thought to be minor.

Unfortunately, by the time tuberculosis has progressed to the stage where it can be recognized by the patient the disease has become deep-seated. This explains why we look upon a hemorrhage from the lungs, that comes seemingly from a clear sky, as lucky for the afflicted person. The incident sends him to a physician, whereupon the diagnosis is made promptly and treatment started. Many of these sufferers have had no cough whatever, merely a feeling of fatigue; neither have they exhibited signs of a cold which has hung on for several weeks. Needless to say, any cough, whether accompanied by expectoration or not, that has existed over a period of weeks, demands an investigation, even though the patient does not feel ill.

Recently a rather prominent citizen suffered from what he thought was an ordinary cold. Acute manifestations subsided within a few days, but the "hacking" persisted. Substantial reorganization plans affecting his business demanded extra hours each day. Several friends suggested that he visit his physician, but all received the same reply: "All right, just as soon as this deal is off my mind."

A week later, on returning from a trip, he was scarcely able to reach his home because of marked shortness of breath. His physician was called and found a weakened and failing heart muscle. An enforced absence from work for several months will be necessary to bring the pumping organ back to normal. The cough was not from the bronchi or the lungs, but was a typical heart symptom which indicated that blood was unable to get back from the stomach and liver to the right side of the heart.

Fatigue—that "all gone" feeling—cannot fail to interfere with the proper functioning of every organ in the body. As most of us know, a growing infant must have at least twelve hours of sleep, and an adult who tries to manage with less than eight is cheating his nervous system. The consequences of too little slumber may not be noticed at once, but sooner or later, when reserve is needed, it will not be available. Whether it brings loss of health or not—it does reduce efficiency.

No one should allow a headache, indigestion, or pain anywhere in the body to go long unexplained, particularly if the trouble recurs periodically. The cause may be a simple indiscretion in diet, but frequently it will point to some out of balance behavior that can be set right easily. We may look upon early displays of weakness as remedial—on the whole. But little effort is required to stop a tiny break in the dike.

MELONS LACK VITAMIN C.

G. T. writes: During the summer and fall many families substitute cantaloupe for the grapefruit or oranges used in the winter and spring. Is melon a perfect substitute for a citrus fruit?

REPLY.

Cantaloupes do not take the place of citrus fruits. Their vitamin A content is good, but they lack the vitamin C present in oranges, grapefruit, lemons, and limes. If you use lemonade, enough C will be obtained.

ENLARGEMENT OF SPLEEN.

A. O. writes: What diseases cause the spleen to enlarge?

REPLY.

The spleen is enlarged in congenital syphilis, Hodgkin's disease, various forms of leucemia, malarial fever, portal cirrhosis, septicemia, smallpox, and typhoid fever.

SEND STAMPED ENVELOPE.

K. T. writes: Can you supply a list of books on the caloric values of foods?

REPLY.

Yes. Send a stamped addressed envelope with request.

MAY BE MILD ARTHRITIS.

V. S. writes: I have no aches or pains but on getting up after sitting for a while, I'm very stiff. Does this mean anything?

REPLY.

Probably a mild arthritis.

SEE ILLINOIS.

Midlothian, Ill., July 12.—Returned from a 2,000 mile vacation trip through Illinois—my fifth in twelve years. I am more than ever impressed with the scenic and historic wealth of the Illinois country, its outstanding qualities as a vacation land of infinite variety, and the indifference of millions of its citizens to the grandest heritage in the Union.

From Galena, perched on a world turned topsy-turvy, to Shawneetown, peering over its forty foot levee at the Ohio that some day will blot it out; from old world Prairie du Rocher, sleeping away its day in the shadow of a sugar cane hill, to the resort towns of the lake regions, there is not a dull mile in Illinois. And of all the states, its riches are the most accessible.

As a sovereign cure for the economic blues there is no sounder prescription than a thousand mile trip through Illinois. Two thousand miles will make any one a confirmed champion of the state, and 3,000 miles—not necessarily in one dose—will develop in even the most hard-headed a conviction that Illinois concentrates within its borders the equal of everything the other forty-seven states have, besides a friendly charm of its own no other can approach. Yet by no one is Illinois so little appreciated as by the average Illinoisian.

No agency, in my opinion, is better fitted to correct that unfortunate condition and sell Illinois citizens on their own state than THE TRIBUNE. Occasional articles on Illinois trips in the past have, I know, increased week-end trips tremendously. But a systematic campaign on the plank, "See Illinois First"—and no other plank is more badly needed in your platform for Illinois and Chicago—would give the state its rightful place in the estimation of its own citizens.

WPA AND NATIONAL GUARD.

Chicago, July 11.—We of the National Guard, in preparation for our annual field training period, have met with a situation that warants the public's attention.

An order has been issued by the local WPA that those employés who are members of the guard will not receive pay for the time lost nor will they be permitted to make up the time upon return. This order affects a large percentage of our membership, as the age group from which we draw is that which falls within the need of WPA employment.

The average number of days worked by WPA employés during a calendar month is thirteen. Our field training period is for fifteen days. By the simplest methods of bookkeeping those employés who are guardsmen could be permitted to make up the lost hours and at the same time create no problem for project plans.

The National Guard is an honorable body with a long record of peace and wartime services to state and nation. We are engaged in the development of the ideals of American citizenship, and any action which might undermine our efforts or destroy the morale of our men is counter to public interest.

WPA LENDS HELP.

Chicago, July 9.—A word of thanks to the WPA construction boss and his men at Sawyer and Ogden avenues.

Last Wednesday I was taking an invalid to the hospital and, not being able to carry him from the house into the automobile [his weight, 175 pounds] I was forced to seek aid.

After I explained the situation to the boss he gladly allowed two WPA men to aid me and they handled the matter perfectly—courteous and obliging.

BALLOTS WILL BE THE JUDGE.

Chicago, July 4.—I am only 20 years old, but old enough to realize that the vile propaganda that you daily purvey does not have much influence, that the average person has a higher level of intelligence than that of a normal 12 year old, a level which most journalists presuppose; that your ambiguous stock phrases, such as "radical," have no effect on their choice of representatives. Let the ballots be the judge. H. N.

WORSE THAN FIRECRACKERS.

Chicago, July 9.—Let's be fair. Surely, the early morning bombardment of the newsboys—"Get your morning TRIBUNE"—is far more obnoxious than a barrage of firecrackers. G. B. HUNT.

RIGHT IN OUR MIDST.

Chicago, July 11.—Within a two hour period Sunday evening I quietly watched the following Chicago wild life: Five crows alighted in the trees and on the ground before they discovered me and flew off, cawing resentfully. Three rabbits hopped silently across the lawn; one of them investigated a hollow tree, entering and leaving it several times. Four squirrels came near; one, followed by two blue jays at a respectful distance, was eating a bread crust. Occasionally a flicker or a red-headed woodpecker would glide up along the side of a tree for a moment. Four starlings stalked across the lawn with their heads bobbing. And just at dusk two young owls flapped awkwardly about among the lower branches of some small trees.

I wonder how many of the 3,500,000 Chicagoans realize that they have such neighbors also living within their city?

DON C. ROGERS.

PRAISE FOR ST. LOUIS.

Chicago, July 4.—The recent jaunt of Ald. McQuinn's subcommittee to inspect New York subways brings to mind something worth while in nearby St. Louis that our city fathers should see for their own edification and education.

The magnificent plaza in the Mound City, on the banks of the Mississippi, contains an imposing group of seven public structures; The Municipal auditorium. Juvenile Court building, Civil Courts building, Municipal Courts building, Police Headquarters, City hall, and Federal building, without overcrowding, in convenient location for the citizenry, surrounded by well kept lawns, a veritable park, truly a civic asset worthy of their just pride. Hail to our fellow Americans in Missouri! JOSEPH A. LASECKI.

WHY NOT?

Chicago, July 11.—Inasmuch as the state legislature has passed a bill exempting from taxation the South Park way federal apartments, permitting payment of 5 per cent of rental in lieu of taxes, I presume that apartment owners in the vicinity have a right to reduce their tax bills to an amount equal to 5 per cent of collected rents.

Why should one building be exempt from taxation, paying only a ridiculously low service charge, and other property be assessed full tax rates? TAXPAYER.

TO WHOM PAROLED?

Chicago, July 11.—I notice in THE TRIBUNE that 118 prisoners were just released on parole, four from Cook county the second time. I would like to know the names and addresses of those who sign those prisoners' parole; also the kind of a position and the name of the firm that is furnishing those men employment, when here in our midst we have thousands of good, honest men looking for work.

CITIZEN AND TAXPAYER.

IF IRISH, WHY NOT GERMANS?

Chicago, July 4. — If it is right for Americans of Irish origin to have a weekly newspaper and to visit Europe and see Mr. De Valera, how does State Senator John J. McNaboe of New York [now conducting an inquiry] explain that it is not also right for Americans of German origin to have a weekly paper and to visit Germany and see Chancellor Hitler?

CHRISTINE HOEHN.

ENVELOPED IN SMOKE.

Chicago, July 11.—Why must people spoil a lovely outdoor concert by smoking while the music is in progress? Last Wednesday night at the concert by the Illinois Symphony orchestra in the Wilmette Bowl I sat throughout the concert completely enveloped in a cloud of smoke made by a pipe and a cigar in front of me and a cigaret on either side. By the time the concert was over my eyes were actually watering from smoke and my throat felt as though I had swallowed sand.

The same thing, moreover, happens at Grant park and at Ravinia. On hot, sultry nights the smoke can be seen hanging like a pall inside the pavilion at Ravinia.

Some smokers use the lame excuse that smoking keeps insects away. Nevertheless, I have sat many times completely enshrouded by smoke and have been literally eaten alive by mosquitoes.

One of the chief joys of an outdoor concert, it seems to me, is to be able to breathe in the fresh air while enjoying the music, but the air is far from fresh when it is filled with smoke.

I am not an old crank; on the contrary, I am a young woman in my early twenties. V. L.

ESTATE MANAGEMENT.

Chicago, July 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Upon my father's death twelve years ago, my sister was named [1] executrix of the estate. A will left by my father acknowledged my mother as sole [2] benefactor of property and cash left. My mother is still living, but inactive in a business way. Taxes on property had been neglected and unpaid for a few years. My sister's husband entered several enterprises soon after his marriage to my sister and had no funds of his own, and we presume the estate money was used for his enterprises.

3. What litigation is necessary to find out why taxes have been neglected?
4. Is the husband responsible for the executrix's incompetence or mishandling of funds? The husband is now engaged in a business which nets him an extremely good income.
5. Can the children of the estate charge the husband as being the cause of neglect of payment of taxes?
6. Can an executrix be forced to give up her position and turn her duties over to another member of the family?

S. L.

1. An executrix does not necessarily have anything to do with the real estate. Her rights and duties would depend on the wording of the will.
2. We assume that you mean beneficiary. Ordinarily a probate estate should be closed shortly after the year for filing claims has expired. If this is not done, you can request the clerk of the court to bring pressure to bear on the executrix to close the estate.
3. It is not clear that litigation is appropriate. You should first ascertain the facts that are available without litigation.
4. Not on the bare facts stated.
5. This is a question of fact which you are in a better position to pass upon than we are.
6. Depends on the proof that can be introduced as to her incompetence or other disqualifications.

SUDDEN WAVES ON LAKE DROWN 5 IN MICHIGAN

Ten Foot Walls of Water Endanger Scores.

Holland, Mich., July 13.—[Special.]—Ten foot waves swept suddenly in from Lake Michigan today, drowned at least five persons, and endangered the lives of scores of bathers and fishermen along the Michigan shore.

Thrilling rescues were numerous. Life preservers, ropes, and boats were at a premium in the frantic work of pulling to safety persons caught by the waves and the tremendous undertow accompanying them. Several were seriously injured.

Without warning the waves roared in toward shore from a lake that a moment before had been calm. It is believed they were caused by storms on the western side of the lake.

Two Housemaids Drown.

Two young housemaids, Miss Ruth Riksen, 18 years old, of Holland, and Miss Catherine Schutt, 19, of Beaver Dam, Mich., were drowned while swimming two miles north of here near the Lakewood farm of George Getz of Chicago.

Herbert Brower, 30 years old, of Grand Rapids, an employé of the Bell Telephone company, lost his life when he was caught by a huge wave while swimming at a point nearby.

John D. Lent Jr., 20 years old, of Peru, Ill., drowned near Pentwater, Mich., when his canoe capsized in the heavy seas. A companion, John Raschbacher, 19 years old, of Ann Arbor, Mich., saved himself by swimming through the heavy surf to shore.

Oscar Thorsen, 49 years old, was drowned while swimming offshore near Muskegon.

Waves Sweep Over Piers.

The gigantic walls of water roared over piers eight feet high in the Holland harbor. The sudden rise of the water left scores of persons stranded on breakwaters that extend lakeward half a mile from shore, a favorite spot for fishermen.

The breakwaters are higher at the outer end, permitting fishermen to climb to safety there. Coast guard crews used boats and life preservers to rescue the stranded persons.

Boats in the harbor, including government dredges and lakegoing craft, were badly battered by the waves. The government steamer Cumberland and a barge tow were buffeted so severely off Muskegon that they put into Holland harbor instead of continuing the trip to Saugatuck.

BURNED BY ACID.

Emil Skeiak, 2100 South Springfield avenue, suffered burns yesterday when he fell over a bucket of acid while at work in a soap plant at 6801 65th street.

Motorist Gets Five Days for Crashing Into Bus

Judge Michael Kasper in Safety court yesterday sentenced Edward Swichtenberg, 1836 North Honore street, to five days in the county jail for reckless driving. Swichtenberg had pleaded guilty. His car and a Chicago motor coach collided Tuesday night at Sheridan road and Briar place. Three passengers on the bus were injured.

Walter Lomnicke, 2440 Haddon avenue, was placed on probation for a year for reckless driving. He was ordered not to drive for six months.

STORM BLAMED FOR AUTO CRASH THAT KILLS 3

Authorities blamed the severe storm for an automobile collision in which two women and a man lost their lives early yesterday at Willow and Skokie roads, west of Winnetka.

The dead are Miss Margaret Chastaine, 20 years old, of 7401 Waukegan road, Niles; Mrs. Gertrude Jaffie, 27, of 905 Carmen avenue; and Anthony Monka, 27, of 7251 Ibsen avenue. They were returning from a trip to Kenosha in a car driven by John Kozak, 22, of 7060 Franks avenue, Niles. Kozak was injured. He was taken to the Evanston hospital as was John W. Appleton, 345 Scranton avenue, Lake Bluff, driver of the truck with which their car collided.

A man about 30 years old, identified as Kurt Swinson of Los Angeles, Cal., was fatally injured last night when he was struck by an automobile at Lawrence and Hoyne avenues. He died in the Ravenswood hospital, where he was taken by the driver, Leo Friedman of 4936 North Troy street.

Nathan Landsberg, 78, 555 Barry avenue, died this morning in the John B. Murphy hospital of injuries received June 25 when he was struck by an automobile at Barry avenue and Broadway. The driver was Russell Gunderson, 1043 North Lawler avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 429 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 331 were killed in Chicago, where 9,776 were injured in the same period.

HUGHES TO PROCEED SOON WITH ISSUANCE OF DRIVER LICENSES

Springfield, Ill., July 13.—[Special.]—Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes will soon begin issuing the automobile drivers' licenses which motorists will be required to carry after next May 1, he said yesterday. To do this, he will dip into a $400,000 appropriation, contrary to the wishes of Gov. Henry Horner, he indicated.

Hughes differed from the reasoning of Attorney General Otto Kerner, who advised the governor that the appropriation in the new law may be held invalid.

Robber Gang Is Hunted After Street Car Shooting

Englewood police yesterday sought a gang of young colored robbers who early in the day shot and wounded John A. O'Brien, operator of a one man street car. The shooting occurred while O'Brien was turning the car at 63d street and South Park avenue. One of the youths pulled the trolley off the wire. When O'Brien attempted to fight, another of the hoodlums fired a shot, wounding him in the chest. He was taken to the Woodlawn hospital. O'Brien lives at 8058 Calumet avenue. Three colored youths were arrested and questioned. They denied any part in the crime.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

NOTICE!

ON OR ABOUT ONE MONTH FROM TODAY (AUGUST 14) THE HAY-FEVER SEASON
WILL OPEN FOR MANY OF YOU

Start Building Up Your System NOW!

Many hay-fever victims will admit, if they stop to think about it, that perhaps half their discomfort and suffering is really caused — not by the actual itching-sneezing-crying-coughing spells at all—but by the ravaging effect this condition has on the body, by the raids these spells make on the nerves.

And the greater the reserve vitality of the victim's body and nerves, the less intense will be the effects of his suffering.

So, right now, BEFORE the season starts in earnest, is the time to begin building up your vitality and resistance—to take those important steps to make your discomfort less acute and your post-season recovery faster.

Now we come to MALVAZ. But don't misunderstand us—MALVAZ is not a cure for hay-fever. MALVAZ is, however, a healthful, vitalizing, scientific food-drink, familiar to many doctors, recommended by them in many rundown and convalescent cases—a powerful aid in helping to maintain a healthy, normal tone in the system.

Thousands of Chicagoans are now drinking MALVAZ—some of them for the taste and stimulating pleasure alone—many others because they believe it to be the ideal "builder-upper," just what they need for more vitality and pep. You, too, should enjoy its invigorating energy, its health-building vitality.

Start building up your energy reserve and resistance today! Like all products of merit, MALVAZ is imitated, but remember that there can be no substitute for quality—and no substitute for health! Phone CANal 6500 for your MALVAZ now!

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

JUST AS HUSKY AS IT LOOKS
—and a WHALE of an economy buy!

HERE'S one tire you'd single out from ten or a hundred in the rack and say:

"Boy, there's something!"

For this Goodyear Speedway looks just what it is—tough and strong and husky.

You can see, at a glance, it's built for long life and real performance.

Such a tire looks like important money. But when you price it, you'll get a real surprise.

For Speedways start at $6.15 for the 4.40-21 size. No more than you would pay for little-known or off-brand tires. Even retreads cost almost as much.

And remember this: There's been no penny-pinching in the making of this husky tire. Goodyear couldn't afford to do that. Instead, it gives you top value for your money in this rugged and sure-footed Goodyear Speedway—just as it does in all tires that bear the Goodyear name.

LIFETIME GUARANTEE
Every tire of our manufacture, bearing our name and serial number, is guaranteed by us to be free from defects in workmanship and material, without limit as to time or mileage, and to give satisfactory service under normal operating conditions. If our examination shows that any tire has failed under the terms of this guarantee, we will either repair the tire or make an allowance on the purchase of a new tire.

Just like the teeth of a gear wheel, Speedway shoulder-blocks dig into the sides of ruts, driving the wheel on through.

It's the combination of Center Traction, high, wide, and husky tread and Supertwist cord construction which makes Speedway the winner on those rough back roads.

Supertwist cord, the backbone of a Speedway, can take more strain and stand up longer than the cord in ordinary tires. That's why it does a better job in sudden jolts, bumps, and curve-strains.

WAR ON WEEDS GETS AID FROM STATE, COUNTIES

Illinois Fights Sources of Hay Fever.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Urbana, Ill., July 13.—[Special.]—Weed control has been made one of the major agricultural projects of the University of Illinois, Dr. Joseph C. Blair, dean of the college of agriculture, announced today. The purpose of routing weeds is to improve health conditions, to increase farm income, and to decrease highway and street accidents.

Activities of the university's agronomists, chemists, entomologists and machinery experts are being coördinated under the direction of the new head of the college and its experiment station. That school's scientists are helping wherever possible in the state-wide weed campaign now starting for the second year under supervision of the state weed control committee, headed by J. H. Lloyd, director of the state department of agriculture. One of the main objectives is to destroy ragweeds before they bloom, because ragweed pollen is a major cause of hay fever.

Hay Fever Season Near.

"We are approaching the hay fever season and the troubles of the hay fever sufferers," Dr. Blair said. "What could be more natural than that we, as educators of youth, encourage in every way the destruction of ragweeds and countless other pollen bearing plants that are common on our highways, vacant city lots, public park areas, as well as in farm fields?

"The widespread public demand for the eradication of weeds has caused this institution to make experiments. For more than fifty years the college of agriculture has been interested in eliminating such nuisances."

Dr. Blair added that the college is making available the information resulting from investigations of the state experiment station as to the best methods of controling weeds in the country and in the city. Radio broadcasts from the university's station, WILL, are helping the work.

Hold County Meetings.

Weed control and demonstration meetings already have been held by the college in Carrol, Knox, Henry, McDonough, White, Fayette, and Macoupin counties. One will be held for Macon county at Decatur soon.

The state highway department spent approximately $600,000 in mowing weeds along the state highways last year. J. C. Hackleman, crop extension specialist of the college, says weed mowing is increasing from the Wisconsin line to Cairo. Mail baskets in the weed experts' departments are piled high daily with letters asking for control information.

There is an increase in the number of weed and seed samples sent in for identification by farmers and others to the college and to the state laboratory. Farmers are using more and more machines in raking, winrowing, and burning roots of quack grass.

More Seed Cleaning Effort.

Hackleman, who is also a member of the state weed control committee, finds that an increasing number of seed cleaning machines are being used in Illinois. Ten machines operated in the state last year cleaned nearly 150,000 bushels of wheat. Additional seed cleaning machines are being used this year.

There is a greater demand among farmers for certified seed this year than ever before and seeds cannot be certified if they contain weeds.

START CONTEMPT ACTION AGAINST BAILIF A. J. HORAN

Judges of the Municipal court yesterday started contempt proceedings against their own bailif, Albert T. Horan, in the squabble over his staf. They ordered him to show cause by tomorrow why he should not be punished for ignoring their orders to reinstate 55 deputy bailifs whom he discharged.

The judges' order was issued in the name of the court as a whole and not by any one judge. The vote, in closed meeting, was 17 to 3.

The judges have the statutory power to reinstate any deputies ousted by the bailif. Horan claims, however, that there is no way of forcing him to deputize them. A majority of the judges contend Horan's ousters were for political reasons; his reply is that they were an economy move.

U. S. EXECUTORS RECEIVE COPIES OF SIDLEY WILL

TORONTO, July 13.—[Canadian Press.]—Executors of the estate of Mrs. Mabelle Horlick Sidley, wealthy American who died here last Wednesday, will be given her will on receipt of a formal order, legal representatives said today.

The entire estate is in the United States, Hollis said, and he expected the executors would meet at Racine, Wis., Mrs. Sidley's legal domicile.

A chemical analysis of the viscera of Mrs. Sidley disclosed no poisonous substance, according to the report of Dr. W. L. Robinson, pathologist, made public today.

GERMAN JEWISH REFUGEE DIES IN HOLY LAND CLASH

JERUSALEM, July 13.—(AP)—A few Arabs attempted today to open shops in Haifa, Palestine's chief port, but quickly closed them under threat of death from members of their own race as Jewish-Arab clashes in the British mandated Holy Land continued undiminished. The Haifa mosque was placarded with threats to Arabs who violate the Arab strike, now in its seventh day. The strike began after enmity between Jews and Arabs flared into new fatal clashes.

Haifa and the northern district were particularly tense. Police and British troops quelled two fights in the city after one German-Jewish refugee, 15 years old, was killed and another seriously injured. Both were stoned and beaten with iron bars.

Don't Be Fooled About Constipation!

Many people, when constipation hits them, just reach for the medicine shelf, dose up with a physic, and try to forget it—till the trouble comes back. And come back it usually does—more and more often—till you get at its cause.

If you eat what most people do—just bread, meat, potatoes—chances are just this fact causes your trouble: lack of "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and aids elimination.

If that's the reason for your trouble, what you need is a good dish of crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains the "bulk" you need plus Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B_1.

Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars." Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

MAN WHO OPENED HITLER'S PATH TO POWER DIES AT 91

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 13.—Emil Kirdorf, the first prominent Industrialist to support Adolf Hitler and thus pave the Fuehrer's way to power, died today in Streithof. He was 91 years of age.

Kirdorf, son of a textile manufacturer, became a captain of German industry in imperial times, and, with Hugo Stinnes, Karl Friedrich von Siemens, Albert Voegler, and others built powerful coal, iron, and steel companies. He founded the Rhenish Westphalian Coal syndicate and was director general of the Gelsenkirchen Mining company. Strong of will, he retained presidency of the coal syndicate until he was 78 years old, and then quit because he disliked methods of younger members in the organization.

When Kirdorf celebrated his 90th birthday Hitler presented him with the black shield of the German eagle. In 1911 Kirdorf scornfully refused a hereditary title offered him on behalf of Kaiser Wilhelm II. of Germany.

FRENCH STATION MORE GUNS ON SPANISH BORDER

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier]—July 13.—(AP)—Reports that the Spanish rebels planned a drive along the French border to match the coastal campaign against Valencia brought quick action today from the French general staf.

French border anti-aircraft defenses were strengthened on reports that the rebels, with the aid of 20,000 Italian troops, were being concentrated for a push to cut government Spain off from France.

The French war ministry sent Gen. Bertrand Falagade, commander of eastern sections of the French border, to inspect French defenses, which consist mostly of anti-aircraft batteries.

Rebel military headquarters at Saragossa announced rebel troops had broken enemy lines in the strongly fortified Sarrion sector along the Teruel-Sagunto highway, and had captured Sarrion itself, a town on the highway 23 miles southeast of Teruel. The town is about 60 miles northwest of Valencia.

BRITAIN REJECTS FRANCO'S OFFER OF 'IMMUNE PORT'

$114,505,000 More Set Aside for Planes.

LONDON, July 13.—(AP)—The Chamberlain government today disclosed new stalemates in its efforts to stop the rain of Spanish bombs on civilians and British merchant ships.

At the same time the government asked $114,505,000 more for its air rearmament program, and fought off a house of commons attack on its alleged failure to encourage home agriculture production as a safety measure in event of an aerial blockade in wartime.

Declaring Britain was "not prepared to acquiesce in repetition of attacks of a certain character" on her shipping, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain informed the commons the government had rejected the suggestion of the reber general, Francisco Franco, that Almeria be made an "immune" port for British ships visiting government Spain.

He reiterated, however, that British ships trading in the war zone must accept their own risks.

Agent Stays in London.

He also announced that Sir Robert Hodgson, British representative in rebel Spain, would remain in London for "the present," and that Britain's effort to set up a neutral commission to investigate bombings of civilians had failed.

Instead of the international commission to investigate civilian bombings, he said, Britain would send a mission of two men.

The Spanish government, it was made known on June 25, threatened to retaliate on Italian cities for rebel air raids, often made with Italian-built planes, on government cities. Later the government agreed to withhold its attacks until it saw the effect of the proposed commission.

To Build Bombers in Canada.

Sir Kingsley Wood, secretary for air, told the house that a special mission under Sir Hardman Lever would go to Canada "for the purpose of entering into negotiations with the Canadian aircraft industry for the manufacture of large bomber aircraft in Canada."

The additional air force funds were provided for in a supplementary budget estimate, which also called for an increase in personnel from 83,000 to 96,000.

JAPS' BOMBERS ATTACK CANTON FOR THIRD DAY

CANTON, China, July 14 [Thursday].—(AP)—For the third successive day Canton awoke to the sound of screaming air raid alarms and exploding bombs today as thirty-seven Japanese raiders flew over the city dumping their deadly cargoes. An unofficial estimate was 150 dead and 480 injured.

Several bombs landed in the slum districts packed with refugees near the center of the city. The raiders appeared soon after daylight. Apparently their objectives were the Pearl river bridge and a power plant.

Meanwhile official reports said a large force of Chinese guerrillas had landed at Namoa Island, near Swatow, on July 11 to capture or kill several officials of the Japanese established régime there. Fighting on the island was reported continuing.

Midsummer heat above 100 degrees caused a lull in the Japanese army's drive up the Yangtze river toward Hankow, China's provisional capital. Chinese defenders held the Japanese beyond gun range of Kiukiang, their immediate objective 135 miles below Hankow. Chinese anti-aircraft guns shot down nine Japanese bombers near the Nanchang air base.

BY JUDITH CASS.

The board of governors of the Bar Harbor club, exclusive swimming and tennis club at Bar Harbor, Me., met there yesterday and elected Potter Palmer president for the ensuing year. Mr. Palmer, who was vice president, succeeds E. T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia who died recently. Other positions on the executive board filled at the meeting were: Vice president, John D. Thayer, Philadelphia; Thomas Bell Sweeney, Washington, treasurer; F. Hamilton McCormick-Goodhard, Washington and Chicago, secretary.

The Palmers are spending the summer at Hare Forest, their beautiful summer estate there.

Music lovers will be dining early tonight so that they may be on time to hear Willem Van Hoogstraten conduct the opening night of his week as guest conductor of the Ravinia festival. Mario Chamlee, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera, will be the guest artist.

The Belfry theater of Williams Bay on Lake Geneva will continue its summer theater program tonight with "Post Road," the second offering of the season.

"The play must go on" is no idle code with the Belfry players, who finished their opening night by candles and flashlight last week when the electrical current was cut off by a storm.

Guests from East Have Gay Visit

The visit of Miss Marjorie Flagg of Westbury, L. I., and Miss Marjorie Abbett of Glen Cove, N. Y., with Miss Betty Mead at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Bennett in Lake Forest has been a gay one. The two easterners, who leave tomorrow for their homes, took part in all the summer debutante activities.

Since Miss Flagg and Miss Abbett were Miss Mead's roommates at Farmington and are such close friends, they may come to Chicago for Miss Mead's debut tea to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Bennett in their Lake Forest home on Oct. 15. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett also will entertain for their daughter at a dinner-dance on Dec. 26 at the Blackstone hotel.

Ted Bennett sailed two weeks ago for Egypt and the near east.

Another visitor from the east is Miss Betty Culver of New York, who is stopping at the Ambassador, around the corner from her former Vassar classmate, Mrs. William B. Goltra. Miss Culver has been here frequently on pleasure trips, but her visit this time is a serious one, for she will be doing research work at the Newberry library.

Next fall Miss Culver will embark on a teaching career at a private girls' school in Savannah, Ga.

French Colony Will Mark Bastille Day.

Bastille day will have its 80th celebration in Chicago today. The French colony, the Franco-American societies and lovers of France are invited to take part in the day's activities. René Weiller, consul general of France, and Mrs. Weiller will give a reception at 11 o'clock at the French consulate.

The play "Napoleonette," by André de Lorde and Jean Marsele will be given by the International Theater of Chicago at 2:30 o'clock at Curtiss hall. There will be a banquet at 7:30 o'clock at the Webster hotel.

Among those who are arranging for the presentation of the play are Mrs. Laird Bell, Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, Mrs. Howard Linn, Mrs. Philip Maher, and Mrs. Alden Swift.

The Sunset Ridge Country club will have "A Night in Spain" buffet supper this evening.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Tout Sheet.

Hollywood, Cal., July 12.—Howard Hughes—Holds his speed on any kind of a track; as a traveler, makes Seabiscuit, the commuter, look like a stay-at-home.

Norma Shearer—Lost the French Revolution Mile by a head.

Jean Arthur—Fleet miss from Ross stable; back to the races with Trainer Capra; is in winning mood.

John Barrymore—Veteran campaigner racing in best form at present; never far away from winner's circle.

Harold Lloyd—Throw out last; can do much better.

Nancy Carroll—Freshened up; fast works.

Clark Gable—Clockers say this one is too hot to handle; matinée performances impressive.

Henry Armstrong—Chocolate colt; even money choice against Sir Stork; heading for second landing.

Robert Morley—English colt, making first American start; won breezing.

Heddy La Marr—This is flashiest and most formful filly since Dietrich won at Arlington; clockers don't believe their figures—or her figure, for that matter.

Allen Jenkins—Hard hitting colt from Burbank; always rapping at the door; good, honest performer.

Mickey Rooney—Moving up in class; keeps winning.

William Powell—Racing fans would like to see Derby winner back under silks again; he is about ready to accommodate.

Ginger Rogers—With Astaire to set the pace, Texas miss will show radical improvement.

Madeleine Carroll—Bombed out of contention in last race in Spain.

Ray Milland—Clockers recommend.

Herbert Marshall—Big British colt; always charging in the stretch.

Jimmy Stewart—Under careful handling this Princeton Tiger youngster is being prepped for full Derby route; looks like a certain stakes winner.

Charles Boyer—Consistent.

Robert Taylor—Developing the stamina to go with blazing early speed.

Sigrid Gurie—Long trip from Norway to Brooklyn affected her in first start, but she handled herself capably in second outing. Can't be overlooked.

Isa Miranda—Can't find herself. Scratched in Zaza Memorial.

Melvyn Douglas—Good, honest fellow.

Mary Astor—This streamlined filly always catches the judges' eyes.

Basil Rathbone—This killer-diller has sneered himself into more photographic finishes than any entry stabled here.

Frank Morgan—Lake Cayuga veteran rarely disappoints.

Maxie Rosenbloom—This Theater Guild product has found his proper metier in the cinema. He has a subtlety of expression reminiscent of Sir Henry Irving and a very good left hand.

Kay Francis—Is deserting Jack Warner for Mendelsohn, which is an even-up swap.

Greta Garbo—If a man answers it's Stokowski.

Paul Muni—Pawn the wife and children any time he goes to post. This is one of the all-time greats.

Claire Trevor—Ready to ring the bell at a price any time now.

Ritz Bros.—Always get through on rail to score.

Gloria Holden—No excuses now that Columbia has given her racing opportunity, as urged repeatedly by this handicapper.

Alice Faye—Finally found herself in Berlin Mile. Tab for future reference, as she finally has arrived.

Margaret Sullavan—No two races alike. Rarely runs back to best performance.

Bette Davis—Acting much better at post since stable dietitians gave her more long green to nibble on.

Joan Bennett—Can't be ignored, though she is erratic miss.

Olivia de Havilland—A little short on flesh. Nothing wrong with her that malted milks won't cure.

David Niven—Has come along faster than any youngster in training. The peepul's choice.

Joel McCrea—Easy-going California colt never far off pace.

Danielle Darrieux—Parisian miss proves that fifty million Frenchmen can't be wrong.

Virginia Bruce—Should profit from Norman McLeod's astute handling, in next.

Bill Frawley—Spotted right, this New England colt will bust track records. Other comics, however, are afraid to run against him.

Katharine Hepburn—As jinxed as Seabiscuit.

Glenda Farrell—Oklahoma entry handles her assignments easily. Best races to come.

Edward G. Robinson—Any route, any track, any jocky. Has tried everything but steeplechasing and could probably win at that. Just what Dr. Clitterhouse ordered.

Binnie Barnes—Never better, after bad start.

Tschaikowsky Made Exciting at Grant Park

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Last night's all-Tschaikowsky program at Grant Park seemed too highbrow on paper, but it turned out to be brilliant in performance. Henry Weber, the conductor of the W-G-N orchestra, and Hans Muenzer, violin soloist of the evening, proved between them that the mere fact that a composer has lost the favor of the sophisticates is no indication that a full evening of his music cannot be interesting, vital, even exciting.

Mr. Muenzer, who lived and worked here for some years and who is at present teaching at Iowa State university, seemed to exult in the opportunity to do some large scale interpretative work on his summer vacation. As a result the Tschaikowsky concerto came magnificently to life.

The thoughtful, plastic and extraordinarily expressive music received a presentation which established the imaginative powers of the performer as definitly as it did the essential youthfulness of the concerto. Delicate gradations of color, subtle effects of tempo, wonderful rhythmic lifts which carried interest imperiously along from first page to last—all of these devices were used simply as a means of conveying to the audience the violinist's conception of the music and never on any account for the effects which they might in isolation produce.

The searching, somber tone which Mr. Muenzer achieved again and again in the concerto calls for some special mention. So do the light, earth-free colorings, as subversive in their way as the sight of Gypsy fires, which brightened his performance of the Sarasate Zigeunerweisen. [So it was not an all-Tschaikowsky program after all!]

Mr. Weber moved the Fifth symphony along at a good clip, careful at every moment lest the static quality that can so easily sneak into this work should begin to exercise its malign influence. Even the second movement, which so often sounds longer than "Parsifal," profited to such an extent by the conductor's flair for nuance that the last delivery of its expressively bleating theme had come and gone long before the huge crowd was aware.

Following the violinist's contributions to the program, the orchestra offered the "Romeo and Juliet" Overture-fantasie.

The third week of the 1938 Ravinia festival opens tonight. Willem van Hoogstraten will conduct the Chicago Symphony orchestra and Mario Chamlee will be tenor soloist. The scene is Ravinia park on the north shore, 21 miles from Chicago's loop.

Priest to Bless Cars, but Warns God Helps Only Careful Drivers

Automobiles will be blessed tonight following a special service devoted to safe driving at Immaculate Conception Catholic church, 31st and Aberdeen streets. The pastor, the Rev. Alphonse Memmesheimer, announced that the blessing of the cars would help drivers realize their responsibility for courtesy and caution.

Father Memmsheimer declared that the blessing would be of no protection to the careless driver; that God does not protect against the crash resulting from carelessness or running through stop lights.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

A new curling comb is a boon to the woman who finds it difficult to keep round curls looking neat. One end, with fine teeth that can be drawn up into the handle, makes perfect round curls.

In summer, when hats are no bigger than half a handkerchief and the hair is allowed to blow wildly in the breeze, the woman who doesn't look well when she's windblown has a special problem on her hands.

If she is deft with her hands she can reshape her hairdress herself with pretty good results. There are several useful tricks. Practice with wave setting lotions makes perfect. It's hard at first, but if you keep trying you can train your hair rather well yourself.

In these days of ringlets and rolls it's a good idea to keep a supply of bobby pins on hand for the repair work. And don't forget that there are special combs to help you. One of the best of these is a narrow curl comb with one end for combing, the other for curling. The curling end has fine teeth that, with the touch of a lever, are withdrawn into the handle. The idea is to roll the hair round with these curling teeth, then to draw the teeth up into the slot and withdraw the comb from the curl. It's a cinch with a bit of practice.

This new gadget isn't expensive and is easy to keep clean. It's a good idea, if you have a curly coiffure, to own two—one for the office for quick repairs, and one at home for the nightly setting of your waves and ringlets.

New Knit Hats Will Thrive on Hard Traveling

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Globe trotters should rise and cheer the headgear that can be poked into the smallest imaginable spaces in any carryall. Soft knitted creations with plenty of zip and interest, these late summer arrivals are not the dull ordinary turbans or head bands, but engaging creations made by really interested designers.

If you like high hats you'll buy the sky scraping pill boxes cleverly nubbed in the design, then ridged for trimming effect. These come in pastels, white and stunning street shades; they pack in almost imaginary spaces and emerge untouched by the abuse.

Top knots of tassels; looped fringe around the rolled edges of other models; good copies of Chinese coolie hats; and cossack affairs to be tilted as you wish each time you wear them are other hat items of interest. Not one is expensive. The colors are grand for top contrast. And these are the packer's delight.

And in addition to other advantages these models look like hats, not the too casual things that may be suggested by this description of them or by the simulated knit effects.

The doll hat rage has invaded the travel hat showings too . . . you can find wee yellow straws not much wider than a pan lid, trimmed with yarn balls, embroidered with yarn flowers, and bound with grosgrain ribbon in contrast color. There are some without benefit of trim. These are the slightly mad looking tiny toppers to satisfy any yearning to own a doll hat.

Bigger and just as smart models come in linen, grosgrain ribbon, and pique. All have low price marks, all are exceedingly smart and made for vacation and travel wardrobes.

The Housewife

If you want an elegant mold for a blanc mange or gelatine dessert select one from a beautiful collection of porcelain molds imported from France. They produce a clearly defined design in the gelatine. And they make it possible, too, for you to make a party dessert the day before the event. Just put it in the ice box until it's needed.

These molds come in several sizes and in a number of shapes. Some have bouquets of flowers as the design, others have clusters of fruit, and ones intended for fish aspic are fish shaped.

They make ideal gifts for bridal showers or bridge prizes. If you're a housewife, treat yourself to one.

Three Methodist Branches Plan Pension Fund Rule

The handling of the pension funds of the new Methodist church, which will be formed by the merger next April of three principal Methodist branches of the country, was the theme of a conference yesterday of church leaders at the Hotel La Salle. About 100 executives of ministers' aid societies and delegates from benevolence boards of the three churches were present. Endowment funds of more than 28 million dollars for the 12,000 beneficiaries of the three churches will be brought into the new church, according to the Rev. Thomas A Stafford, 740 Rush street, head of the board of pensions and relief of the Methodist Episcopal church.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

You boys and girls who are to be my guests today are just twice as lucky as you thought you'd be, because the Cubs are playing a double-header instead of a single game today!

This change of plans will make it necessary for you winners to be at the appointed meeting place at 1:15 o'clock today, in spite of the fact that your invitations read 2:30.

Please be prompt, boys and girls, because you're going to have a long, happy afternoon. And be sure to bring your invitations! See you all this afternoon, kids!

Before I meet my guests, I'm going to select the youngsters who'll be happy one week from today, July 21—the day fifty boys and fifty girls will attend a private screening of "Lord Jeff"! It's going to be a lot of fun.

Fifty boys and fifty girls will find their names listed in my column next Sunday. Even those youngsters who forgot to write or were not winners had better watch for the paper. There will be an important announcement concerning our next party.

SYNOPSIS.

On board the S. S. Panama Queen, sailing from Los Angeles to New York via Panama, are Anne Sydney, who has a part in a Broadway play, and her crippled and embittered sister, Mena; Arnold Vernon, rich English motion picture producer, and his coldly beautiful wife, Claire; Isobel Butler, who has a stateroom next to the Vernon suite and hopes to get in pictures through him; Alex Reed, young surgeon returning to work after two years' illness, and gossipy Mrs. Panting. Isobel meets and arouses Vernon's interest. Anne and Alex are mutually attracted. Mena spitefully tells Alex that Anne is a heartless flirt. Pride causes Anne to hold aloof from him. Dr. Neil Andrews, a friend of Alex's, joins the ship in Mexico. He wants to get married and thinks Anne meets his ideals. Alex's efforts to help Mena inspire her with a neurotic passion. Vernon has a heart attack in Isobel's room. She calls Alex away from Anne to help her get Vernon secretly to his own suite. Misunderstanding Alex's interest in Isobel, Anne allows Neil to kiss her. Mena sees them. A quarrel ensues and Anne moves to another room. Then Mena tells Alex about the incident and he believes Anne loves Neil. Mena pursues Alex.

INSTALMENT XXII.

THREE NOT A CROWD.

Alex felt the sweat break out on his forehead. "You have charm, Mena, when you behave in a civilized manner. But it doesn't mean a person cares for you to tell you that. As a matter of fact the way you behave, I can only think of you as a child."

Her voice sounded as if she were crying. "How can you be so unforgiving? What is the matter? Is it because you're jealous about Anne and Dr. Andrews?"

"No, Mena." His voice was sharp, emphatic. "Naturally I like her very much. And as for Dr. Andrews—he is my closest friend. I am glad for them to be happy. Is it surprising that I am angry if you try to spoil their happiness?"

"O——." It was a long, deep sigh of relief. "Now I feel better. You know the whole thing is your fault, really. You made me think you liked Anne better than me."

"Mena!"

"Yes. I admit it. I was jealous of her. She gets everything—you see—everybody. Men always around her—wanting her, doing things for her. Now I can bear it. What do I care who she has if I can have you?"

Alex wished he knew less about the secret processes of the human heart. Then he could deal with Mena without feeling any responsibility. But he could not escape his knowledge—"now, Mena, please let us understand each other——"

Mena leaned out of her chair and put her hand on his knee. He saw in the glimmering darkness the nearness of her face. "Alex, don't hide it from me. Say it—say it—you love me——"

Alex knew exactly the nature of the wound that the blunt truth would deal this groping soul. He said gently—"I'm sorry, Mena—but not quite in the way you wish——"

He heard her quick, excited breathing. "What does it matter? Love me any way you like. So long as I haven't lost you. I haven't lost you, have I?"

"If you mean I will still remain your friend on condition that you are decent to Anne, you haven't lost me."

She sank back in her chair, as if she were tired out. "I had such a dreadful day, Alex. You can't imagine what a dreadful day I had."

"People are apt to have such days if they go around injuring the lives of others."

"Now, now, Alex. Don't scold Mena any more. That's all over now."

Alex had had enough. He got out of his chair. He would have to find some other place where he could hide or Mena would have him wanting to jump off the ship. She got up too and followed him anxiously. It was only 9 o'clock. The picture would not be over till 10.

He said, "I'll say good night now. Think I'll go down to my room. Better go to bed yourself, Mena. You'll have a long day tomorrow exploring Panama.

"O," she said, remembering it. "Neil and Anne won't want me. Please will you let me come with you?"

He hesitated, trying to think of some reason for refusal that would not be too crushing.

"If you'll take me," she went on, "I'll promise faithfully not to be jealous of Anne any more."

"You will—really? That's fine. Now you're becoming sensible. Very well, it's a bargain. I'll look out for you tomorrow."

As soon as he got into his room, Alex wrote a note, rang for a bellboy, and sent it along to Isobel's room.

"Dear Isobel," he wrote, "if you have not already made other arrangements for Panama, please spend the day with me ashore. You will be doing me a favor. Sincerely—Alex."

THE EIGHTH DAY.

Arnold Vernon was up again. He was lying in his deck chair when the ship docked. The ship's doctor, however, had forbidden any activity, promising him that if he were still normal he could go ashore at Colon the following afternoon.

Claire was in a fury. She didn't want to condescend to join any one else's party—though no one had asked her. She didn't want to miss Panama ——"seeing we have come on this fantastic expedition"—and she didn't want to go ashore by herself.

"I'm sure you're well enough, Arnold. You look well. Ship doctors don't know anything, or why would they bury themselves alive on ships? He's probably doing this so that he can send a bill for more money."

"Now, now, Claire. Really I don't feel like sightseeing in the heat. I've seen more interesting places than Panama. But you shouldn't miss it. I'll ask Miss Butler to take you with her."

"That woman! Good heavens—I wouldn't like any one I met to even think I knew her. I'd a thousand times rather go by myself——"

"Hush, Claire—here she comes."

Isobel paused by Arnold's chair to speak to him.

"We're all so glad you're better, Mr. Vernon. Is there anything I can do for you, or get for you ashore?"

"You heard what I said, Arnold," said Claire getting up and walking away.

Isobel sat in Claire's chair while the ship drew up at the quay. Arnold spoke in a low voice without looking at her. "I can't tell you how sorry I am I caused you all that trouble."

"Foolish," said Isobel. "All the trouble was for you. All I wish is that you would come and see me another time. There are a thousand things I want to ask you——"

"Will you be late ashore, Isobel?"

"I guess not. I'm going with Dr. Reed and the sour Miss Sydney. He's all right, but a day of her is too much for anybody."

"I'll look out for you then. If you're back before 9 I'll drop in to see you."

She saw Claire returning. "Then I will be back. Nothing would keep me now." She rose, saying aloud for Claire's benefit: "It's great to see you around again. Take care of yourself."

She saw Alex looking through his field glasses at the harbor works and the tropical green landscape. "Thanks for the honor," she said brightly, "but I kind of guess what's at the back of it."

"O you do, do you? Let's hear if you're as smart as you say you are."

"You've been landed with the enfant terrible, and you don't want to be left alone with her."

They heard Mena's uneven walk before they saw her. She came up behind them. "I'm all ready, Alex," she said plaintively.

He turned to her. "What about the promise? You know what I mean."

She looked alarmed and entreating. "I went to her. She wouldn't listen. It counts just the same, doesn't it? I did the best I could."

"I suppose so. Maybe you can try again tonight. Now we'd better go and see about landing cards."

Mena saw that Isobel intended to stay when Alex was negotiating about the hire of a car. "You're coming with us?" she inquired loftily.

Alex was talking to the driver. "I sure am," said Isobel.

Mena gave Isobel a black, bitter look and turned away from her. Across the road Alex saw Neil and Anne getting into another car. "What about meeting at the Union club for dinner?" called Neil.

"Right you are," agreed Alex with an enthusiasm he did not feel.

Alex saw Anne laughing as they drove away in their car together.

GASOLINE ALLEY—THE HIRED MAN

Child Likes to Be Occupied During Summer

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Idleness, even in summer, sometimes palls on young people. Children, in either city or country, do not necessarily find activities that keep them happily occupied. Also, some time should be spent quietly in warm weather.

In addition, the leisure that comes to older children during vacation gives them time to find new interests, to follow hobbies, and to develop latent talents. It is with all this in mind, especially now as vacation gets well along, that I am going to list some enjoyable ways in which young people can spend their leisure hours.

The arts, that is, drawing, painting with charcoals, pastels, pencil oils, water colors, tempera, dry point etching.

Linoleum cuts, wood cuts.

Then, there is sculping [with clay], and soap sculpture [which is really cutting].

Carpentry and cabinet making.

The making of models—airplane and ship models. Books can be bought for each.

Making collections of various sorts—stamps, coins, postcards of different places or things, and so forth.

Breeding tiny tropical fish is an interesting pastime.

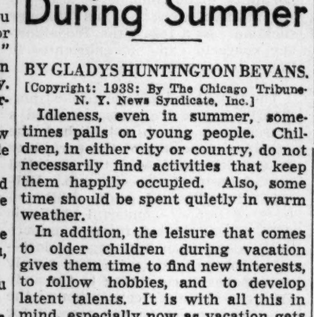
Special knowledge of birds, reptilians or other animals.

Various kinds of handcraft, such as weaving, sewing, and so forth.

Then, there are always books for reading along special lines or on some foreign language.

Various sports: Walking—making trips to discover one's own city, or to gain the atmosphere of small towns within reach of one's city.

TODAY'S QUILT



Swamp Angel.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Swamp Angel" was a mythical figure well known around the Florida everglades, and was credited with saving the lives of men who wandered too far afield. With this as an inspiration, one clever Florida needle worker designed this good looking pieced block based on the original nine patch pattern, and called it "Swamp Angel." The block is composed of printed and plain materials, and the blocks are set together with three inch bands of white between each block. The quilt is finished with a 4½ inch border and a ½ inch bias binding. The completed coverlet measures 90 by 102 inches.

Broader Learning for College Teachers Urged at Institute

The college teacher who is grounded in only one subject is on the way out. This was the theme at the opening session yesterday of the 13th annual institute for administrative officers of higher education. The institute is being held at the University of Chicago. Advance teaching today calls for interpretative scholars with the widest possible training in several subjects, the speakers asserted, agreeing that the trend in education is toward a synthesis of all knowledge.

Prof. Newton Edwards of the department of education at the University of Chicago told the institute that recent changes in the economic and social structure of the nation had placed a new and larger responsibility on schools and colleges.

He declared teachers "should see meaning in the facts they teach, they should be able to discover interrelationships, to organize knowledge into meaningful configurations. The interpretation of truth is no less important than its discovery, nor does interpretation require any lesser exercise of intelligence."

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

A ready-made first course is no small convenience for a luncheon or dinner hostess. The main course deserves and receives most of her time and effort, and if the appetizer already is taken care of it's a big help. Canned jellied consommé is one of the best of ready to serve first courses.

Of course the consommé doesn't come from the grocer's shelf in jellied form, but all you need do, in most cases, is put the can in the refrigerator for several hours and it will be nicely jelled by the time you are ready to fill the consommé cups.

I tried out a new canned consommé last week, one which I think is the best I've yet found. Of course you may serve it hot, if you like, but I find it's most delicious and most beautiful when served in jellied form. Unlike ordinary consommé, it comes in colors—clear red or sparkling green—and color adds much to attractiveness of service.

If you like you may pour out a can of red and a can of green consommé into separate pans to chill. Then you may cut cubes from each and combine them in the consommé cups for an unusual and very pretty appetizer.

The flavor of this new product is excellent. I'll be glad to tell any interested reader the name of the company which makes the consommé.

TO JELLY PLAIN CONSOMME.

There are other good canned consommés, of course. If you have a favorite which won't jell of itself, it's simple to transform it into a jellied soup. To jell two cups of the consommé use one tablespoon unflavored gelatin. Soak the gelatin in two tablespoons cold water for five minutes and add one cup hot consommé. Stir to dissolve gelatin and add the other cup of cold soup. Chill until jellied. Home made consommé may be jellied in the same way.

Home made consommé is somewhat troublesome unless it's made well in advance of the meal at which it is served. It will keep for several days in the refrigerator if stored in a covered container, so may be made ahead of time. It shouldn't be jellied sooner than a day before the luncheon or dinner, however.

Consommé.

[Two Quarts.]

2 pounds lean beef, cubed
2 pounds veal knuckle, cut in pieces
1 pound cracked marrowbone
2½ quarts water
¾ cup each diced carrot, celery, onion, turnip
4 whole cloves
1 bay leaf
½ teaspoon peppercorns
3 sprigs parsley
1 sprig marjoram
2 sprigs thyme
2 teaspoons salt
Pepper

Brown half the meat in a little hot fat and add to rest of meat and bones. Cover with water, cover, and heat slowly to simmering. Simmer for three hours, skimming occasionally. Add vegetables and seasonings which have been browned lightly in butter [these may be varied to suit the taste] and cook for an hour longer. Strain through a fine sieve or several layers of cheesecloth. Cool quickly and remove fat from top. If consommé isn't clear add an egg white and crushed eggshell mixed with two tablespoons cold water to the cold consommé and heat slowly to the boiling point, stirring constantly. Cool and let settle. Strain again.

Adapted to Cotton Sheers

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Cotton sheers in simple prints are especially suitable fabrics for this easy to make daytime dress. All housewives will like this style, and both misses and matrons will appreciate its feminine lines for general daytime wear. The V neckline is the source of shirring which lends delightful fullness to the bodice. The unusual sleeves are dainty and dressy. A simple tailored belt encircles the waistline, and the paneled skirt fits beautifully at the hips while swirling at the hemline.

You need not use sheers for this model if you prefer heavier washable fabrics. We cannot think of any silk or cotton, in plain shades or prints, that would not make up effectively. Many of the tubbable materials are so inexpensive that you should use this pattern for a variety of frocks to augment your domestic wardrobe.

Style No. 2111 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 29 inch material.

Bertil took his father's place at the ceremony.

After a week's treatment in a New York medical center the crown prince resumed his tour and the round of functions in his honor. From Chicago he will go to Minneapolis, departing Saturday night. The royal party will sail for home on July 22.

Immediately after their arrival this morning the party will be driven to Lake Forest. There the crown prince and princess will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. William McCormick Blair. Prince Bertil will be the guest of Mrs. Leslie Wheeler and her sons Leslie and Henry.

Chicago and Cook county police will escort them from the station to the Lake county line on Sheridan road. There Sherif Lawrence A. Doolittle and Lake county police will continue the escort.

The crown prince's first public appearance will be in gallery 50 of the Art institute at 12:30 p. m. tomorrow. Chauncey McCormick will make a welcoming speech, and the crown prince and his party will tour the institute, lingering at the exhibition of Swedish art which will open at 2:30 o'clock today.

One thousand persons will hear and see the crown prince and his party at a dinner tomorrow night in the Stevens hotel. Mayor Kelly will welcome them, and Gustav Adolf will respond. Gov. Horner has been invited. Silas Strawn and Ira Nelson Morris, former minister to Sweden, will be among the speakers. Hugo Anderson will preside, and Carl R. Chindblom will be toastmaster.

The celebration at Soldiers' field, a great folk festival and pageant, will provide a colorful climax to the royal visit.

A parade of the royal visitors will precede the pageant. After luncheon in the Swedish club the crown prince and Prince Bertil will join Crown Princess Louice. In her honor a breakfast will be given at noon in the Palmer house, under the auspices of the Daughters of Sweden. Princess Louise is the crown prince's second wife. His first wife died in 1920.

The parade will extend from Michigan avenue and Monroe street to Soldiers' field. Troops from the regular army and National Guard and members of the American Legion drum and bugle corps will escort the royal party to the ceremonies, which begin at 2:30 o'clock. Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly and Ald. Arthur Lindell will be among the speakers. Others will include Wollmar Bostrom, Sweden's minister to the United States, and Consul Gosta Oldenburg.

LAKE FOREST BUSTLES

The best linens, china, and silverware in Lake Forest homes nearly always are in use and it has been years since it was fashionable to have a front parlor, open only on special occasions. But the living rooms and appointments of all Lake Forest homes that might expect to have the crown prince or princess of Sweden, or any of the royal suite within the doors have been especially well cleaned and put in order for the arrival today of Crown Prince Gustav Adolf, Crown Princess Louise, Prince Bertil, and their attendants.

Gardens are being searched for the most perfect blooms to go into the chambers that will be occupied by the royal visitors; butlers, cooks, and serving maids in the homes to be favored by royalty will be storing tales to tell for weeks to come; every last boot and button of the police forces of Lake Forest, Lake Bluff, Highland Park, and Highwood who will serve as escorts and guards for their royal highnesses will be scrubbed and shining for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. W. McCormick Blair have planned a small dinner tonight for the crown prince and princess. Prince Bertil will be a guest at a dinner Mr. and Mrs. Farwell Winston are giving tonight for him to which their daughter, Miss Anne Winston, a debutante of last season, has invited some of her contemporaries.

Mrs. Howard Linn will give a luncheon for Crown Princess Louise tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Blair will give a larger dinner Saturday night for their royal guests, who will leave later that night for Minneapolis. Mrs. Leslie Wheeler is giving a dinner at the Onwentsia Saturday night for Prince Bertil.

During the three day visit of Swedish royalty Mrs. Wheeler will have as her guests also Col. Oscar N. Solbert, marshal of the tour, and Mrs. Solbert. Other Lake Forest homes that will shelter members of the royal suite are those of Mr. and Mrs. Linn, who will have as their guests Nils Rudebeck, master of the household of the crown prince, and Nils Millar, secretary of the household of the crown prince; Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson, who will have as guests Miss Brita Steuch, lady in waiting to Princess Louise, and Lieut. Col. Gunnar Ekeroth, military aide de camp to the crown prince; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mitchell, whose guest will be Count Nils Gyldenstolpe, chamberlain; Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Armour, who will have with them Gunnar Hagglof of the Swedish foreign office, private secretary to the crown prince, and Dr. Harald Ernberg, physician to the crown prince, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Armour, who will be host and hostess to the Swedish minister to the United States and Mme. Wollmar F. Bostrom.

Distinguished Swedish delegates to the New Sweden tercentenary celebration who are coming to Chicago this week are Mr. and Mrs. Sigfrid Edstrom and their daughter, Mrs. Edstrom Nystromer, who arrive today; Gov. Bernhard Eriksson, who arrived yesterday, and Miss Kerstin Hesselgren, who arrives tomorrow. All will be at the Drake hotel.

Mr. Edstrom is chairman of the royal New Sweden tercentenary commission.

Gov. Eriksson is governor of Dalecarlia, member of parliament, and former cabinet member.

Marital Harmony Bars Living with a Mother-in-Law

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"I am going to try to be fair, but mine is another one of the familiar old mother-in-law themes.

"I have been married for two and a half years and have my own home now. My mother-in-law has six children, all married but one, and she will step off soon into a home of her own.

"At first my mother-in-law declared that she was going to live alone, that she would not be the kind of woman who would intrude on her married children's lives. But now she talks to my husband about us living with her in her home. My husband listens to her and thinks it would be economical for us to rent our place and move in with his mother.

"I have not been on very friendly terms with my husband's mother, although I am a fairly easy-going person. I would do anything to avoid quarrels. I mind my own business as far as family relations are concerned.

"But my mother-in-law is the commanding type. She wants to take over full management. I still cannot see why she wants me and not one of her own daughters. It is perhaps because I am working and my husband is not. What is your advice?

"TROUBLED."

Our advice is what every one familiar with marriage problems would give you—Don't move in with your mother-in-law!

You are in the perfect position to take a stand against the move. You are the working member of your household. So you can speak your mind and stick to your decision.

Guests of Sally to Meet Early

Because the Cubs will play a double-header today instead of a single game as originally planned, boys and girls who have been invited to the Sally Joy Brown party will meet at 1:15 instead of 2:30 o'clock.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: It isn't often that one is obliged to discard an ace when defending against six no trump redoubled, but here's the story.

"South, dealer.

"North-South vulnerable.

	NORTH ♠ 10 7 5 3 ♥ 2 ♦ 10 7 6 5 ♣ K 9 4 3
WEST ♠ A J 9 6 4 2 ♥ 10 ♦ K J 8 3 2 ♣ 10		EAST ♠ K Q 8 ♥ A K J ♦ A 9 4 ♣ Q 8 7 5
	SOUTH ♠ None ♥ Q 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 ♦ Q ♣ A J 6 2

"The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	1 spade	Pass	3 hearts
Pass	4 diamonds	Pass	6 no trump
Double	Pass	Pass	Redouble
Pass	Pass	Pass

"I sat South and passed. I felt I might be called upon to defend later with hearts against a probable spade contract. I was flabbergasted when East bid three hearts opposite his partner's opening spade bid. Again I passed and the opponents landed in the poor contract of six no trump. [Six spades is easy against any defense.] East's redouble was optimistic.

"A glance at the hands reveals that a club opening would defeat the contract two tricks, but I wasn't that clairvoyant and I selected, as my opening lead, the diamond queen. East won with the ace and rattled off six spade tricks. I discarded five hearts and one club, North discarded one heart and one club, and declarer discarded two clubs and one diamond. Dummy then played the king of diamonds. I discarded another small club on the jack of diamonds. East discarded a club and, with fear in my heart I tossed the club ace. I realized that a hasty exit was the only hope of defeating the contract, for, being thrown in with the club ace, I'd have to lead into declarer's heart tenace. Too, if East held the club king I'd still make the heart queen. The defeat of declarer was positive, as North held the precious club king.

"As it happened, declarer bravely attempted to win the contract. Dummy led a heart, East won with the ace and played a club in the vain hope that I still held the club king. He realized that if I had held both the ace and king of clubs I would have led them to defeat the contract immediately, yet he left no stone unturned in an effort to win. This lead cost him an extra trick, as North, on lead with the club king, gathered in the club nine and the diamond ten besides. Yours truly, M. U., Boston.

This hand and letter offer a good illustration of logical reasoning on the part of a defender. Entirely too many players sit with high cards clutched to their bosoms to the very last gasp, only to find that such cards are a great deal more of a liability than an asset.

I do not approve my correspondent's double of the six no trump reached by such impressive bidding, but this does not interfere with my admiration for the logic and nerve he displayed in throwing away the club ace. If the declarer had held the club king as part of his terrific bidding, no defense could have availed.

My correspondent neglected to point out that after the diamond queen lead declarer could have taken every trick by winning with the diamond king and finessing against the ten to his A-9. This, of course, would have involved the risk of finding South with the ten spot, a quite conceivable circumstance. Still it is unlikely that South would have opened the diamond queen from either Q-10 or Q-10-x and, everything considered, I am inclined to think that this would have been the best play on declarer's part. Obviously it would have succeeded nobly, delivering six spades, five diamonds, and two hearts for an extra trick on the redoubled slam.

Have You a Pet Idiosyncrasy About Styles?

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Have you a funny little wardrobe idiosyncrasy? Do you stock your wardrobe completely, yet when in doubt or not in doubt, choose an old, beloved hat, bag, pair of shoes, even dress, and let the others hang?

Most of us women are like that. We were interested to hear that the Hollywood stars, with their much publicized wardrobes, are sisters under the skin. Some one was telling us about their pet likes and dislikes where personal wardrobes are concerned, revealing that they, too, have those few styles to which they stick regardless.

With Joan Crawford, it happens to be shoes. Miss Crawford has one particular type of shoe which she discovered for her feet some time ago. Now all her shoes are made after the same pattern, with possible variance in fabric and heels which may carry out the costume theme.

Margaret Sullavan loves and sticks to the peasant type dress, although her personal wardrobe contains other styles.

The screen's best dressed Myrna Loy adheres to extremely simple, straight lines, well cut sports clothes being her favorite. But Myrna has a penchant for interesting jewelry with which she brightens her costumes.

Rosalind Russell likes the extraordinary and unusuals. It was she who introduced blue and white ticking as something new in evening coats, and a golf ensemble was created from ordinary burlap.

Luise Rainer loves draped Grecian lines and all white for evening.

SENTIMENT, NOT BUSINESS, RULES RELIEF BUREAUS

Work Hampered by Lack of Co-ordination.

BY WILL O'NEIL.

[This is the second article in a series on the administration of relief in Chicago. The articles are the result of a recent survey.]

Businesslike supervision is needed in the Chicago Relief administration [CRA]. This would involve standardization of the CRA record system.

This point was stressed by relief experts interviewed in recent weeks on the subject of the CRA. They said there are two aspects of the supervision point. One is the amount of supervision of the CRA staf. The other is the kind of supervision.

The interior of a CRA office suggests the classical gentleman who mounted his horse and rode off in all directions. There are 19 district offices. In command of each office is a supervisor, who is a trained social worker.

Office Facilities Bad.

Most of the offices are bad. They are housed in old factory buildings, warehouses, and schools. Nearly all of them are located in poor neighborhoods. Any attempt to establish an office in better neighborhoods is sure to cause immediate protest from property owners.

There aren't enough filing cases for the records. A large part of the space is given over to a waiting room for the reliefers.

The services of an expert in management would be required to keep work moving at a swift pace under such conditions. The offices were not arranged by such experts. Some of them appear never to have been arranged at all. They are just there. Relief is considered a temporary affair. It has been a temporary affair for six years.

Manages Not to Boss.

Each office has a business manager. But the business manager is not the boss. The supervisor is. What she says—most of them are women—is the supreme command.

The professional staf consists of the trained social workers, who come into contact with those on relief. They consider themselves members of a profession. They are trained in schools of social service work. The social workers who direct their work say they are professional people and therefore should not be directed and watched too closely.

Each social worker, who is not a boss, is given a certain number of cases to look after. A case is what the social worker calls any one person or one family receiving relief as a unit. The social workers speak of their reliefers as "clients." The social workers are also known as caseworkers. Grades of caseworkers range up to "senior supervising caseworkers." The social workers are developing a technical language of their own.

Little Supervising Done.

The caseworkers supposedly are trained to care for their caseloads, or groups of cases. The lower their grade the more supervision they are supposed to get in their work. The CRA has been short of money and couldn't hire all the people it needed. This meant lots of work for everybody and little time for the junior bosses to do much supervising.

Many of the caseworkers are young people just out of universities. A large number of them have never had any other job. They work very hard —most of them—but those who know the offices say they don't know how to work or organize their work. They don't know simple office procedures that would help them speed up their work. The offices themselves are so badly arranged that efficient, speedy work is almost impossible.

Those at the heads of the offices, the surveys showed, don't know much more about office management than their caseworkers do. The caseworkers are told what to do, but not how to do it. The business managers in the offices have no authority to tell the caseworkers how to organize and do their work.

Last year Gov. Horner appointed a committee of prominent men to conduct an investigation of the CRA. They issued one report last January. In one part of their report they said:

"Office routine and operation that should be decided by the office manager entirely from an efficiency standpoint is often decided according to the likes and dislikes of the supervisor."

The social workers at the top of the CRA have opposed the idea of letting a business expert say how the CRA offices should be operated, the survey showed. Men who know office management and routine say that much could be done for the CRA offices.

The social workers don't want that kind of supervision. They say that they are the ones who know how to run their profession. An outsider would not understand what they are doing, they say. They contend they are not running a business.

Say Relief Not a Business.

"We are dealing with human beings," they protest. "You can't run relief as you do a business."

Experts on relief say that relief offices can be run with business efficiency. But this change cannot be made until experts on business administration are given power in the offices. Even if they were put into the offices their work would be useless as long as the present supervisors had the power to say their orders should not be followed.

This also is true of the amount of supervision that is to be exercised over the staf of the CRA. Those who were interviewed thought the caseworkers should be told what to do and how to do it. At present the directions for any change in system or procedure go out as mimeographed bulletins from the head CRA office. These bulletins often are hard to understand.

Must Follow Bulletin.

The caseworker is supposed to do what the bulletin says. But they aren't told how to do it. Their work is not organized for them. The contention is made that they should not be ordered around because they are professional people and professional people know how to do their jobs.

The closing of the CRA offices last May and the sudden rush to put men on WPA jobs have added to the load on the caseworkers. They can't keep up with their work and, the survey indicated, they wouldn't be able to under the present system even if they didn't have so much work to do.

DIES OF FALL INJURIES.

Mrs. Augusta Haase, 57 years old, died yesterday in the Lutheran Memorial hospital of injuries suffered in a fall April 9 in her home at 3716 Magnolia avenue.

A SINGLE OFFICE FOR CITY RELIEF TO GET TRYOUT

10,000 Given Jobs Fail to Take Them.

A single office where all Chicago reliefers will apply was brought a step nearer yesterday. Leo M. Lyons, commissioner of the Chicago Relief administration, said that within a month a central office will be set up to handle applications from five of the city's nineteen districts.

If the central system works as it is expected to Lyons indicated that it will be extended to cover all the city. There are now twenty-one branch offices, one each for the nineteen districts, one for veterans, and one for Catholics.

10,000 Give WPA Go-By.

As Lyons made the announcement, it became known that more than 10,000 reliefers in Chicago failed to report for work on WPA projects in the first five months of this year. As a result, nearly 7,200 of them have been taken off the relief rolls.

A recommendation for a central intake system in the CRA was included in a report approved Monday night by the Illinois Council on Public Assistance and Unemployment. Walter L. Gregory, chairman of the citizens' council, appointed by Gov. Henry Horner, said the report will be given to the governor some time this week.

Lyons did not announce the districts which will be included in the new setup, nor who will be in charge of the office.

Relief experts say that a central intake system will reduce costs and will aid in weeding out those who are not entitled to relief. Professional social workers are reported opposed to the plan. Their chief objections are the distance an applicant would have to travel to reach a central office and the number of people who would appear at one office.

Largely as a result of the shutdown of the relief stations last May 5,000 people a day are applying for relief. Lyons estimated that 1,500 of these applicants will be handled at the central office.

Lyons also announced, as executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, that a purge of downstate relief rolls is to be started. The IERC will coöperate with local relief administrators in taking cheaters off their rolls and in approving able bodied reliefers for WPA jobs.

82,769 Assigned to Jobs.

Most of the downstate local administrators are township supervisors. Lyons said that the extent to which the IERC will move in on these administrators will depend on the number of requests for aid received by the commission. The IERC has only a limited staf available for such work.

Lyons said that 82,769 reliefers were given work assignments from Jan. 1 to June 1. Only 72,531 went to work. This information was obtained through a new system of WPA-CRA reports.

Of the 10,238 persons who did not show up on projects within fifteen days, 3,062 convinced relief investigators that they had not received notices from WPA or were temporarily unable to do the work. Under CRA rules, the remaining 7,176 automatically forfeited their places on relief rolls and were removed.

"Probably many of them got private jobs between the time they received WPA notices and the date they were to report," Lyons said. "Others may have moved from the city. Some were physically unable to work and may not have reported that to us immediately."

CONVICT BROKER OF POSSESSING A STOLEN BOND

Timothy Klapperich, head of a bond and mortgage concern at 224 South Michigan avenue, was convicted by a jury in Criminal court last night of possessing a stolen $5,000 government bond. He faces a 1 to 10 year penitentiary sentence. Judge John C. Lewe set July 20 for hearing on a motion for a new trial.

Klapperich who lives at 8026 Harper avenue, was arrested last Feb. 2 when he attempted to obtain a loan on the bond. It was part of $23,000 in securities taken in a loop burglary a year ago. Klapperich testified he did not know it had been stolen when he received it. He was prosecuted by Assistant State's Attorney Francis McCurrie.

SWEENEY WINS NATIONAL SUPPORT IN ALL-STAR POLL

LESNICK STILL LEADS CENTERS IN HEAVY VOTE

East, Pacific Coast Back Favorites.

BY ARCH WARD.

Sectional favorites are coming to the front in the national poll which will decide the starting lineup for the College All-Americans in their game against the Washington Redskins at Soldiers' field Aug. 31.

Returns from the east give wide margins to players from Fordham, Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Pittsburgh, and other leading teams of that area. Pacific Coast conference headliners dominate the voting in the far west and down south the fans are voting a straight Dixie ticket.

Community enthusiasm, however, hasn't been strong enough to carry players whose reputations are limited to their immediate vicinity to the top of the standings with the exception of Ed Lesnick of Illinois Normal, who still leads the country at center.

While the polls have been open only since Sunday it is becoming increasingly apparent that Chuck Sweeney, Notre Dame end, will lead all candidates in total number of votes. His name appears on almost all ballots, regardless of the sections from which they come. Other national favorites are Whizzer White of Colorado and Clint Frank, two of the most widely publicized backs of the 1937 season.

Frank Not to Play.

In fairness to Frank, as well as his supporters, THE TRIBUNE makes known that he will not be available for the game. Frank left for Europe June 23 and will not return until October. It is unlikely he could participate if he were home, because he suffered a knee injury in his final game at Yale that has bothered him ever since. Another player supported stoutly in the voting is Sam Chapman of California, who is making good in major league baseball as an outfielder with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Fans may continue to vote for Frank and Chapman as a compliment to their achievements on collegiate gridirons, but both players have asked this department to inform their backers why they will be unable to join the squad in the event they are elected.

Perry Schwartz, California end, whose play was a feature of the 1938 Rose Bowl game, was among the national favorites who made considerable headway yesterday. He passed Zachary of Purdue, Souchak of Pittsburgh, and Kovatch of Northwestern to take second place behind Sweeney of Notre Dame. Another Pacific coast player who advanced with a rush in the first out of town returns was Vic Markov, Washington tackle, who moved from sixth place to first since the last returns were published.

Kansas City Likes Big Six.

Big Six conference athletes are sweeping the Kansas City Star vote. Pete Smith of Oklahoma and Elmer Dohrmann of Nebraska lead the ends; Fred Shirey of Nebraska and Tony Krueger of Kansas State head the tackles, and Les Spurck of Rockhurst college is far ahead at guard.

The Herald and Times at Washington, D. C., which sent Tuffy Leemans to the 1936 All-Star game, is putting on a whirlwind campaign for Maurice Carroll, Catholic university half back. Theaters have lobby displays with full length colored oil paintings of Carroll. The Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio railroads are running window displays with daily barometers, showing how many votes he receives daily. One of them has Carroll aboard a train with the route from Washington to Chicago marked off in thousands of votes. When Carroll gets 50,000, the train moves up to Harrisburg. At 75,000 he will be in Pittsburgh. The goal, which the barometer sets at 200,000, is Chicago.

The Herald and Times has the support of several other newspapers

Safe and Sound Is Neither, So Grey Gold Wins Stake

BY FRENCH LANE.

The old trick horse, Safe and Sound, thinned out the bank rolls of his backers again at Arlington Park yesterday. He went out with three other mud running routers in the feature race. The track was just the kind of going over which Safe and Sound does his fastest stepping.

The customers remembered the stake race he had won at Lincoln Fields over almost the same sort of a track. So they made him the 8 to 5 favorite. Never say that Safe and Sound did not give them a thrill and a run for their money. Nevertheless he was beaten. Grey Gold, a Detroit horse, was the winner by a head.

Southland Beau, a New Orleans entry was second. In third place, beaten by a head and neck was old Safe and Sound. So they didn't pay off on him because no show mutuels were sold.

He's a Fooler.

Grey Gold made the early pace. A short time later Jocky Charley Corbett squeezed Safe and Sound through next to the rail. The old trickster took command. At the head of the stretch Southland Beau rushed up into the lead.

However, his stay in front did not last long. Old Safe and Sound moved back to the front and for a few seconds again was leading. Next came Grey Gold's victorious drive. Southland Beau came along with him. They fought it out to the finish, with Grey Gold taking the longer strides in the final yards.

Grey Gold's time was exceedingly good. He ran the mile in 1:39 1-5 and paid $6.80.

Safe and Sound, now 7 years old, has been an in and outer all year. At Churchill Downs in the spring he was so much so that a jocky drew a long suspension when the old horse followed up one of his good efforts with one of his dull performances.

He's been running that way around Chicago since he arrived here.

An Outsider Surprises.

The big thrill of the afternoon was provided by the Shadybrook Stock farm of Kentucky. This establishment sent Abanico, a 3 year old daughter of Spanish Play-Caroline

C. Y. O. FORCED TO WAIT A DAY FOR CHANCE AT IRISH

International Bouts Will Be Held Tonight.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The international amateur boxing bouts between the champions of Ireland and the Catholic Youth organization will be held tonight in Soldiers' field. Yesterday's rainstorm, which thoroughly drenched the arena, caused the C. Y. O. officials to announce a one night postponement early yesterday afternoon.

The ten members of each team will not weigh in again. All reported yesterday at noon at the C. Y. O. gymnasium, 31 East Congress street, and passed their medical examinations and also made weight. One pound over weight was permitted but Joe du Pont, C. Y. O. featherweight, was the only boxer who needed this allowance.

Two Stars Are Light.

Two of the C. Y. O. boxers, Chester Rutecki, captain of the Chicago team, and Cornelius Young, light heavyweight, were several pounds short of the maximum permitted since each has moved up a weight class. The pairings for tonight's fights and the weight of each boxer follow:

Walter Cavalieri, Chicago, 112¼, vs. John Healy, Ireland, 111.

Frank Kainrath, Chicago, 118¼, vs. Frank Kerr, Ireland, 116½.

Joe Du Pont, Chicago, 127, vs. Jimmy Smith, Ireland, 124.

Eddie O'Connell, Chicago, 126½, vs. Harry Fisher, Ireland, 125½.

Joe O'Connell, Chicago, 135, vs. Ernie Smith, Ireland, 134.

Tony Motisi, Chicago, 144, vs. Willie Moore, Ireland, 147.

Jimmy O'Malley, Chicago, 146, vs. Tommy Byrne, Ireland, 143½.

Chester Rutecki, Chicago, 154, vs. Dick Reade, Ireland, 155.

Cornelius Young, Chicago, 169, vs. Dick Hearns, Ireland, 174.

Clarence Brown, Chicago, 188½, vs. Matt Lacey, Ireland, 185.

Four Preliminaries Planned.

All arrangements for tonight's international show, the fourth arranged for the benefit of the C. Y. O. milk fund, will be as planned prior to the postponement. The first of the four preliminary matches will start at 8:30 tonight. After the ceremonies at 9:15, the first of the international matches will be held. The championship program will begin with the flyweight bout and continue through to the heavyweight championship engagement between Matt Lacey of Ireland and Clarence Brown of the C. Y. O.

When it was decided yesterday to postpone the fight, Coach Frank Cooper, of the Irish team, announced that his boys would not work out but would rest until time to go to Soldiers' field. Paddy Kane and Dick Fitzpatrick, coaches of the C. Y. O. squad, which yesterday came into Chicago from its training camp at the Lewis Holy Name Technical school in Lockport, Ill., sent their charges through a light session of calisthenics in the C. Y. O. gymnasium.

Risk Perfect Record.

The C. Y. O. boxers never have lost a team match, but the bouts tonight with the Irish lads is the most pretentious show arranged for the Chicagoans in the seven year history of the organization. The South American team, which visited Chicago last year, seemed well on the way to whipping the C. Y. O., leading five bouts to three at the half way mark, but the Chicago boys swept the second half of the show and won, 11 to 5.

Ireland's boxers are experienced in international competition, but such boys as Rutecki, Frank Kainrath, Jimmy O'Malley, and Walter Cavalieri also have fought in intercity Golden Gloves, National A. A. U. tournaments, and in international shows.

Tickets for tonight's bouts, priced at $2.20, $1.10, and 50 cents, may be purchased today in the C. Y. O. center, 31 East Congress street, or tonight in Soldiers' field.

HINES CONQUERS SHUTE, 2 AND 1, IN PRO TOURNEY

Foulis, Sarazen, Smith Also Triumph.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa., July 13.—Curly haired Jimmy Hines, often a pretender to the throne, today personally ended the reign of Denny Shute of Boston as champion of the Professional Golfers' association.

The 33 year old New Yorker defeated the silent Shute, 2 and 1, in one of the eight thirty-six hole third round matches of the 21st national tournament at the Shawnee Country club.

Hines' victory unseated the man who has been king of American match play golfers over a two year span in which he had won fourteen consecutive battles in the world's most difficult tournament. It also settled a small score dating back to the 1937 tournament, when Shute eliminated Hines in the quarter-final, 4 and 3.

Denny Is Below Form.

Shute today was not quite the golfer who has won the last two P. G. A. titles. His usually deadly iron shots were not connecting, and his tee shots were wandering to strange places. They were even at the eighteenth with 71s, one under par. Hines took a 2 up lead through the twenty-seventh with an afternoon 36, one under, and after Shute had squared it on the twenty-ninth, Jimmy laid Denny a dead stymie on the thirtieth. His par five on the thirty-fifth brought him victory after Shute's putt for a half teetered on the rim of the cup.

In one of tomorrow's four 36 hole quarter-finals, Hines is confronted by Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa., a young man who seemed headed for a world match play margin record today. He finally settled for an 11 and 10 rout of Harry Bassler, Long Beach, Cal. Byron was eight under par in the morning round for a twelve hole lead, and then carded eight straight pars in the afternoon for his triumph.

Foulis Faces Snead.

The second match of the quarter-finals brings together Jimmy Foulis, Chicago descendant of a golf family which goes back 150 years to old St. Andrews, and Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who was a Ryder cup player last year and is now leading all money winners for 1938. The slender Foulis scored a 6 and 5 defeat of Marvin Stahl of Lansing, Mich. Snead outhit Felix Serafin of Scranton, Pa., for a 4 and 3 decision.

Another Chicagoan appears in the third battle tomorrow. He is Horton Smith of Oak Park, who chipped and putted like the Smith of eight years ago to put out Billy Burke of Cleveland, former national open champion, 3 and 2. Horton's opponent is little Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., who had a busy afternoon reaching the final eight. Two up on Ray Mangrum of Pittsburgh as they stood on the thirty-fifth tee, he saw Mangrum square the match on the thirty-sixth green. Then Paul got his four at the extra hole while Ray was

JAPAN CALLS OFF OLYMPIC GAMES; DEFIED BY BOARD

TOKIO, July 14 [Thursday].—(AP)—Domei [Japanese news agency] reported that Marquis Koichi Kido, minister of public welfare, today announced the suspension of the 1940 Olympic games.

The cancellation has double import: Japan is convinced the Chinese war will continue until 1940, and the nation lacks not only the money but the materials to erect structures for the games.

The Olympic organizing committee hastily summoned newspaper correspondents and emphatically stated the games would be held "whether or not the government supports them."

VETERAN'S KNEE BRUISED ON LAST PLAY OF GAME

Three Errors Help Macks Win.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., July 13.—The White Sox, who bravely had taken Philadelphia's record heat wave until today, this afternoon gave way under the sun's blazing rays and engaged in all manner of amazing maneuvers, all of which helped the Athletics win, 5 to 2, and end an eight game losing streak.

One of the worst victims of brain fag was the usually snappy Jackie Hayes, but criticism of the personable Alabaman was forgotten when Jackie was carried from the field after being seriously hurt at first base on the last play in the game. An examination in the clubhouse revealed Hayes' right knee had been severely bruised, but early diagnosis held there had been no fracture.

Ah, the Ritz Brothers.

George Caster was the winning pitcher. He gave his team its first victory in nine games. Each team made six hits. The first of the Sox smacks was a homer by Joe Kuhel, his third in three successive games and his fourth of the year. The other Sox run was made without the aid of a base hit, a striking matter as contrasted with the balmy eighth, when the Sox, trailing 4 to 2, led off with two doubles and later had the bases full with one out, yet did not score a run or have a runner thrown out after reaching first.

Jack Knott started but retired after three innings, in which he allowed four hits, the Sox made three dizzy errors, and the Athletics made four runs. Johnny Rigney pitched four hitless innings after replacing Knott, then yielded two singles in the eighth, which, with a stolen base, gave the Athletics their fifth and final run.

Humpty-Dumpties?

The Athletics had three runs home before the Sox set a foot on first base. Physical or mental lapses by the Sox, due, perhaps, to the blistering heat, helped along all three tallies. In the first inning Finney singled, stole second, and went to third when Rensa threw into center field. Werber walked and tried to steal second. Appling took the ball on the base and tagged out Werber. In the meantime Finney scored.

The second inning saw the Athletics make two runs and two hits and the Sox two errors. Chapman walked with one out and went to third on Parker's single to center. Ambler bounced a slow single to Appling, Chapman scoring and Parker taking second. When Appling threw past Kuhel, Parker reached third. Ambler started running as Caster struck out and the Sox started throwing the ball around. This ended when Rensa dropped Owen's throw at the plate allowing Parker to score.

Boy, the Ammonia!

The Sox reached the pinnacle of sun dizziness in the eighth. Hayes opened with a double and stopped at third on Steinbacher's double to short left. Kreevich whiffed, but Radcliff walked, filling the bases. Appling drove the ball to right and Hayes, normally alert mentally, started for home, apparently thinking the ball was going to hit the wall. Moses backed against the wall, however, and pulled down the ball. Hayes hadn't time to go back and touch up and Jackie was stuck with one of the three most stupid boners in base running. Owen, with Manager Dykes' profanity clouding the premises, struck out to end the inning.

Woods and Waters By Bob Becker

Good news appears in the offing for Illinois' many thousands of duck hunters and their millions of fellow sportsmen throughout the United States.

No official announcement of shooting regulations for the 1938 season has been made by the department of agriculture. Nor has any official word been said about the kind of season we'll have next fall. But by picking up inside comment coming from various points of the compass we'll risk our reputation as a "hunting forecaster" and make these prophecies on the waterfowl hunting season for next fall:

1. The chances are fair to good that there'll be forty-five days of waterfowl hunting in the middle west starting sometime in October. We're going to hedge on this to the following extent: If the duck survey in Canada, starting the 15th of this months, shows a poor crop of birds the chances are against the forty-five day season.

2. Although there is nothing official on regulations, we are willing to risk a sporting bet on a ten-duck bag limit and a possession limit of twenty. It's possible we'll have to eat those words about a twenty bird possession limit on ducks, but we doubt it!

3. After putting our ear to the ground and listening hard we figure there is no chance for any relaxation of the no feeding regulations.

4. Don't expect the live decoy business to stage an upturn. Indications are that there'll be nothing doing along this line.

Considering the duck hunting regulations which have prevailed during the last few seasons this unofficial forecast may sound too optimistic and somewhat on the Pollyanna side. But the percentages are on the side of more lenient restrictions since the waterfowl flocks of America slowly have been staging a comeback due to a combination of restrictions on the annual kill and weather which affected the hunting.

So we're willing to get out on a limb right now and say that the regulations for 1938 waterfowl season are quite likely to include one or more of the points we have listed.

While duck hunters everywhere are talking about the coming season and wondering what is going to happen, Ducks Unlimited, the organization of American sportsmen that is contributing money to establish breeding grounds for birds on the Canadian prairie provinces, has made much progress this summer. Already dams have been built to create marshes which once were drained and then found useless for agriculture. And the ducks have moved into these marshes to breed.

4 HARVEY BOYS SEEK 'SHUTOUT' IN TRIBUNE SWIM

Four boys, 13 and 14 years of age, from Harvey, Ill., are going to win gold qualifying medals in the 100 yard free style swimming races. At least, this is the ambition of these youngsters who yesterday registered for the qualifying trials in Sherman park pool, 52d street and Racine avenue, which will be held July 23.

Of course, if all four qualify for the championship races, which will be held July 31 in the Diversey beach lagoon, they will shut out all others in this age division, for only four boys will qualify in each of the classes from Sherman park. But this isn't worrying Frank Piazza, 15338 Broadway, Harvey, who is manager of the quartet as well as one of the contestants.

Could Divide Forces.

The other boys are James Piazza, Ed Shea Jr., and Bill Martin Jr. All wish to receive their acceptance cards, which will admit them to the meet in Sherman park, at Frank's address.

These boys, of course, could divide forces if they wished and compete at any of the other three pools, Cermak, Whealan, and California park. But since at least four swimmers will qualify in each age division from each pool, there is the possibility that all may reach the championship finals in Lincoln park.

Entries for all swimmers will be accepted until Monday midnight. Teams entries also must be submitted by that deadline and the home address of each member of a team must be furnished so that the clerks can send the postcards which admit to the pools without charge.

Practice at Columbus Park.

Sid Novak, of Columbus park, yesterday completed arrangements for the boys and girls from his park who will compete in the swimming tests. They are receiving instructions daily at the pool. There is no limitation on the number who wish to swim. Any amateur is eligible and registrations fees for those 16 years of age and over, who must join the A. A. U., will be paid by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

SEND MARIGOLD OFFICIAL'S BODY TO CLEVELAND

The body of Benny Ray, Marigold Gardens matchmaker, who died Tuesday after a heart attack, last night was sent to his native Cleveland for burial. His sister, Mrs. Hilda Upson, came from Cleveland and a brother, Aaron Racusin from South Bend, to attend services in the chapel at 5206 Broadway yesterday afternoon.

Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun, co-promoters at Marigold, will leave today to attend the burial tomorrow. The show in Marigold Monday, topped by a ten round bout between Tony Zale, Gary, and Billy Celebron, Rockford, will be held as scheduled.

Carter, out in the mile fourth race. The crowd, except for a very few, bet on every other horse. The favorite was Lithorome, a Californian; Legenda was stoutly backed; so was Black River.

Lithorome flattered his backers when he stepped to the front early in the struggle. They were encouraged all the more when he still made the pace on the turn.

After rushing up from fifth in the six horse field, Abanico collared the leaders. He romped out into a lead of two lengths. In the late stages Jocky Charley Rollins took him in hand and was content to win by three quarters of a length.

The big cheer went up after the totalizer betting odds were posted. Abanico had paid $71 to win, $19 to place, and $9 to show. He ran the mile over the muddy track in 1:40 3-5.

Nearly every section of the country will be represented in the $30,000 Lassie stakes, fashioned for 2 year old fillies, to be renewed at Arlington Park Saturday. Arriving from New York yesterday were John Hay Whitney's Singing Witch, Hal Price Headley's Alracuda, Harry F. Guggenheim's Lady Nicotine and King Ranch's Otra. The chief hope of California will be Seabiscuit's stable companion, Grey Nurse, owned by C. S. Howard. From Woolford farm in Missouri have come Unerring and Inscoelda.

Stagehand will arrive in Chicago over the Pennsylvania shortly after 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Trainer Earl Sande made an eleventh hour change in his shipping plans and he also is sending The Chief here for the Classic stakes. Three 2 year olds are also included in the shipment.

Jocky Ira Hanford, who was thrown from Pottage in the turf race Tuesday, suffered a sprained ankle. He will be out of silks for about four days.

Hal Price Headley is expected to arrive from his home in Lexington, Ky., this week-end. He will take over the 3 year old Menow, which will be shipped from Saratoga Monday for his engagement in the Classic July 23.

Frederick B. Snite Jr., infantile paralysis victim, visited the Arlington race track yesterday in his new trailer. The trailer was especially built to accommodate the iron lung in which he spends most of his time At the race track he was removed from the trailer in a small iron lung.

Louis Returns; May Fight This Fall After All

Joe Louis returned late yesterday afternoon from a conference with Promoter Mike Jacobs in New York concerning a heavyweight championship bout next September. Louis said it was immaterial to him whether he fights in the fall or next spring.

"It's up to Julian Black and John Roxborough, my co-manager," Louis said. "They have the final say."

Neither manager was available for a statement last night. Last June 30 Black announced that "Louis will do no more fighting this year, with the possible exception of a few exhibition matches."

He also said he had spoken to Jacobs, who has exclusive rights to Louis' services, and the promoter was in agreement with plans that would keep Joe idle until next year.

Black was reported in Benton Harbor, Mich., awaiting a call from Jacobs for further discussion of the matter.

Save for Herbert Hedlund of Drake, who was rated one of the best tackles in the Missouri Valley conference, fans voting through the Des Moines Register are picking national leaders. Hedlund led Shirey of Nebraska nearly 11 to 1 in the first returns from the Iowa capital. White, Frank, Sweeney, Andy Puplis of Notre Dame, and Corby Davis of Indiana are popular with voters in that section.

Green Bay, one of the most enthusiastic football communities in the country, is rolling up a heavy vote for a lineup that includes Shreyer of Purdue, Franco of Fordham, Sweeney of Notre Dame, King of Minnesota, Monsky of Alabama, Miketinac of St. Norbert, Wojciechowicz of Fordham, Isbell of Purdue, White of Colorado, and Davis of Indiana.

Central Illinois fans are going to town for William McClarence, Bradley college half back and captain. Voting booths are being set up in the downtown and factory districts. More than a thousand workers, led by Dave Owen, the school's publicity chief, are working in McClarence's behalf. The Peoria Journal Transcript predicts a total vote in excess of 200,000. Alumni throughout the state are cooperating with the Peoria officials.

JOCKY MEADE ASKS FLORIDA TO RESCIND BAN

Jacksonville, Fla., July 13.—(AP)—Don Meade, who rode Broker's Tip to victory in the 1933 Kentucky Derby, asked the Florida racing commission today to lift the order that has kept him off all tracks since March 4, 1936, when he was suspended for betting on other horses against his own mounts.

Attorney Dan Chappell of Miami said Meade, once tops among American jockies, had "learned his lesson and won't make the same mistake."

Chicago Open Is Homecoming Time for Hagen

[This is the third of a series of sketches on leading players in the second Chicago open golf championship beginning a week from tomorrow at Olympia Fields.]

Walter Hagen, one of the greatest characters in modern sport as well as in golf, returns for the Chicago open tournament to the course where he is best known to Chicago golf fans. He had introduced himself to Chicagoans at nearby Midlothian in 1914, when he won his first national open championship, but it was at Olympia Fields in 1925, during the National P. G. A. tournament of that year, that he became a real favorite.

In that 1925 P. G. A., he went thirty-nine holes in his first round match against Al Watrous and forty holes in winning the semi-final from Leo Diegel. After that he defeated Bill Melhorn, 6 and 5, for his third P. G. A. title in five years.

Hagen was born on Dec. 21, 1892, in Rochester, N. Y., where he made his start as a caddy and as a young man pitched semi-pro ball.

Whitehead to Face Thomas and A's Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., July 13.—John Whitehead is scheduled to pitch for the White Sox in the final game with the Athletics tomorrow. He is to be opposed by Luther Thomas.

After three days of the big Philadelphia heat wave, the Sox would like to be leaving tomorrow night for an exhibition game in the far north. Instead they are going to Washington, a city distinguished for many things, not including cool weather in the middle of July.

Bill Dietrich, inactive Sox pitcher, drew a dog house along with his voluntarily retired listing yesterday. It seems he went shopping among several doctors without club authorization.

Joe Burk, winner of the Diamond sculls in the Royal Henley regatta, which has something to do with rowboats, is back home in Philadelphia and getting more space in the public prints than any ball player or Tony Galento, who also is in town.

Sarazen Opposes Picard.

The final battle of the day matches Gene Sarazen of Brockfield Center, Conn., and Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa. After being even with Dick Metz through eighteen holes and only 1 up on him at the twenty-seventh, Henry put over a 4 and 3 victory over the Chicagoan who yesterday put out Ralph Guldahl.

Sarazen had trouble winning a thirty-eight hole struggle from Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex. Champion in 1922, 1923, and 1933, Gene has not reached the third round since 1933. He had to fight for a 1 up lead at the intermission and found himself 1 down at the twenty-seventh. The sturdy little Italian squared it at the thirtieth, but Demaret evened it with an eighteen foot putt for a deuce at the thirty-fourth. The match finally was ended when Jimmie three putted the thirty-eighth.

JANE GOODSILL, MISS SHUSTER IN GOLF FINAL

Jane Goodsill of St. Paul, Minn., and Catherine Shuster of Long Beach will meet this morning for the women's western junior golf championship at Midlothian. The two girls, each 16 years old, and each playing her first time in the tournament, advanced to the final round of the tournament yesterday through wind and rain.

Miss Goodsill eliminated Chicago's last hope, Mary Wilder of Skokie, 3 and 2. Miss Shuster had a harder time winning from Kathleen Carey of Cedar Rapids, Ia., 2 and 1.

Miss Goodsill lost the second hole, the first of the three that Miss Wilder won, when she was short. This fault cost her all three holes, but at the third she squared the match, assumed the lead at the fifth and she never was headed.

Miss Shuster experienced trouble with the wind, but she never was behind on the out nine, turning

FOUR BIG FIRMS WILL DISTRIBUTE USUAL DIVIDENDS

Two Announce They Will Omit Payments.

Usual dividend payments were ordered yesterday by four large corporations. These were F. W. Woolworth company, General Foods corporation, Continental Can company, and Pullman, Inc.

Among other usual payments declared was the $2 semi-annual dividend of American National Bank and Trust company, payable $1 on July 15 and $1 on Oct. 15.

Fidelity and Deposit company of Maryland voted an extra of $1 to be paid with the regular $1 quarterly dividend on July 30. The company also paid $1 extra on Jan. 3. It made a single extra payment of $1 last year, on July 31.

Two Dividend Omissions.

Two dividend omissions were announced, but no American corporation ordered reduced payments. Directors of White Rock Mineral Springs company failed to take action on a dividend. They had postponed consideration of a dividend at the usual time last month so that they could have a better knowledge of earnings for the first six months of this year. The company paid 25 cents on April 1 and a total of $1.40 during 1937.

Directors of the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railway, a part of the Nickel Plate system, took no action on the dividend due Aug. 1 on the 5½ per cent convertible preferred stock, which paid $1.37½ quarterly through May 1. They did, however, declare the usual quarterly dividend of $1 on the prior lien stock.

Pathe Film.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me any information you may have on Pathé Film stock listed on the New York board?—B. S.

Answer: The Pathé Film corporation, successor by reorganization to Pathé Exchange, Inc., is engaged principally in developing and printing motion picture films. The corporation withdrew from the field of distributing regular motion pictures in 1936 although a subsidiary, Pathégrams, Inc., sells and distributes 16 millimeter and eight millimeter pictures for home and school use.

Pathé Exchange, Inc., held the distinction of being the first company to introduce motion pictures into the United States as a commercial proposition. Pathé Exchange was the outgrowth of a business originally founded in Paris, France, by Charles Pathé who made the first acted story ever displayed upon the screen.

Pathé Film corporation owns a 35 per cent interest in du Pont Film Manufacturing corporation, a company organized in 1925 to manufacture raw film in conjunction with E. I. du Pont de Nemours and company. Dividends from du Pont Film have been an important source of revenue for Pathé Film.

The company processed 78,698,000 feet of film in 1937, compared with 51,552,000 feet in 1936. Part of the increase was due to new film contracts and part to the entry of Pathégrams, Inc., into distribution of film for home and school use. The company has been doing its film processing at Bound Brook, N. J., but a new plant has been recently completed in New York City.

Pathé Film reported it made good progress during 1937 in the development of apparatus for use in microfilm field. This branch of the industry, a comparatively new development, is concerned with reproduction of documents, records, newspapers, and other material.

Net income for the first quarter of this year declined to $34,326, or 3 cents a common share, from $59,373, or 8 cents a share, in the corresponding 1937 period. Net income for all of 1937 was $466,918, or 70 cents a share, compared with $183,963, or 22 cents a share, in 1936. The present company was incorporated Aug. 15, 1935.

The company has 8,043 shares of $7 cumulative convertible no par preferred stock and 585,095 shares of $1 par common stock outstanding. No dividends have so far been paid on the common.

Total assets were $3,961,542 at the end of 1937. Current assets were $523,984 against current liabilities of $272,235.

ICKES BACKS UP AND WITHDRAWS PWA POWER AID

Allotments Put on Conditional Basis.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 13.—[Special.]—The Public Works administration of Harold L. Ickes today withdrew outright allotments of approximately $10,000,000 for power projects which would have competed with privately owned power facilities and substituted "conditional" loans and grants.

Secretary Ickes.

On June 22 THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE revealed that the PWA had approved loans and grants totaling $55,000,000 for the construction of fifty-four public power plants which would compete with existing private power facilities in twenty-one states. The private companies had not been given an opportunity to sell their plants at a reasonable price.

Public Pledges Cited.

THE TRIBUNE article pointed out that President Roosevelt and his senate majority leader, Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], had publicly pledged that there would be no duplication of privately owned power facilities unless the private companies spurned reasonable purchase offers from municipalities.

A list of the fifty-four duplicating power projects was printed. In no instance, it was reported, had the private plant been made an offer.

Ickes announced today that twenty-one of the power projects had been given presidential approval on a "conditional" basis. The projects have a total estimated cost of $15,171,845. Conditional allotments of $9,527,995 were set up for the projects, including loans of $2,698,000 and grants of $6,829,995.

PWA Statement Issued.

The PWA statement, without referring to previous approval of the projects, carried the following:

"Examination of the projects indicates that, if erected, they would operate in competition with existing privately owned power facilities. Therefore they are subject to the terms of the power policy enunciated by Administrator Ickes last week.

"In announcing that policy Administrator Ickes pointed out that payment of PWA funds to municipalities for power projects which would compete with existing systems would be made only after the municipalities had satisfied the administrator that they had been unable, after reasonable efforts made in good faith, to acquire upon reasonable terms and conditions the facilities of the existing private utility with which the applicant might be in competition.

Competition Is Admitted.

"As it appears that the projects announced today will be in competition with existing facilities, it was decided to approve allotments for them conditionally. To receive the allotment money it will be necessary for the applicants to make reasonable efforts in good faith to purchase the facilities with which the applicants would be in competition if the projects were erected, and not be able to consummate such acquisition."

Supreme power remains with Ickes under this provision, it was pointed out. It is he who must determine what is a "reasonable" offer for the private plant and the "good faith" of the efforts to purchase made by municipality. The order carries no provision for the private plant to contest the reasonableness of the offer made to it.

Of the remaining thirty-nine competing power projects originally approved by the PWA, three were reindorsed yesterday for outright allotments on the ground that they did not compete with existing privately owned power systems. No announcement has been made concerning the other thirty-six projects.

Grant 12 Cities Housing Loans of 50 Millions

Washington, D. C., July 13.—[Special.] — Additional housing loans of $50,000,000 to twelve municipalities were announced today by Nathan Straus, administrator of the United States Housing authority. These loan contracts were forwarded to President Roosevelt for approval.

Other contracts already have been written for loans totaling $111,070,000 The names of the cities involved were not divulged, pending approval.

Administrator Ickes of the Public Works administration announced that the President had approved twenty-four PWA non-federal projects, located in fourteen states and involving $4,119,696, on which the PWA will make grants of $1,853,862. It will extend one loan of $12,500.

Straus Prepares for Tour.

Straus announced a detailed itinerary for a hurried tour he will make shortly across the country, beginning with a visit to New York City July 18.

Straus will proceed from there to Baltimore, Syracuse, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Charleston and Huntington, W. Va.; Cincinnati, Covington, Ky.; Chicago, Milwaukee, Omaha, Denver and Los Angeles, where he expects to conclude his tour Aug. 2. He will sail then for Hawaii on vacation.

He said his tour would be nonpolitical.

"Only One Job," He Declares.

"I wish to emphasize and to state clearly that my trip will at no time assume the complexion of politics nor should it be interpreted as part of any political campaign," he said. "The President and congress have given me only one job, and that is to get the national slum clearance and housing program under way as ripidly as possible.

"It is not my purpose, and I do not believe it is even my right, to touch upon politics in the cities I visit."

CORN WEAKENS AFTER ADVANCE; ENDS IRREGULAR

Corn futures advanced a cent or more a bushel in early trading yesterday, but later weakened in sympathy with the wheat decline. The close was ¼ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher on the Chicago Board of Trade. The September and December contracts both reached 63⅛ cents a bushel at the top, within a fraction of a cent of the highest price for any future this year. Yellow corn in the sample market reached a high of 62¾ cents, the best since early January.

Wheat reacted after a showing of strength to close 1¼ to 1½ cents a bushel lower. The market declined on hedging pressure and selling which brokers attributed to a large eastern speculator. Many traders were evening up accounts because of uncertainty as to the effect announcement of the government wheat loan figure would have on prices.

Action of the oats and rye markets was largely a reflection of wheat and corn.

HOLIDAY REDUCES ELECTRIC POWER OUTPUT SHARPLY

Electric power production slumped last week from the preceding week's total. The Edison Electric institute reported yesterday that a slightly larger decrease was shown from a year ago than in the preceding week. Most of the drop was attributed to the July 4 holiday.

In the seven days ended July 9, a total of 1,881,298,000 kilowatt hours of electricity were generated compared with 2,096,266,000 in the like 1937 week, a decline of 10.3 per cent, the institute announced.

The electric output of the Commonwealth Edison company group, operating in the Chicago area, followed the national trend last week. Production was 113,955,000 kilowatt hours against 125,688,000 hours in the like 1937 week, a slump of 9.3 per cent.

BUTTER AND EGG CONTRACTS RISE IN ACTIVE TRADE

Butter and eggs for future delivery advanced moderately in brisk trading yesterday at the Chicago Mercantile exchange. October egg contracts closed ¼ cent higher at 24¾ cents a dozen after touching 24¾ cents, a new high for the season. November butter finished ⅛ cent high at 26¾ cents a pound.

Buying of egg contracts was induced by net reductions of storage reserves, light receipts, and a report issued late Tuesday showing a shortage of 1,548,000 in the nation's reserve egg supply. Butter contracts benefited from a better than expected July 1 warehouse report.

Cash eggs closed unchanged to ½ cent a dozen lower and cash butter, steadied by liberal government purchases, finished unchanged.

STEEL OUTPUT RISES 9 POINTS, BUT BUYING IS NOT MUCH LARGER

Despte a sharp rebound in steel ingot production new business in the industry has not improved much, Iron Age said yesterday. This week's output was estimated at 32 per cent of capacity, compared with 23 per cent last week.

Acting as if improvement in steel production is a certainty, said Iron Age, the scrap market continued to rise this week. At Pittsburgh heavy smelting scrap established a new current price of $14.50 a ton. The Chicago price rose 50 cents, and the Iron Age composite price rose to $13.08 a ton, the highest since March.

STOCKYARD FUND ORDERED HELD BY MISSOURI COURT

Washington, D. C., July 13.—(AP)—Associate Justice Butler directed today that a fund of $586,000 be held by the Western Missouri Federal District court until the Supreme court acts in the Kansas City Stockyards case. The government has appealed a lower court decision giving the money to Kansas City commission men.

The money represents the difference between old commission rates and lower ones set up in 1933 by Secretary Wallace. Wallace had reduced the maximum charges that could be collected by agents buying and selling on a commission basis at the stockyards.

Last term the Supreme court held the Wallace order invalid and remanded the case to the District court without instructions regarding the impounded money. The District court then ruled that the money belonged to the commission agents and not to the farmers who had done business with them.

MORGAN'S FIRM SUED ON UNPAID WHITNEY CHECK

New York, July 13.—[Special.]—Suit was filed today in Supreme court to compel J. P. Morgan & Co. to make good an unpaid check for $7,619. The check was issued by Richard Whitney & Co. to Keiper & Zimm, brokers, March 7, the day before the Whitney firm was suspended by the New York stock exchange for insolvency. The action is the first seeking to hold others responsible for Whitney & Co. debts.

The plaintif is the Underwriters Trust company, which described itself as clearing agent for Keiper & Zimm and assignee of the latter's claim against Morgan & Co. The complaint alleges that Morgan & Co. was "guilty of bad faith" in employing Richard Whitney as agent when it "knew or had reason to know" that he and his firm were insolvent.

Whitney is serving a 5 to 10 year prison term for larceny in connection with the failure of his firm.

From May to June food prices increased 1.4 per cent—more than seasonally—while rents decreased three-tenths of 1 per cent, clothing prices dropped eight-tenths of 1 per cent and the cost of sundries was one-tenth of a per cent lower.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 13.—(AP)—The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company said today it had received contracts to construct electrical equipment for ten new 100 mile an hour passenger locomotives. The equipment will be used on the Pennsylvania railroad between Harrisburg, Pa., New York, and Washington, D. C. The contract totals $1,700,000.

Three plants will share in the building of the major portion of the equipment. The East Pittsburgh plant will make the motors and control units; the Sharon, Pa., plant, the transformers, and the Newark, N. J., unit, the sensitive relaying equipment.

Anthracite Producers to Increase Prices Aug. 1

Philadelphia, Pa., July 13.—(AP)—Increases of 15 to 35 cents a ton in mine prices of domestic coal, effective Aug. 1, were announced today by major anthracite producers. Stove coal will be increased 35 cents to $6.10, egg and nut sizes 25 cents to $6, and pea coal 15 cents to $4.40. No change will be made in prices for steam sizes.

Horner Vetoes Bill to Aid Municipal Sewage Bonds

Springfield, Ill., July 13.—(AP)—Gov. Horner this afternoon vetoed the Knauf-Nowlan-Rennick bill proposing that municipalities by referendum be permitted to levy taxes to redeem defaulted sewage system revenue bonds. Attorney General Otto Kerner held it unconstitutional for a general tax to be collected on an ad valorum basis.

Packing Plant Strikes Break Prices of Hogs

Labor difficulties in several Chicago meat packing plants caused a break in hog prices at noon yesterday. New 1938 high marks had been set in early dealings. Closing prices were about unchanged as afternoon declines balanced the early advances. A few grades finished with small losses.

Five plants ceased slaughtering hogs before noon and about 2,000 hogs purchased early by the plants were brought back to the pens. A detail of 40 additional policemen was assigned to the stockyards station. Capt. Hugh McCarthy said they were not called upon for service because there was no disorder in the district.

Sitdown Strikes.

Sitdown strikes were reported at the Roberts & Oake packing plant at 45th street and Racine avenue, and at the Agar Packing and Provision plant at 4057 South Union avenue. Officials of the two companies said the labor flurries could not be called strikes as they were just temporary cessations of work.

"The men are making demands which we consider impossible for us to grant and stay in business," one official said. "They are asking a closed shop and the checkoff system, as well as more money. We have been conferring with them for several weeks."

The unions involved are all affiliated with the Committee for Industrial organization. Capt. McCarthy said he understood the independent packers had no intention of yielding to the C. I. O. leaders and the conferences are slated to continue.

Top Hogs at $10.20.

Before the halt in slaughtering, top loads of hogs reached $10.20 a hundred pounds, the highest price paid since Oct. 21, 1937. This was an advance of 10 cents a hundred pounds over the preceding day. Other grades moved up as much as 20 cents a hundred pounds before the break. The average price of all grades of hogs was $8.90 at the end of the session, unchanged from Tuesday.

Most grades of cattle sold lower. Losses of 25 cents a hundred pounds were general and cheaper grades declined even more. Top loads sold at $12.90 a hundred pounds.

Slaughter lambs sold actively at unchanged to slightly higher prices. Top loads of natives reached $9.40.

Railroads and the Tax Collectors.

Taxes have been taking an increasingly larger part from each dollar of railroad revenues.

For each dollar that the railroads paid in dividends in 1917, taxes—federal, state, and local—amounted to 67 cents. By 1927 the railroads paid 91 cents in taxes for each dollar paid in dividends. In the five year period 1933-37 the railroads paid $1.98 in taxes for each dollar the stockholders got.

With the sharp decline in revenues this year, heavy taxes have been a further burden. After paying wages and other operating costs the railroads in the first 3 months of 1938 had a balance of $104,147,486 available for taxes and for a return upon the money invested in the roads. Taxes consumed $84,870,823, or 81.5 per cent, of this total, leaving only $19,276,663 for a return on the property investment—less than one-sixth of the amount necessary to meet fixed charges.

STUDY OF BANKS AND INSURANCE IS BEGUN BY SEC

Acts on One Phase of Monopoly Quiz.

Washington, D. C., July 13.—(AP)—The Securities and Exchange commission today started a study of insurance companies, investing banking, and the structure and functions of business corporations. The SEC is one of the key agencies in the government investigation of monopolies.

Chairman William O. Douglas said that as soon as the commission could organize a staf and correlate its available information it would issue subpenas for company records. Facts which the inquiry unearths will be turned over late this summer to the joint monopoly investigating committee of six government officials and six congressmen. Hearings may be called in the fall.

Other government departments were organizing similar inquiries into other phases of the broad problem of concentration of wealth and economic power.

Douglas Reports Progress.

The nature of their various undertakings was discussed following a meeting yesterday which Leon Henderson, WPA economist and secretary of the committee, said probably would be followed by another session next week. Douglas said "we're making progress" in parceling out the work to be done by the interested departments and commissions.

Senator O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.], chairman of the monopoly investigating committee, said Senators King [D., Utah] and Borah [R., Idaho] had been assigned to work with Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general, and Garland Ferguson, chairman of the federal trade commission.

Representative Sumners [D., Tex.] was assigned to work with Herman Oliphant, treasury general counsel; Representative Reece [R., Tenn.] with Richard Patterson, assistant secretary of commerce; Representative Eicher [D., Ia.] with Isador Lubin, chief of the bureau of labor statistics, and O'Mahoney with Douglas of the SEC.

Picks Executive Committee.

O'Mahoney also created an executive committee consisting of himself, Sumners, Arnold, Patterson and Lubin. He appointed Arthur R. Himbert, University of Wyoming law professor and former assistant counsel of the state department, to be his assistant in work of the full committee.

O'Mahoney will leave the capital in a few days and the actual work of running the committee will devolve upon Henderson. His big job will be to see that the various investigations conducted by the separate executive agencies do not overlap.

GOLD CLAUSES IN BOND, LEASE DECLARED VOID

St. Louis, Mo., July 13.—(AP)—The eighth United States Circuit Court of Appeals ruled today in two separate opinions that "gold clauses" in a railroad bond issue and in a department store lease were invalid. The decisions were based on a congressional resolution outlawing the use of gold in the payment of private debts.

The court affirmed a decision by District Judge Charles B. Davis of St. Louis that first term and unifying bonds of the Cotton Belt railroad were payable for their face amount, $21,638,000, and that a provision making them payable at option in Dutch gold guilders, worth about $37,000,000 in United States currency, was invalid.

At the same time, the Appellate court filed an opinion reversing the District court at Kansas City, which in 1936 upheld a gold clause lease executed in 1890 between the Emery, Bird, Thayer Realty company, as lessee, and the Boston Ground Rent company as lessor.

BRITISH POUND, FRENCH FRANC GAIN ON DOLLAR

The value of British currency gained on the dollar in foreign exchange dealings yesterday. The pound closed at $4.93⅜ or ⅝ cent above the preceding day. Earlier this week it was quoted at $4.92½, the lowest it has been in more than a year.

Other foreign currencies also gained in relation to the dollar. The French franc closed 0.00⅞ cent higher, and Belgian and Netherlands currencies made moderate gains.

The British stabilization fund was reported to have placed buying orders to check the decline in the pound.

Surface Lines Franchises to Die Tomorrow

The 1907 ordinances of the Chicago Surface Lines will expire at midnight tomorrow. Street cars will be operating in Chicago without city permits for the first time since the first horse car line began operating in State street 79 years ago.

This became certain yesterday when the city council failed to make any extension of the old grants under which the car lines have operated for the last 31 years.

The 1907 permits originally expired in 1927 but have been kept alive by temporary extensions. In refusing any further extension, the council acted in line with the determination of Mayor Kelly and other city officials to let the old permits lapse.

Seek Unification Weapon.

These officials contend the city has nothing to lose, and that the action may give it a weapon in its efforts to force the car lines into a unification with the elevated railways.

The council now will move to force the surface lines to accept a temporary permit requiring them to pay 3 per cent [about $1,460,000 a year] on their gross revenues to the city for the use of the streets.

The council's local transportation committee, headed by Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], already has a draft of a proposed permit before it. Public hearing will be resumed today.

A resolution requiring the Chicago Rapid Transit company [elevated lines] to accept a temporary permit also calling for compensation to the city was placed before the council by Ald. James J. McDermott [14th]. It was referred to the transportation committee.

Bank Agreement Ratified.

The council approved an ordinance providing for financing the city's share of the cost of three downtown subways. The ordinance ratified an agreement negotiated by Mayor Kelly and City Controler R. B. Upham with four loop banks.

The banks guarantee to buy tax warants from the city traction fund if it becomes necessary for the city to borrow to meet its $17,512,000 share of the estimated $31,840,000 cost of the tunnels. Mayor Kelly told the council the financing arrangement was the last step necessary to get approval of a 45 per cent grant from the PWA.

SOUTH WISCONSIN GROWERS OPPOSE GRADING RULES

Washington, D. C., July 13.—(AP)—Potato growers of southern Wisconsin protested to Senator Duffy [D., Wis.] today against being included in any marketing agreement for grading potatoes by appearance instead of eating qualities.

J. D. Swan Jr., representing the growers in Walworth, Rock, Racine, Kenosha, and Waukesha counties, sent Duffy a copy of a petition to the agricultural department opposing inclusion of the counties in the marketing agreement for area No. 3.

The petition asserted potatoes grown in the section had a light scab which did not affect the cooking and eating qualities. It said that despite their fine eating qualities the potatoes under the marketing agreement would be classified as low grade which must be sold at a lesser price and could not be marketed in interstate trafic.

147 Oil Wells Are Drilled in Illinois During June

Springfield, Ill., July 13.—(AP)—The state geological survey said today 147 producing wells were brought in during June in the Illinois oil basin. This was the largest total for any 1938 month. The wells opened two new pools, in southwestern Richland county and north of Flora in Clay county, the report said. In thirteen fields recognized by the survey, there were 709 producers and 84 dry holes within a quarter of a mile of production.

100 MILLION U. S. FUND READY FOR WHEAT LOANS

Terms Will Be Made Public Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 13.—The Commodity Credit corporation today made available $100,000,000 for loans to farmers on wheat. The loan rate on a bushel of wheat, which will be officially announced tomorrow, is expected to be between 59 and 60 cents.

Jesse Jones announces appropriation.

Announcement of the appropriation for wheat loans was made by Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, which underwrites the operations of the Commodity Credit corporation. He said that additional money would be made available as the need arises.

May Be Near Minimum.

Discussing the probable amount of the loans at a press conference, Secretary Wallace indicated the rate may be close to the minimum provided—52 per cent of parity which is figured at $1.14 a bushel. Fifty-two per cent of parity would be 59.28 cents per bushel as the average loan rate, although the amount would differ in various geographical regions. It probably would vary from 50 cents to 70 cents a bushel, Wallace said.

The RFC announced that banks and other lending agencies may make the loans to producers on wheat stored in approved warehouses and sell the notes to the Commodity Credit corporation from time to time prior to 30 days from the maturity of such notes at par, with accrued interest at the rate of 2½ per cent.

The loans will be made only to those farmers complying with the AAA acreage restrictions. Because of the near record crop predicted this year, these acreage reductions are expected to be drastic.

Will Ask Nations to Coöperate.

Faced with a 250,000,000 bushel surplus in wheat this year, the United States will propose tomorrow at the international wheat conference in London the creation of an "international ever normal granary," Wallace revealed.

Wallace said other wheat growing countries would be invited to cooperate with the United States in building up of reserve supplies of wheat in good crop years for use in years of scarcity. Dr. A. G. Black, chief of the bureau of agricultural economics, will make the proposal as the American representative at the conference.

"We will have 250,000,000 bushels of wheat from this year's crop of 967,000,000 bushels available for export," Wallace commented. "This compares with 100,000,000 bushels last year and practically no wheat for export in the drouth years preceding last year.

Hopes to Keep U. S. in Market.

"We would like to stay in the world wheat market in coöperation with other wheat growing countries. We hope other nations will follow our plan of carrying over surpluses from good crop years, so that a nation in a poor year might have wheat for the world market."

An agreement with other nations might lead to lower wheat loans in this country, Wallace said. Lower wheat loans would result in more United States wheat flowing into the world market.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 13.—A surprise selling attack in the last half hour of trading brought a halt to rising stock market prices today. Many leading issues which earlier had reached new peaks for the year or longer, yielded most or all of their gains. Nevertheless, the finish was irregularly higher, 505 issues closing with advances, 251 lower, and 173 unchanged.

The session was one of the busiest of the year, 2,618,950 shares moving.

Widespread buying which was concentrated in two intervals—the first hour and again in mid-afternoon—accounted for gains ranging from 1 to 5 points in all sections and at one time enabled the Dow-Jones average for thirty representative issues to reach 140.52, a new high for the year.

Pivotal industrials were the hardest hit by the wave of offerings, with motors, steels, and coppers chief targets. Principal losses in these groups were as follows:

General Motors, ½ point; Chrysler, 1 point; United States Steel, 2⅛ points; Bethlehem, 1¾ points; Youngstown Steel, 1¼ points; Anaconda, 1 point, and American Smelting, ¾ point.

Transportation issues were among the prominent throughout the day. In the morning Greyhound virtually monopolized tape in blocks of 1,000 to 3,700 shares, then continued to hold its own and finished at 15¾, a new high, for a gain of ⅝.

After scoring impressive gains in sympathy with the initial strength in the industrial section, carrier shares turned and closed mostly lower.

New York Bonds.

New York, July 13.—(AP)—The strongest rally in more than a week today carried railroad bonds to the highest level since last March 15. Gains of 1 to 3 points were fairly numerous. Some were much more. Secondary loans drew the major share of interest, although low-yield issues were not neglected entirely.

Turnover of $8,727,900, par value, was the largest since July 7 and compared with $8,345,000 Tuesday.

New York City traction issues jumped spectacularly without the benefit of new developments in unification of the competing systems. Interborough Rapid Transit refunding 5s advanced 8¼ points to 60¼ and gains of major fractions to more than 2 were posted by several other local tractions.

United States governments held a back seat all day. There was a listed turnover of only $310,000 par value and with one or two exceptions losses of 1/32 to 7/32 predominated.

Chicago Stocks.

Stocks closed higher at the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, despite heavy selling in the last hour of trading. The Tribune average of twenty stocks finished at 1.06, up 0.16 for the session, and at the highest closing level since Nov. 19, 1937.

Of the ninety-three issues traded, fifty-three advanced, fifteen declined, and twenty-five closed unchanged. Eighteen new 1938 highs were made. Sales totaled 44,000 shares, compared with 31,000 shares Tuesday.

Bendix Aviation was the most active issue. It closed at $17.12½ a share, up 25 cents, after selling at $18, a new 1938 high. Gains also were made by Butler Brothers common, Marshall Field, Aviation and Transportation, Borg Warner, and Swift & Co. Zenith Radio and Commonwealth Edison closed with small losses.

Bank Stocks.

Investment houses yesterday were unable to agree on quotations for Northern Trust company stock. One dealer quoted it unchanged from Tuesday at $515 bid, $530 asked; another quoted it $2 higher at $517 bid, $530 asked; a third quoted it at $520 to $530. American National Bank and Trust stock slipped $2 to $170 bid, $180 asked. Chicago Title and Trust company and First National Bank of Chicago stock each dropped $1 a share. Continental shares were quoted 75 cents lower by one dealer.

The quality is only fair, but the hay is considered well worth harvesting. Cutting the hay also improves the pastures. It helps to get rid of weeds by preventing them from blooming and it makes better grazing in the pastures during the late summer and fall. About 170 tons of such hay were cut at the place last year and it was a big help in wintering the live stock because good hay was scarce.

All of the first cutting of alfalfa and clover has been put in the barns. Most of it is good hay. Some of the clover was damaged slightly by heavy rains while it was curing in the swath. The alfalfa is growing out again in good shape and the second cutting is expected to make more and better hay than the first.

Berries Are Ripe.

Berry pickers at the farm have been staging early morning races with the crows, starlings, and robins for the fruit that is ripening in the berry plantation. Raspberries, blackberries, youngberries, and dewberries started ripening last week and the birds are in the patch at daybreak each morning, pecking holes in the plumpest, juiciest berries. They are not particular about the kind or color of the fruit.

Last summer the caretakers had fair success in protecting the berries by tying strips of white cloth to the tops of stakes at each end of the rows. This may be tried again. The only sure method found so far is to go to the field at daybreak and scare the birds away. The crows and starlings are too wary to venture into the patch when the men are working near, but the robins sometimes have to be persuaded to leave.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

by HOMER NEISZ

Corn Work Finished

July 13, 1938.

ALL the corn has been laid by at the Tribune's Du Page county farm. Workers finished their final cultivation last week. The fields were given three cultivations in addition to having been harrowed or gone over with a rotary hoe at least once while the corn was small.

Duck foot shovels were used on the cultivators for the last cultivation in order to cover up weeds and grass that remained in the rows. These shovels have broad points and throw more dirt than the narrower kinds that ordinarily are used for the early cultivations. The last plowing was shallow so as to disturb as little as possible the network of corn roots near the surface of the ground.

Most of the corn on the place now is making satisfactory progress. It is growing well and has the rich green color that farmers like to see in corn fields at this time of year. One field still shows the effects of too much moisture. The growth there is uneven and some of the plants are yellow. The hot weather for the last week has been considered ideal for corn.

Hay Baled in Fields.

Haymakers at the farm again are following the practice of cutting odd patches of grass and legume hays from the pastures, roadsides, and fence rows. The hay is being baled in the fields immediately after it is cured so that it will take up less storage space when put in the barns. This will leave more room for the second cutting of alfalfa.

Most of the hay is bluegrass and timothy; there is clover in some of it.
